RECOMMENDATION

Pass

STRENGTHS

Strong acceleration and pace in attacking transitions
Effective 1v1 dribbler in wide areas
Capable of playing across the front line (wing and striker)
Good ability to carry the ball forward under pressure
Provides defensive work rate and pressing contribution
Experience across multiple

WEAKNESSES

Limited goal output at senior NPL level in recent seasons
Needs improvement in final-third decision making
Consistency in end product (goals and assists) can vary
Can become predictable when isolated against organised defences

DETAILED ANALYSIS

Chok Dau is a direct attacking player with strong physical tools suited to modern transition-based football. While his pace and dribbling make him a constant threat, his final output still requires improvement to reach higher professional levels. Recommended for continued monitoring in competitive matches and environments where attacking space is available.
