

Dorian Richard (PixelDorian)

Muralist, Painter and Dino-Geek

Growing up I spent many hours in my parent's art gallery and scribbled on walls before I could walk. Eventually I graduated from crayons to markers, acrylics and even digital mediums. Over the years I created paintings, murals (I guess I'm still scribbling on walls), handpainted signs and large scale prints. Each technique, each style I explore teaches me something new and exciting. I hope that my eternal curiosity is relatable and brings joy to those who see my work. Watching someone smile while examining one of my pieces is my biggest reward.
