RECOMMENDATION

Pass

STRENGTHS

Strong physical presence as a central defender Excellent height and aerial ability Strong in defensive duels and body-to-body contests Good defensive positioning and awareness Capable of playing out from the back Provides stability and confidence in the defensive line Versatility to

WEAKNESSES

Needs continued development in speed against very quick attackers Can improve consistency under high pressing situations Further improvement in passing range and attacking build-up decisions

DETAILED ANALYSIS

Amanhom is a physically dominant defender who provides reliability in defensive situations. His height and strength allow him to compete effectively in aerial battles and protect the defensive area. He shows qualities suited to modern football, including the ability to defend space, support build-up play and maintain defensive structure. Continued development in technical consistency and decision-making under pressure will help improve his overall profile. Scout View: A developing centre-back with strong physical foundations and the potential to progress with the right environment and coaching.
