BLACK HISTORY MONTH RESOURCE GUIDE 2021

RESOURCES ON HOW TO IMPLEMENT BLACK HISTORY EDUCATION IN YOUR HOMES, CLASSROOMS AND ORGANIZATIONS

BY ACCURATE AND CONSCIOUS EDUCATION ACADEMY AND ESTABLISHING SUSTAINABLE CONNECTIONS

Black history is a foundational part of American history that everyone has a responsibility to learn about. Black history reveals the truth about American history. When we do not acknowledge Indigenous and Black history we neglect the genocide, slavery, systemic inequality, and exploitation that America was built upon and ultimately thrives because of.

There is no American dream, growth, international power, wealth, or expansion without the forced, coerced and willing contributions of Black Americans.

Black history is the more accurate portrayal of American history.

Please enjoy these free resources and stories of Black America this Black History Month as we acknowledge and celebrate the contributions and sacrifices of Black America.

ESC

At ESC, we aim to initiate support, and direct efforts to create and sustain community relationships. We rebuild strength and prosperity where it hasn't been, or damaged, or lost. We work with those thirsty for equality, those who are underprivileged, and those who desire for a connection within our city. Our focus is to provide people with the necessary resources needed for passages towards personal success; by understanding social justice and enhancing cross-cultural competency and community inclusiveness.

Thank You!
