

San Pedro River Arts Council

January 2023

Birds of a feather or wood perhaps.

Come see the lovely selection of bird art. We have many bird loving artists that create woodcarvings, oil paintings and photography of our favorite feathered friends.

Happy New Year

I hope everyone had a joyous holiday season and are ready to start a new year with the goal of enjoying art and nature.

Cochise county is blessed with being a wintering ground for many migrating birds of all kinds, large and small. This giving our photographers and plein air enthusiasts many opportunities to observe these magnificent creatures in the wild.

So please enjoy this birding season and all the fun it has to offer for your creativity and the adventures of observing nature.

Keep Creating!

Featured artist at Cochise College

Len Amburgey, who will be displaying his astrophotography, with images of galaxies Far, Far Away. Free and open to the public during regular college hours.

New Artist at Endeavor

Gary Bye Wood Artisan

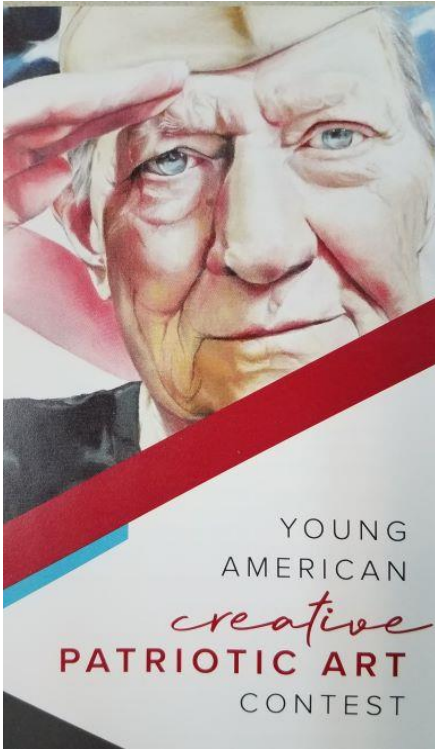

Gary is from rural Northern Minnesota and spent much of his youth hunting waterfowl. His fascination for birds carried over to his interest in wood carving and spent many years going to carving shows in the Midwest.

Since retiring in Arizona Gary has turned his carving skills to capture Hummingbirds, Sandhill Cranes, and other local birds in flight.
