After hurricanes Irma and María, Puerto Rico's economic situation, already greatly affected by our colonial status, worsened. After eight (8) difficult months of recovery, investors are once again placing their trust in Puerto Rico. The road to Puerto Rico's reconstruction includes an appropriation of tens of billions in federal disaster relief funds, which shall contribute to our economy, but only temporarily. Therefore, we must seize the opportunities and promote our talents to the maximum extent. The aforementioned achievements serve as additional proof that we are headed in the right direction to restore our appeal as a jurisdiction for doing business. Thinking ahead, it is our duty to continue identifying more and better ways of attracting economic activity.

With the arrival of Puerto Rico's reconstruction funds, the Island is open to do business and shall continue to promote economic development measures that allows Puerto Rico to become once again the bridge to the Americas.

Puerto Rico has a long history of granting incentives to stimulate investments and job creation. The use of various economic incentives has been a core aspect of the various economic development strategies that the Island has implemented throughout the last decades. For such purposes, throughout the years this Legislative Assembly has enacted many laws that have defined the Puerto Rico priorities at the time, however, these are not necessarily the priorities or needs of present-day Puerto Rico. The current economic and fiscal reality of Puerto Rico requires that the Government conduct a holistic review of all of its incentives in order to provide consistency, structure, and relevance to a series of strategies that, for one reason or another, do not have a common thread and in some instances are incompatible or inconsistent with one another.

Puerto Rico's economy has contracted for eleven of the past twelve years and no significant changes are projected for this macroeconomic pattern, excluding the effects of hurricane Maria and the relief funds that Puerto Rico shall receive from the United States in connection therewith. Undoubtedly, one of the tools available to the Government of Puerto Rico to counteract this economic contraction is to provide incentives to high-performance industries, whether local or foreign, whose activities primarily focus on the export of goods and services, as an incentive to bring new capital to Puerto Rico through such exports. Likewise, the subsequent increase in public debt and the precariousness of Puerto Rico's fiscal situation make it imperative to evaluate the incentives that have been granted, historically, in order to determine which provide the most returns and which have a negative return. Such information shall provide Puerto Rico with the tools to redirect our limited resources towards those activities that truly stimulate our economy's growth, raise our level of business competitiveness, promote export and outside investment in Puerto Rico, and create more well-paid jobs for our people.

The Plan for Puerto Rico contemplates a change of vision in the management of the incentives that Puerto Rico uses to promote economic activity, so we can adjust and redirect our efforts to correct the problems that past strategies have created. Creating a dynamic economic stimulus platform that is consistent with the fiscal and economic reality of Puerto Rico is critical for Puerto Rico's economic development. For such reason and, consistent with the Plan for Puerto Rico, we are creating an Incentives Code to promote activities that contribute to the growth of Puerto Rico's economy through investment, export, and job creation; responsibly streamline the application and approval process; and establish uniform processes to continuously regulate, measure, and evaluate the incentives granted thus ensuring compliance, transparency, and the attainment of the fiscal objectives for development. As stated in the Plan for Puerto Rico, the use of incentives must yield a benefit not only for the incentivized activity, but also for Puerto Rico in general. It is important for incentives to produce tangible benefits in order to generate funds for the Treasury as well as to avoid redundant activities, and to promote economic development in the broadest and most balanced and diversified manner as possible. Tax and economic incentives must focus on balancing outside capital investments strategically and wisely with our local business creation ecosystem so as to promote the continuous transfer of knowledge, processes, innovation, and technology between them.

In accordance with our programmatic commitment, the Department of Economic Development and Commerce of Puerto Rico (hereinafter, the DEDC) took on the task of analyzing the current laws, economic principles, methodology, and results of all the economic incentives granted in Puerto Rico while taking into account the most recent data available. The analysis revealed that, at present, there are approximately seventy-six (76) laws or programs that promote investment through the granting of incentives. Fifty-eight (58) of those laws or programs stimulate economic activity, and eighteen (18) address social needs. According to the available data, those programs identified as economic programs represent a total fiscal cost of over $7.462 billion, of which eighty-one percent (81%) are considered opportunity costs.¹

The fiscal costs attributable to the granting of economic development incentives comprise:

(a) Opportunity Costs: Revenues the Government stops receiving on account of preferential rates granted on taxable income, therefore, the Government does not include them in the budget.

(b) Refunds and Subsidies- The money granted for activities that stimulate the economy such as job creation, investments in infrastructure, and utility payments.

(c) Tax Credit- A contribution in the form of a credit granted to an Exempt Business or an Eligible Person to foster their businesses' growth subject to the limits and terms established in this Code and the Incentives Regulations, and granted upon the execution of an incentives agreement.

(d) Special Deductions- The deductions included in the income tax returns for investments in machinery, Renewable Energy or other related operating costs, as provided by law.

(e) Municipal Exemptions- The exclusions from the payment of property taxes, municipal license taxes, and the Sales and Use Tax (SUT) granted to municipalities, as provided by law.

Even though the granting of incentives has been a positive experience in general, the Government believes that the incentives program may be maximized by consolidating all of the different incentives offered to the various sectors, provided in our current economic incentives laws, in order to more effectively further its mission of economic development. We have taken on the task of rethinking Puerto Rico's economic incentives system and redesigning it from the ground up so that our incentives align with our needs, take into account our limitations, and maximize our potential. This Incentives Code is the result of such efforts and, for the first time in our history, Puerto Rico has a document that encompasses all of the economic stimulus programs available on the Island. Contrary to the arbitrary efforts made in the past to grant incentives, the Plan for Puerto Rico, taking into account the results of a series of in-depth analyses conducted on the effectiveness of such incentives.[sic] Furthermore, the effectiveness and return of the economic incentives shall be under a continuous and thorough evaluation. To such effect, it is imperative that our new Incentives Code includes a streamlined and pragmatic model to support the continuous improvement of the economic development strategy, and the ability to identify emerging risks and opportunities.

Therefore, we propose an Incentives Code that rationalizes and consolidates the dozens of decrees, incentives, subsidies, refunds, and tax or financial benefits that Puerto Rico offers, as well as the adjustment and limitation of our offerings to those we are able to factually and economically prove that shall have a favorable macroeconomic impact on the Island. The purpose of the Incentives Code is to foster the appropriate environment and opportunities as well as to provide the tools to promote Puerto Rico's sustainable economic development. This new code shall establish the legal and administrative framework which shall govern the incentives application, evaluation, and granting or denial process by the Government of Puerto Rico; it shall provide stability, certainty, and credibility for all types of private investments in Puerto Rico; and shall serve as a promotional tool for investing in the Island. By virtue thereof, this Code grants incentives that: "should not be interpreted as the former tax exemptions which were privileges, for which reason their restrictive interpretation was beneficial to the public interest. On the contrary, [...] should be [liberally] interpreted in consonance with their creative purpose." Textile Dye Works Inc. v. Secretary of Treasury 95 DPR 708, 713 (1968). See also, Pfizer Pharm V. Mun. de Vega Baja, 182 DPR 267, 286 (2011). This Code also maintains the governing principle that the incentives herein provided: "[are] not a grace, in the old sense of the phrase, conferred by the Government of Puerto Rico, but it is an instrument utilized in Puerto Rico to promote industrial development and productive investment [...]" Id. Likewise, this Legislative Assembly wants to clarify that the tax exemptions granted by this Incentives Code are considered a contract between the Government of Puerto Rico, the Exempt Business, and its shareholders, partners, or owners, hence, general contract rules apply thereto. Therefore, "the principle of party autonomy applies thereto, and the parties may establish the covenants, clauses, and conditions deemed convenient, provided that they are not contrary to law, morals, or public order." [Translation supplied] Pfizer Pharm. V. Mun. de Vega Baja, supra, page 283. In this sense, the Incentives Code shall be very valuable and useful for entities such as Invest Puerto Rico, Inc. and the Puerto Rico Destination

Marketing Organization (DMO) which shall be responsible for, among other things, attracting capital to achieve economic development.

The incentives evaluation conducted when this Incentives Code was being drafted, as well as any evaluations to be conducted in the future, were and shall be conducted according to the governing principle that the most relevant aspects for said evaluation are the economic principles proposed or defined by the Government, and the activities and industries that should be incentivized to ensure Puerto Rico's economic growth. The Incentives Code shall enable the Government to achieve the fundamental goal of implementing development initiatives by creating favorable conditions for competitiveness and innovation, and by supporting emerging industries and technologies that promote sustainability, through incentives that encourage training, operational improvement, sustainable economic development, and job creation, and are attuned to Puerto Rico's fiscal reality and the global competitive environment. The Incentives Code shall also facilitate the process of establishing uniform rules to apply for, process, and grant incentives while eliminating government investments in certain activities that are not competitive or productive.

The Incentives Code shall enable us to standardize the types of incentives granted at present and minimize risky incentives that, have historically resulted in losses or have adversely affected the economy of Puerto Rico. The Incentives Code recognizes that promoting the efficient and continuous assessment of the costs and benefits of incentives is essential to determine the money invested vis-à-vis the money received by the Treasury. For such reason, the new Incentives Code shall also include provisions to measure the Return on Investment (ROI) and to keep data on such returns per economic sector up to date.

The Incentives Code shall facilitate the analysis of our incentives to determine the desirability of maintaining, modifying, or discontinuing any incentive that has proven to be obsolete or that has yielded a negative return. Furthermore, the analysis shall allow us to determine which incentives can yield a positive return based on concrete data, whether government resources should be redirected towards other industries to maximize returns and stimulate productivity, and shall even allow us to identify the need to create new incentive mechanisms. New incentives shall be evaluated and approved through the mechanisms and processes established in the regulations adopted by the DEDC based on thorough analyses which enable informed decisions. This structure shall allow us to improve processes, analyze incentives based on the ROI and economic priorities, and to determine, within a reasonable term, whether it is desirable to continue granting the incentive.

Consistent with the foregoing, an incentives evaluation model shall also be created, pursuant to the needs of Puerto Rico's economy, in order to measure the efficacy of the program based on the annual reports submitted by beneficiaries. The analysis of the reports shall allow us to improve the stimulus programs and shall guarantee that the incentives are granted and used to maximize the economic impact on the Island. Likewise, the evaluation shall make it easier to oversee compliance with the terms and conditions of the incentives granted, including risk assessment and the return on investment of such economic stimuli, in accordance with the public policy on economic development. Another change introduced in the Incentives Code were the rigorous safeguards established to impose defined penalties for noncompliance with any of the terms and conditions of the incentives agreement, including the duty to submit annual reports.

As an important element to ensure transparency and that the rules are strictly enforced, a single office shall be designated to oversee the aspects pertaining to compliance. To such effect, the Tax Exemption Office, now the Incentives Office, shall become part of the DEDC and shall assume other responsibilities pursuant to the new Incentives Code.

The new Incentives Code shall be divided into sections, based on the particular characteristics to address the various sectors of the economy (manufacturing; exports; visitor economy; creative industries; finances; investments and insurance; infrastructure; and agroindustry) and to further strategic activities. For such reasons, that it is hereby proposed that those funds granted as incentives in categories or subcategories and that have a negative return be reassigned, when possible, to activities within the same category that yield positive returns.

The New Incentives Code amends the eligibility and benefits granted prospectively to various economic activities. The companies that operate in accordance with the terms of the decree granted shall not be affected. Some incentives shall remain unaltered, for example, export companies and companies that are key suppliers for exporters, foreign investors, and cruise ship industry incentives, while others have been eliminated, standardized, or amended to yield better returns on public investments.

Furthermore, the Incentives Code proposes to include therein all the laws and programs of a social nature in order to ensure that they are part of the oversight process so as to provide transparency to the use of these subsidies and to assess their impact on Puerto Rico.

The Incentives Code defines and imposes oversight responsibilities and accountability in connection with the incentives program by requiring the DEDC to publish annual reports with data on the expenses and benefits of all incentive programs. The report shall make it easier to evaluate the incentives in order to determine which programs should be modified, expanded, or rethought to maximize their impact on the economy, and to align them with the strategic development plan.

This annual report shall also improve the Government of Puerto Rico's transparency pertaining to the use of its fiscal resources.

Another of the Government's priorities in adopting a new Incentives Code is to facilitate the transition so that most of the process is automated and centered on a system that enables the various users, such as proponents, service providers, agencies, and other interested parties, to have access to public information and conduct transactions efficiently.

The Incentives Code also formally incorporates the participation of the private sector into the process through the creation of the concepts of Qualified Promoter and Certified Professional who shall assist the Government in attracting companies to the Island and facilitating the application and compliance processes. Lastly, in order to achieve the purposes of the new Incentives Code, it is imperative to provide for a proper transition with precise change management guidelines for each government body that enforces this particular law as well as for current and future beneficiaries.

Some of the changes made to our economic incentives in the new Incentives Code include organizing exemptions by industry segments and sectors to allow for various incentive laws to be grouped together under a single category in as far as such laws stimulate for those sectors, as stated hereinbelow:

1. Individuals
2. Export (Goods and Services)
3. Financial and Insurance Services
4. Visitor Economy
5. Manufacturing, including Research and Development
6. Infrastructure
7. Agriculture
8. Creative Industries

9. Entrepreneurship

10. Others

Furthermore, tax rates are conformed across industries to the extent possible in order to provide a series of tax benefits that, as a general rule, shall apply to all sectors thus providing a simple guide on what is offered and to whom. Additional benefits are established for small- and medium-sized businesses (SMBs) and for Exempt Businesses established in Vieques and Culebra.

In the agricultural sector, the Secretary of Agriculture is incorporated in the granting of agricultural incentives. Also, original benefits such as wage incentives and agricultural worker bonus are kept.

Recognizing a recent and emerging industry worldwide, commodities, coins, and any digital assets based on blockchain technology shall be eligible for the incentive applicable to the capital gains of Resident Individual Investors (former Act No. 22).

The Incentives Code also incorporates the tax credit mechanism, which credits shall be distributed by the Secretary of the DEDC to maximize the returns of the incentives subject to the sound administration parameters prescribed by regulations. This Code in no way limits the power of the State to grant tax credits, to which deference was given in Section 208(b)(1) of PROMESA. Likewise, this Legislative Assembly reserves the power to establish additional controls, besides those provided herein, for the use of tax credits that have an impact on the General Fund.

Moreover, the tax exemption period under the decree is standardized so that all decrees shall be valid for fifteen (15) years, and may be renegotiated for an additional fifteen (15)-year period. The use of decrees for all tax exemption benefits is incorporated as well, including Act No. 185, the “Private Equity Funds Act,” among others.

The authority to grant decrees and adopt regulations under the Incentives Code is centralized in the DEDC, providing that fiscal and tax matters shall be addressed in conjunction with the Department of the Treasury. All of the changes established in this Code are of a prospective nature and shall not affect the businesses or individuals holding decrees, credits, or incentives granted prior to its approval.

In addition, the Incentives Code includes the My Future Account so as to fulfill the commitment made in the Plan for Puerto Rico. Through this new program, the Administration shall open an account with one thousand dollars ($1,000) for each kindergarten student in the public education system. This account shall allow children to build savings which they shall receive upon graduating from high school. The funds may be used to start a college education or a business, among others. The purpose of this mechanisms is to continue the fight against social inequality and school dropout rates as well as to promote academic achievement. My Future Account is consistent with the Fiscal Plan certified by the Financial Oversight Board pursuant to PROMESA, which clearly directs the development of initiatives that promote education, which represents the Island's future, and investments with the highest positive return therefor.

The Code also includes a loan repayment program for medical, veterinary, and dentistry students as well as those engaged in medical science research so that they remain in Puerto Rico after completing their education. This initiative seeks to encourage that these health professionals remain on the Island after completing their education. Thus, the DEDC may subsidize the student loans taken out by said physicians; provided, that they remain in Puerto Rico and establish their practice on the Island. With this measure, we also seek to slow the exodus of physicians and specialists that Puerto Rico has been experiencing for years.

This Code is approved with the conviction that it shall improve Puerto Rico's economic competitiveness. The Code shall create a simple, streamlined, and efficient process that focuses on the client, and shall earn the trust of the people and the private sector by having a transparent process for the granting of incentives. Likewise, the incentives offered shall be continuously reviewed in order to identify those that are not cost-effective and to strengthen those that have proven to have an impact and which generate a return on investment for the Treasury. Thus, with the tools provided by this Code, this Administration shall keep boosting the economy and attracting private capital to the Island. We keep working nonstop to place Puerto Rico as a world-class jurisdiction for doing business.

Our people remain hopeful and optimistic, even though there are many obstacles to overcome on the road to full recovery. The road to economic recovery has been mapped out. This administration shall stay committed to Puerto Rico in order to guide it to a full economic recovery. This is our goal and we are moving forward. We are confident that the actions we have taken shall help Puerto Rico rise up stronger than ever.

(f) Every Exempt Business and its shareholders shall be entitled to a transparent and expedited process for the granting of a tax exemption Decree.

Section 2044.03.- Private Equity Funds and Puerto Rico Private Equity Funds.

(a) A Private Equity Fund is a fund that meets the following requirements:

(1) As a general rule, not later than four (4) years, counting from the date of its organization and at the close of each subsequent Fiscal Year, a minimum of fifteen percent (15%) of the paid-in capital contributed to the Fund by its Accredited Investors, (excluding the capital that the Fund maintains in bank accounts and other cash equivalent investments) invested in one or more of the following:

(i) promissory notes, bonds, Shares, notes (including secured and unsecured loans and including the collateral) or any other securities of similar nature issued by Entities engaged actively in trade or business (Issuing Entity), that, at the time of acquisition are not traded or offered at public stock exchange markets in the United States or in any foreign country, and that have been issued by: (i) a domestic corporation, a domestic limited liability company, or a domestic partnership, or (ii) a foreign entity that derives at least eighty percent (80%) of its gross income for the previous three (3)-year period from sources within Puerto Rico or from income effectively connected or treated as effectively connected to the conduct of a trade or business in Puerto Rico, in accordance with the provisions of the Puerto Rico Internal Revenue Code. For purposes of this subparagraph (i), it shall be understood that an Issuing Entity is engaged actively in trade or business, if such trade or business is conducted by said Issuing Entity or an Entity controlled by the Issuing Entity. An Entity shall be deemed to be a controlled Entity when the Issuing Entity holds fifty percent (50%) or more of the Capital Stock or ownership interest with voting rights of said Entity.

(ii) promissory notes, bonds, notes, or other debt instruments issued by the Government of Puerto Rico, its instrumentalities, agencies, municipalities, or any other political subdivision.

(2) Its Investors are Accredited Investors;

(3) It employs one or more RIA, at least one which shall:

(i) Be a Domestic Person or a Foreign Person;

(ii) Establish and maintain a business office in Puerto Rico;

(iii) Engage in trade or business in Puerto Rico pursuant to the provisions of the Puerto Rico Internal Revenue Code and registered with the pertinent regulatory entities, including, but not limited to, OCIF, the SEC, and the SBA, as applicable.

An RIA that meets the requirements of this paragraph (3) may subcontract an investment advisor who fails to meet said requirements. However, an RIA who fails to meet the requirements may not subcontract an investment advisor.

(4) shall operate as a diversified investment entity, therefore, not later than four (4) years from the date of its organization and at the end of each subsequent Fiscal Year, not more than fifty percent (50%) of its paid-in capital shall be invested in a single business; provided, however, that the fluctuations in the value of the fund's investments or the sale, liquidation, or other disposition of any of the Fund's Assets pursuant to its investment strategy or objective shall not be taken into account for determining if the Fund meets this requirement. To determine the fifty percent (50%) investment limit in a single business, a group of Affiliates, as defined in subparagraph (i) of this paragraph, shall be deemed to be a business. Therefore, the amounts invested in one or more entities within a group of Affiliates, as defined in subparagraph (i) of this paragraph, shall be aggregated to determine if the fund has achieved the purpose of investing not more than fifty percent (50%) of its capital in a single business. The foregoing limitation does not prevent a fund from investing more than fifty percent (50%) of its capital in entities operating in the same trade or engaged in the same type of business. Neither does it prevent a fund from acquiring all or a majority of the ownership interests of an Entity in which it has invested or is investing its capital, thus, an Entity shall not be deemed to be converted into an Affiliate, as such term is defined in subparagraph (i) of this paragraph, for purposes of such diversification requirement when all or a majority of its ownership interests are acquired by a fund;

(i) For purposes of this paragraph (4), the term "Affiliate" means, with respect to an Entity, any other person or Entity excluding the fund which directly or indirectly through one or various third parties controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with said Entity. The term "control" means to possess or own directly or indirectly fifty percent (50%) or more of the capital Stock or the ownership interests with voting rights of said Entity.

(5) shall have a minimum capital of ten million dollars ($10,000,000), including legal commitments of capital contributions duly documented even if not yet received, within twenty-four (24) months from the fund's first issuance of ownership interests and subsequently;

(6) shall appoint at least one of its Investors or limited partners to one advisory board where matters of interest and concerns regarding the Fund shall be discussed and evaluated by said class;

(7) in case of a foreign partnership or foreign limited liability company, its General or Managing Partner or RIA shall be engaged in a trade or business in Puerto Rico and derive at least eighty percent (80%) of its gross income from sources within Puerto Rico or from income effectively connected or treated as effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or a business in Puerto Rico, in accordance with the provisions of the Puerto Rico Internal Revenue Code.

(b) A Private Equity Fund shall be deemed to be a Puerto Rico Private Equity Fund provided that it complies with paragraphs (2) through (7) of subsection (a) of this Section as well as meets the following eligibility requirements:

(1) Not later than four (4) years, counting from the date of its organization and at the end of each subsequent Fiscal Year, maintains a minimum of sixty percent (60%) of the paid-in capital contributed to the fund by its Accredited Investors (excluding the capital that the fund maintains in bank accounts and other cash equivalent investments) invested in one of the following:

(i) promissory notes, bonds, Shares, notes (including secured and unsecured loans and including the collateral) or any other securities of similar nature issued by Entities engaged actively in trade or business (Issuing Entity), that, at the time of acquisition are not traded or offered at public stock exchange markets in the United States or in any foreign country, and that have been issued by (A) a domestic corporation, a domestic limited liability company, or a domestic partnership, or (B) a foreign entity that derives at least eighty percent (80%) of its gross income for the previous three (3) year period from sources within Puerto Rico or from income effectively connected or treated as effectively connected to the conduct of a trade or a business in Puerto Rico, in accordance with the provisions of the Puerto Rico Internal Revenue Code. For purposes of this subparagraph (i), it shall be understood that an Issuing Entity is engaged actively in trade or business, if such trade or business is conducted by said Issuing Entity or an Entity controlled by the Issuing Entity. An Entity shall be deemed to be a controlled Entity when the Issuing Entity holds fifty percent (50%) or more of the capital Stock or ownership interest with voting rights of said Entity.

(ii) promissory notes, bonds, notes, or other debt instruments issued by the Government of Puerto Rico, its instrumentalities, agencies, municipalities, or any other political subdivision;

(iii) exempt investment trusts under Section 1112.02 of the Puerto Rico Internal Revenue Code;

(iv) promissory notes, bonds, Shares, notes (including secured and unsecured loans and including the collateral) or any other securities of similar nature issued by entities engaged, directly or indirectly, in an active trade or business outside of Puerto Rico, that at the time of acquisition are not traded or offered at public stock exchange markets in the United States or in any foreign country; provided, that the operations of the Entity are transferred to Puerto Rico within six (6) months from the date of the acquisition of the promissory notes, bonds, Shares, or notes (including secured and unsecured loans and including the collateral) or any other securities of similar nature, plus any additional period authorized by the Secretary of the Treasury if there is reasonable cause for the extension, and during the period of twelve (12) calendar months commencing the first day of the calendar month following the calendar month during which the operations are transferred to Puerto Rico and each subsequent twelve (12)-month period, derives at least eighty percent (80%) of its gross income from sources within Puerto Rico or from income effectively connected or treated as effectively connected to the conduct of a trade or a business in Puerto Rico, in accordance with the provisions of the Puerto Rico Internal Revenue Code.

(c) In the case of Private Equity Funds and Puerto Rico Private Equity Funds, any Entity that meets the eligibility requirements provided in this Chapter may request to be treated as a Private Equity Fund or a Puerto Rico Private Equity Fund by filing a Decree application in accordance with Section 2043.01; provided that, in the case of a series limited liability company, said limited liability company may elect to be treated as a single fund, regardless of the number of series, if the fund meets said eligibility requirements; alternatively, one or various series of said limited liability company may elect to be treated individually or jointly as a fund, if said eligibility requirements are met, in which case the aforementioned Decree application shall be filed not later than on the last day of the third (3rd) month as of the date such series was formed.

(d) None of the provisions of this Chapter applicable to the funds shall be interpreted as a limitation to the tax treatment that the Accredited Investors, General or Managing Partners, an RIA, or a PE-Firm might obtain under any other incentive under this Code, provided that they meet the requirements and follow the processes established in this Code.

(e) The fulfillment of the requirements of subsections (a) or (b) of this Section, as applicable, shall be determined for each Taxable Year of the fund. For purposes of determining the percentage of investment in an asset, the initial cost thereof shall be taken into consideration. Failure to meet the eligibility requirements shall prevent the Entity from qualifying as a Private Equity Fund or a Puerto Rico Private Equity Fund during the year in which it failed to meet the requirements and, therefore, the Entity shall be subject to taxation, as applicable, under the provisions of the Puerto Rico Internal Revenue Code, the “Municipal License Tax Act,” and the “Municipal Property Tax Act.” If the Entity is disqualified for a particular Taxable Year for noncompliance with the provisions of this Code, it shall request the Secretary of the DEDC, subject to the requirements prescribed in the Incentives Regulations, a circular letter, an administrative determination, or any other similar general communication, to be treated again as a Private Equity Fund or a Puerto Rico Private Equity Fund for taxable years following the disqualification year.

(f) The Funds shall be exempt from compliance with the provisions of the “Investment Companies Act of Puerto Rico” and the “Puerto Rico Investment Companies Act of 2013.”

(g) Disclosure of Information.

(1) Any offer to participate or invest in a Fund shall be registered in or notified to OCIF and comply with all of the provisions of the Securities Act of the United States and Puerto Rico, as applicable with respect to disclosure and including registration, if necessary.

(2) Every Fund shall:

(i) Inform its investors of its operating results quarterly (unaudited) and annually as audited by a Certified Public Accountants firm duly licensed in Puerto Rico in order for the Investor to verify that the Fund is operating in accordance with the policies, practices, and agreements established during its organization. The audited annual report shall include: the calculated Internal Rate of Return (IRR), an Itemization of Commissions and Expenses of the Partnership, a Summary of Capital Calls, a Debt Summary, and a Letter from the Managing Partner to the Investors.

(ii) The disclosure of the fund shall include:

(A) An explanation of the risks and opportunities in the fund as well as material events including, but not limited to: fraud, material breach of the fiduciary duty, material breach of the agreement, bad faith, and gross negligence.

(B) The Certification of Compliance of the fund duly sworn by the chief executive officer with the provisions of this Code.

(iii) Call a General Annual Meeting of Partners where the General Partner shares information regarding the operation of the fund with its Investors or Limited Partners.

(iv) OCIF shall be empowered examine and inspect Private Equity Funds or Puerto Rico Private Equity Funds to ensure that they informed their operations and financial results accurately, comply with their fiduciary duty to their Investors, and meet the requirements of this Code. The Fund shall pay the cost prescribed by OCIF through regulations to conduct such examinations and inspections. In the event of noncompliance, OCIF may take actions as are necessary including the liquidation of the fund and cessation of additional offerings of its securities.

Said exemption shall continue to be in effect as long as the exemption granted to the Timeshare or Vacation Club Plan is in effect. The Secretary of the DEDC shall prescribe by regulation the procedure to claim said exemption.

(c) The Stock of an Entity that enjoys an exemption granted under this Chapter shall not be subject to property taxes.

Section 2052.03.- Municipal Taxes.

(d) The Secretary of the Treasury shall grant a credit or refund for any tax paid on the sale or on the introduction of items sold to Exempt Businesses for use relating to a Tourist Activity in the manner and with the limitations prescribed in the Puerto Rico Internal Revenue Code or any other successor law.

Section 2052.05.- Municipal Excise Taxes on Construction.

(a) All Exempt Businesses and their contractors or subcontractors shall enjoy up to a seventy-five percent (75%) exemption on any tax, levy, fee, license, excise tax, rate, or charge for the construction of works to be devoted to a Tourist Activity within a municipality, imposed by any ordinance of any municipality, as of the date prescribed on the Decree.

(b) Only for purposes of this exemption, any person in charge of performing administrative duties and the physical and intellectual work inherent to the construction of a work to be devoted to a Tourist Activity by an Exempt Business, and any middleman or chain of middlemen between such person and the Exempt Business shall be deemed to be a contractor or subcontractor of the Exempt Business.

(c) In case of Condo Hotels, and only for purposes of this exemption, any person in charge of carrying out administrative duties and the physical and intellectual work inherent to the construction of a Condo Hotel, and any middleman between such person and the owner of a Condo Hotel unit, including the Developer of the Condo Hotel himself, when he has contracted another for the construction of the Condo Hotel, shall be deemed to be contractors of an Exempt Business in terms of each Condo Hotel unit that meets all the requirements to enjoy the benefits available in this Chapter, including, but not limited to, the requirement of devoting the same to an integrated leasing program for at least nine (9) months of the year.

(d) Amount to be taken as exemption in the case of Condo Hotels.- The amount to be taken as an exemption in the case of a Condo Hotel pursuant to this paragraph shall be divided and assigned in terms of every unit of the Condo Hotel according to the proportion of the interest of each unit regarding the common elements of the regime, when all of the units of the Condo Hotel are devoted to a single horizontal property or another regime under the “Puerto Rico Condo Hotel Act,” or by using any prorating method acceptable to the Secretary of the DEDC when the units are devoted to more than one horizontal property regime.

(1) The exemption shall be taken in whole for the year in which it is required to meet the tax liability for the construction. However, it shall be understood that taxpayers shall be entitled to take as an exemption a one hundred-twentieth part of the amount available as assigned prorated exemption in relation to each unit during each consecutive month in which said units are devoted, from the time of their construction, to an integrated leasing program. The exemption taken at the time of the construction and development of the Condo Hotel shall be equal to the total amount of exemption which would be finally obtained on such account in the event that all units of the Condo Hotel are devoted to an integrated leasing program for at least nine (9) months for each of the first fifteen (15) years, namely, one hundred eighty (180) months as of the construction of each unit.

(2) Each year, there shall be a reduction of the amount taken by virtue of the exemption applicable to such units:

(i) Acquired during said year from the Entity that developed or built them and which have never been used for any purpose whatsoever prior to said acquisition and which are not devoted by the acquirer to an integrated leasing program, within the term provided by the Secretary of the DEDC during which said units must be devoted to such a purpose so that they enjoy the benefits of this Chapter; or

(ii) that during said particular year they have not met, for the first time, the requirement of being devoted to an integrated leasing program for at least nine (9) months during said year.

(3) The equivalent of that reduction in the amount taken on account of the exemption may be recovered annually by the municipality from the taxpayers. The amount to be recovered annually shall be computed as follows:

(i) First: The total portion of the exemption assigned pursuant to this paragraph shall be taken for each unit that during said year and that, for the first time, did not meet the requirement of being devoted at least nine (9) months to an integrated leasing program, and the same shall be multiplied by a fraction whose numerator shall be equal to the subtraction of one hundred eighty (180) minus the number of consecutive months during which said unit met the requirement of being devoted at least nine (9) months each year to an integrated leasing program, and whose denominator shall be one hundred eighty (180).

(ii) Second: The results obtained from the corresponding equations for each unit described in the preceding subparagraph shall be added, and the final result thereof shall be the total amount of the exemption taken in excess and subject to recovery that year. Under no circumstance shall any charges, surcharges, penalties, interest, or any other kind of additional fee be imposed or charged with respect to any tax, levy, fee, license, excise tax, rate, or duty, whose amount is required pursuant to the provisions of this paragraph for reasons arising before or at the time it was determined that said exemption does not proceed, whether in whole or in part.

(iii) When computing the number of months said unit was devoted to an integrated leasing program each year, the fractions of the months shall be rounded up to the preceding month.

(4) As a condition of the aforementioned exemption, any municipality, with the previous consent of the Secretary of the DEDC, may request from any taxpayer with respect to the tax, levy, fee, license, excise tax, rate, or duty on the construction of a Condo Hotel, or from those persons who have a proprietary interest on said taxpayers if they are Entities of any type, a security or Bond to ensure the payment of any amount indebted as a tax pursuant to this paragraph.

(5) The operator of the integrated leasing program of a Condo Hotel shall submit an annual report to the director of finances of the municipality or municipalities where the Condo Hotel is located, should said municipality or municipalities impose any tax, levy, fee, license, excise tax, rate, or duty on the construction of said Condo Hotel. Said report shall indicate the dates on which participating units began to participate in the program, as well as the date or dates on which one or more units withdrew from the program.

(6) For purposes of this subsection, should an Investor in a Condo Hotel fail to meet any requirement established in the Decree granted for such a purpose or should the same be revoked for any reason, said Investor shall be deemed to have failed to devote the Condo Hotel unit(s) covered under said Grant to an integrated leasing program. The Secretary of the DEDC shall notify the director of finances of the appropriate municipality, in case an Investor has failed to meet any requirement established in his Decree or if such Decree has been revoked.

(b) In the case of Condo Hotels, it is hereby established that, in order to enjoy the exemption from municipal excise taxes on construction, each Condo Hotel unit must be devoted to an integrated leasing program for nine (9) months a year for a period of fifteen (15) consecutive years. In those cases in which the use of the Condo Hotel project changes and the Condo Hotel units are removed from the integrated leasing program before the term required under this Code, to such effect, insofar as the unit that is an Exempt Business under this Code is immediately devoted to another Tourist Activity that is an Exempt Business under this Code, for not less than the remaining time period under the integrated leasing program. If this condition is not met, the subsequent acquirer of the unit shall be liable for any amount that must be recovered subsequently on account of this tax collected in excess. In such case, no recovery shall be in order for the years in which the unit belonged to an integrated leasing program and was devoted to another Tourist Activity that is an Exempt Business under this Chapter.

Such notices shall be filed on or before the date prescribed by regulation promulgated to such effect. Commencement dates may not be postponed for a period that exceeds thirty-six (36) months from the date established in this Section. The Secretary of the DEDC shall issue an order prescribing the commencement dates of the exemption periods under this Code, according to the application of the Exempt Business and pursuant to the regulations promulgated for these purposes.

(c) None of the provisions in this Section shall provide for the refund of taxes assessed, imposed, and collected prior to the dates established as the dates of commencement of operations for purposes of the exemptions provided in this Chapter.

(1) The Secretary of the DEDC shall follow the procedures described in this Chapter and determine whether such exemption is essential for the development of the tourist industry, taking into account the facts stated, the nature of the physical facilities, the number of jobs, the total payroll, the total investment, the location of the project, its environmental impact, the reinvestment in the Exempt Business, whether in whole or in part, of the depreciation taken as a tax deduction, or other factors that, in his judgment, warrant such determination.

Likewise, the real property of said Exempt Business which is directly related to any expansion of the Exempt Business shall be fully exempt from property taxes during the period authorized under the Decree for carrying out the expansion. Once the total exemption period established in this subsection expires, the partial exemption provided in this Section shall begin to apply.

(c) Eligible Investments shall be fully exempt from property taxes.

(d) Optional Self-Assessment Method.-

(1) An Exempt Business, under this Chapter, may use the self-assessment method provided for in this paragraph in order to determine the classification and the real property tax on property which has not been assessed by virtue of the Act No. 83-1991. In such cases, the Exempt Business shall comply with the procedures established in Act No. 83-1991, provided that it has fulfilled the notice requirements established in said Act or in the Decree.

(2) The self-assessment method provided for in this paragraph may be used exclusively for property which is effectively deemed to be real property by reason of the use and location to which it is devoted to and for being used in the development, organization, construction, establishment, or operation of the eligible activity. The method established herein may not be used to appraise land or structures, including real property permanently affixed to a structure and which exclusively serves said structure, such as lighting equipment.

(3) The assessed value of the property classified as real property by the Exempt Business, to be assessed under this paragraph, shall be equal to thirty-five percent (35%) of the depreciated value in the books of the Exempt Business. (5) Any Exempt Business that has opted to use the self-assessment method provided in this subsection, shall file a self-assessed real property tax return not later than May 15 of every year, in which it shall identify the property that shall be deemed to be real property, and shall determine its real property tax obligation for the Fiscal Year of the Government, pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (3) of this subsection. Once the Exempt Business adopts the assessment method provided in this subsection, it shall file and pay on the date the first return is to be filed, in addition to the tax corresponding to the current Fiscal Year, the tax corresponding to the previous four (4) fiscal years, or to the number of years it has been operating, whichever is less. The Exempt Business may make the payment corresponding to its tax obligation for the previous four (4) fiscal years, or the corresponding number of years, as provided above, in two (2) installments. The first of such payments shall be made when filing the corresponding tax return and the second payment shall be made within six (6) months following the filing date of the first tax return under the option of this method. Within ten (10) business days as of the date on which the Exempt Business files the tax return provided in this paragraph, CRIM shall notify the concerned municipalities of the decision of the Exempt Business to avail itself of the optional self-assessment method.

In such cases, the Exempt Business shall comply with the procedures established in the “Municipal Property Tax Act.” The classification and assessment made by CRIM pursuant to the aforementioned act shall only have a prospective effect for all legal purposes, for which reason no determination of deficiency shall be made with respect to the method used or the classification of the property as real property for the years in which the optional self-assessment method was used.

(e) Setting the Date of Commencement of Operations and of the Exemption Periods.-

(1) The Exempt Business holding a Decree under this Chapter may choose the date of commencement of operations for purposes of Section 2062.01 of this Chapter by filing a sworn statement with the Incentives Office, stating the unconditional acceptance of the Decree made to the Exempt Business under this Code. (4) In the case of Exempt Businesses holding a Decree granted under this Chapter and which have been operating on a commercial scale before applying for the benefits of this Chapter, the date of commencement of operations, for purposes of the flat income tax rate provided in subsection (a) of Section 2062.01 of this Code shall be the date on which said application is filed with the Incentives Office, but the commencement date may be deferred for a period not to exceed two (2) years as of said date.

(5) The Exempt Business holding a Decree granted under this Chapter shall commence commercial-scale operations within a term of one (1) year as of the signature date of the Decree. Such term may be deferred at the request of said business when there is a justified cause therefor, but no time extensions shall be granted to delay the date of commencement of operations for a term exceeding five (5) years from the approval date of the Decree.

1. have not been previously used or depreciated by any other business or person in Puerto Rico; and
2. are used to manufacture the products or to render the services for which the benefits provided under this Chapter were granted.

(b) The deduction provided for in this Section shall not be in addition to any other deduction provided for by law, but rather, merely an acceleration of the deduction of the aforementioned expenses. Provided, that in the case of machinery and equipment previously used outside of Puerto Rico, but not previously used or depreciated in Puerto Rico, the investment in said machinery and equipment shall qualify for the special deduction provided for in this subsection (b) only if said machinery and equipment still has left, as of the date of its acquisition by the Exempt Business, at least fifty percent (50%) of its useful life, determined pursuant to the Puerto Rico Internal Revenue Code.

(c) The Exempt Business holding a Decree granted under this Chapter may deduct, within the Taxable Year in which these are incurred, the total amount of expenses incurred after the effective date of this Code, in remodeling or repairing buildings, structures, machinery, and equipment, in lieu of any capitalization of expenses required under the Puerto Rico Internal Revenue Code, in the event that said buildings, structures, machinery, and equipment have been acquired or built before or after the effective date of this Code, as well as when they have or have not been used or depreciated by another business or person prior to the acquisition thereof by the Exempt Business holding a Decree granted under this Chapter or under Previous Tax Incentives Laws.

(d) The amount of the Investment in Manufacture for the special deduction provided for in this Section in excess of the Industrial Development Income of the Exempt Business holding a Decree granted under this Chapter during the year the investment was made, may be claimed as a deduction in subsequent Taxable Years until said excess is exhausted. No deduction shall be allowed under this subsection in relation to that portion of the investment pertaining to buildings, structures, machinery, and equipment over which the Exempt Business receives or has received Tax Credit pursuant to Subtitle C of this Code.

(b) Flexible Tax Exemption.- Exempt businesses shall have the option of choosing the specific taxable years to be covered under their decrees in terms of their opportunity zone net income; provided, that they so notify to the Secretary and the Director not later than the deadline established by law for filing their income tax return for said taxable year, including the time extensions granted for this purpose. Once said exempt businesses opt for this benefit, their exemption period in relation to the opportunity zone net income shall be extended for the number of taxable years in which they have not enjoyed the tax exemption under their decrees.

(c) Establishment of Operations in Other Municipalities.- An exempt business may establish operations covered by an exemption decree in effect, in the same municipality where the principal office is located, or in any other municipality of Puerto Rico; provided, that it notifies the Exemption Office within thirty (30) days before the commencement of operations in the other municipality; and provided, that the Committee has designated the business activity to be established within a geographic area of the same municipality where the principal office is located or in any other municipality, as a Priority Project within Opportunity Zones in accordance with Section 6070.60 of this Code. Additional operations shall enjoy the exemptions and benefits provided in this Chapter for the remainder of the exemption period under the decree in effect; provided, that they are consistent with the operation covered by the exemption decree and the operations in the new municipality are located within a qualified zone.

(d) Interruption of the Exemption Period.- An exempt business, which has ceased operations and subsequently wishes to resume operations, shall not have the time it was not operating deducted from its corresponding exemption period and may enjoy the remainder of its exemption period, while its tax exemption decree is in effect; provided, that the Director determines that said operations ceased for good cause and that the reopening of said exempt business would serve the best social and economic interests of Puerto Rico.

(1) The exempt business may choose the date of commencement of operations for purposes of Section 6070.56 of this Code by filing an affidavit with the Exemption Office, with a copy to the Secretary, stating the unconditional acceptance of the decree granted to the exempt business under this Act. For purposes of Section 6070.56 of this Code, the date of commencement of operations may be the date of the first payroll for training or production of the exempt business holding a decree under this Chapter, or any other date within a period of two (2) years following the date of the first payroll.

(2) The exempt business may defer the application of the flat tax rate provided in Section 6070.56 of this Code for a period not to exceed two (2) years from the date of commencement of operations as established under paragraph (1) of this subsection. During the deferral period, said exempt business shall be subject to the applicable tax rate under Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code.

(3) The exemption period provided in subsection (a) of Section 6070.57 of this Code for the exemption of real and personal property shall begin on the first day of the fiscal year of the Government of Puerto Rico following the last fiscal year in which the exempt business holding a decree under this Chapter was partially exempt, pursuant to the provisions of subsection (b) of Section 6070.57 of this Code. The partial tax exemption provided in subsection (a) of Section 6070.57 of this Code for said fiscal year shall apply to the tax on property owned by the exempt business on January 1st immediately preceding the beginning of said fiscal year.

(4) For purposes of the municipal license tax and any other municipal tax exemption, the partial exemption period provided in subsection (a) of Section 6070.58 of this Code shall begin on the first day of the first semester of the fiscal year of the Government of Puerto Rico following the expiration of the partial exemption period provided in subsection (c). Provided, that in the case of exempt businesses that have been operating on a commercial scale before applying for the benefits of this Code, the date of commencement of operations, for purposes of municipal license taxes, shall be the first day of the semester following the filing date of the application for tax exemption.

(5) In the case of exempt businesses that have been operating on a commercial scale prior to applying for the benefits of this Chapter, the date of commencement of operations for purposes of the flat income tax rate provided in Section 6070.56 of this Code, shall be the filing date of an application with the Exemption Office, but the date of commencement may be postponed for a period not to exceed two (2) years after said date.

(6) The exempt business shall commence operations on a commercial scale within one (1) year after the date of signature of the decree, which term may be postponed at the request of the business for good cause; however, no extensions of the date of commencement of operations shall be granted for a period greater than five (5) years from the date of approval of the decree.

Section 6070.60.- Procedures Applicable to Opportunity Zones.-

(a) Ordinary Procedure for Priority Projects within Opportunity Zones under this Act.

(1) The Committee shall issue a list of all business activities or eligible businesses per geographic area, which shall be recognized as Priority Projects within Opportunity Zones. The first list shall be issued on or before July 31, 2019. Each list shall be in effect for at least one (1) year from the publication thereof. However, none of the provisions herein shall limit the Committee's authority to amend the list, including the list of activities or geographic areas that may arise by virtue of paragraphs (2) and (3) of this subsection, for the purpose of adding business activities or additional geographic areas, which shall be in effect from the approval thereof until the one (1)-year period of the original list ends.

(A) When determining which activities shall be considered eligible activities, as well as the geographic areas to which the list shall apply, the Committee shall take into account:

The need for the business activity in Puerto Rico or in a geographic area.

The economic impact that the granting of decrees shall have on the region.

The best interests of the people of Puerto Rico.

(B) When issuing the list, the Committee shall not impose requirements in addition to those provided in this Chapter.

(2) Activities not Published by the Committee as Priorities:

(A) Any person interested in having an activity considered a Priority Project within Opportunity Zones under this Chapter, and which activity is not designated as such by the Committee on the published list mentioned in paragraph (1) of this subsection, shall request such designation through a letter addressed to the Committee, and shall file a copy of the request with the Secretary of Economic Development. In said request, any person interested in having an economic activity established in a geographic zone, including the mayors of the Municipalities, shall explain and describe the activity or activities they intend to carry out, the location of the activity, the merits of the activity proposed as a Priority Project within Opportunity Zones, and any other information that the Committee may require through regulations or administrative order. Within thirty (30) days from the date of the request, the Committee shall approve or deny the designation of the activity as a Priority Project within Opportunity Zones, or request, in writing, any additional information deemed necessary to assist in making a determination, or request a meeting to discuss the proposed project within thirty (30) days from the date of said request. The Committee shall act on the request within thirty (30) days from the date of receipt of the additional information or the holding of the meeting. In addition, the Committee may delay, at its discretion, for a term not to exceed fifteen (15) days, its decision as to whether the proposed activity constitutes a Priority Project within Opportunity Zones. The Committee shall evaluate the information furnished by the applicant and shall vote, within the terms provided herein, to approve or deny the designation of the proposed activity as a Priority Project within Opportunity Zones and/or extend the geographic area of an activity already approved in another region. If the request is approved, an amended list of Priority Projects shall be published to include said activity. If the Committee fails to act on the request within the terms provided herein, the request shall be deemed to be denied and the interested party may request once again that such activity be considered a Priority Project within Opportunity Zones under this Chapter.

(B) The Committee may delegate to the Secretary of Economic Development the evaluation of requests to determine whether an activity may be considered a Priority Project within Opportunity Zones under this Chapter and include it on the published list mentioned in paragraph one (1) of this subsection. The Secretary of Economic Development shall complete his analysis within the terms provided in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph and submit a report to the Committee, which shall determine whether the proposed activity constitutes a Priority Project within Opportunity Zones. The Committee, within the terms provided in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph, shall vote to approve or deny the designation of the proposed activity issued by the Secretary of Economic Development.

(A) Any person who has established or intends to establish in Puerto Rico an eligible business and that has received a designation as a Priority Project within Opportunity Zones by the Committee, may request the Director the benefits of this Chapter by filing the corresponding duly sworn application with the Exemption Office.

(B) At the time of the filing, the Director shall collect the corresponding processing fees, which shall be paid by certified check, postal money order or cashier's check to the order of the Secretary. Such fees shall be provided for by regulations, circular letter, administrative determination, or general information bulletin.

(C) The Secretary of Economic Development shall prescribe by regulations the processing fees to be collected. Provided, that such regulations shall be revised every three (3) years after the approval thereof.

(4) Interagency Consideration of Applications.-

(A) Once any application under this Chapter is received by the Exemption Office, the Director shall send, within five (5) days to be counted as of the filing date of the application, a copy thereof to the Secretary, the concerned municipality, and the Secretary of Economic Development for the latter to file an eligibility report of the activity to be carried out and other facts related to the application. Upon evaluating the application, the Secretary and the concerned municipality shall ascertain the eligible business shareholders or partner's compliance with their tax liabilities under the laws administered by the former. Said verification shall not be necessary in the case of Puerto Rico nonresident shareholders who have not been Puerto Rico residents before or who hold, directly or indirectly, a share of less than ten percent (10%) in the Fund, or corporations with publicly traded stocks. Noncompliance with said tax liability shall be sufficient grounds for the Secretary to deny the application for exemption of the applicant business.

(B) After the Secretary of Economic Development submits his Eligibility Report and recommendations, if no application in opposition thereto has been filed, the Director shall send a copy of the draft decree within five (5) business days after receiving the documents needed to process the case, to the concerned agencies, including the concerned municipality and the Municipal Revenue Collections Center (CRIM, Spanish acronym), for evaluation and recommendation. Any unfavorable recommendation on the draft decree shall include the reasons therefor.

(i) The agencies and municipalities consulted by the Director shall have ten (10) days to submit their reports or recommendations on the draft decree referred to them. If the agency or the municipality makes a favorable recommendation, or if said recommendation is not received by the Exemption Office during the aforementioned ten (10)-day period, it shall be understood that said draft decree has received a favorable recommendation and the Secretary of Economic Development may take the appropriate action regarding said application.

(ii) If the municipality raises any objection with regard to the draft decree referred thereto, the Exemption Office shall consider said objection as deemed necessary, and the Exemption Office shall notify the parties and the corresponding agencies for the review of the administrative action or draft decree review, as appropriate. Once the dispute is resolved, the Director shall make the determination deemed appropriate and forward the case to the Secretary of Economic Development for his final consideration.

(C) In case of amendments to grants approved under this Chapter, the concerned agencies and municipalities shall have ten (10) days to submit a report or opinion to the Director.

(D) Upon receipt of the reports, or upon expiration of the terms to make such reports, the Director shall submit the draft decree and his recommendations to the Secretary of Economic Development for his consideration, within the following five (5) days.

(E) The Director may rely on the recommendations of the agencies or municipalities that submit reports or opinions and may request them to support them.

(F) The Secretary of Economic Development shall issue a final written determination within a term not to exceed five (5) days from the date the draft decree was submitted for his consideration.

(G) The Secretary of Economic Development may delegate to the Director those functions as he deems convenient in his discretion, in order to facilitate the administration of this Chapter, except for the function of approving or denying original tax exemption grants.

(H) Neither the Secretary of Economic Development nor the Director may impose requirements in addition to those provided in this Chapter of this Code on exempt businesses. The geographic area shall neither be limited beyond the limits established by the Committee.

(b) Renegotiations and Conversions-

(1) Renegotiation of Decrees in Effect.-

(A) Any exempt business may request the Secretary of Economic Development to consider renegotiating its decree in effect if said exempt business shows that it shall increase by twenty-five percent (25%) or more the average jobs it has created during the three (3) taxable years preceding the filing of the application; or that it shall make a substantial investment in its existing operations which shall help maintain the economic and labor stability, and that represents a twenty-five percent (25%) increase or more in the investment in property used in the exempt business that is land, buildings or structures, machinery or equipment.

(i) If said exempt business shows to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Economic Development that it is unable to meet the requirements relative to the increase in the average jobs or the increase in investment described above, it shall submit the evidence necessary to the Exemption Office. The Secretary of Economic Development, upon favorable recommendation of the Secretary of the Treasury, and upon recommendation of the agencies that submit tax exemption reports, at his discretion, may consider the renegotiation, taking into account any other factor or circumstance which reasonably shows that the renegotiation of its decree shall inure to the best social and economic interests of Puerto Rico.

(ii) For purposes of this Section, the jobs of the aforementioned exempt business shall consist of the number of Puerto Rico resident individuals who have a permanent, full-time job in the exempt business rendering services as employees, even if they are not directly on the payroll of the exempt business (such as persons under employee leasing contracts, but shall not include persons such as independent contractors or consultants).

(iii) For purposes of this Section, the investment of the exempt business in its existing operations shall be computed according to the book value of the property factoring in the benefit of admissible depreciation under the straight-line method, taking into account the useful life of said property as determined pursuant to Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code, in lieu of any other accelerated depreciation allowed by law.

(iv) If the Secretary of Economic Development agrees to conduct the renegotiation thus requested, upon recommendation of the agencies that submit tax exemption reports, he shall take into account the number of jobs of the exempt business, the location thereof, the investment and additional jobs, as well as the remainder of the term of its decree, the tax benefits already enjoyed and its financial capacity, in order for the exempt business to be able to obtain a new decree with tax benefits adjusted under this Chapter.

(v) The Secretary of Economic Development shall establish the terms and conditions he deems necessary and convenient to better serve the interests of Puerto Rico, within the limits provided in this Chapter, and may, in his discretion, upon recommendation of the agencies that submit tax exemption reports, impose special job requirements, limit the period and the percentage of the exemption, limit the taxes to be exempt, and require and provide any other term or condition as necessary to achieve the economic development purposes proposed under this Chapter.

(vi) When the exempt business that wishes to renegotiate its decree fails to meet the increased job or investment requirements provided in this subsection, the Secretary of Economic Development may, upon favorable recommendation of the Secretary and the agencies that submit tax exemption reports, impose a flat income tax rate greater than that imposed under the exempt business decree.

(c) Denial of Applications.-

(1) Denial when Not Beneficial for Puerto Rico.- The Secretary of Economic Development shall deny any application when he determines that the grant does not inure to the best economic and social interests of Puerto Rico, upon considering the nature of the physical facilities, the number of jobs, the total sum of the payroll and the investment, the location of the project, its environmental impact, or other factors that, in his judgment, warrant such a determination, as well as the recommendations of the agencies that submit tax exemption reports.

(A) Upon notice of denial, the applicant may request reconsideration to the Secretary of Economic Development within sixty (60) days from receipt of the notice of denial, setting forth the facts and arguments regarding its application, as deemed appropriate, including the offer of any consideration in benefit of Puerto Rico which he deems warrants the request for reconsideration.

(B) In the event said application is reconsidered, the Secretary of Economic Development may accept any consideration offered in benefit of Puerto Rico and may require and provide other terms or conditions as necessary to ensure that such a grant shall inure to the best interests of Puerto Rico and achieve the purposes of economic development proposed by this Chapter.

(2) Denial for being Inconsistent with the Public Interest.- The Secretary of Economic Development shall deny any application if, based on the facts presented for his consideration and after the applicant has had the opportunity to offer a complete presentation concerning the matters at issue, he determines that the application is inconsistent with the public interest of Puerto Rico because the applicant has not been organized as a permanent bona fide business, or in view of the moral or financial reputation of the persons that constitute the business, the funding plans and methods for the applicant business, the nature or intended use for the product or services of the applicant business, or any other factor that might indicate that there is a reasonable possibility that granting the exemption would be detrimental to the economic and social interests of Puerto Rico.

Section 6070.61.- Exempt Business Transfer Applicable to Opportunity Zones.

(a) Exempt Business Transfer.-

(1) General Rule.- The transfer of a decree, or of the stocks, property, or other property interest of an exempt business shall be previously approved by the Director. If the transfer is carried out without being previously approved, the decree shall be rendered null from the date of the transfer, except in the cases listed in paragraph (2) of this subsection. The foregoing notwithstanding, the Director may retroactively approve any transfer carried out without his previous approval, when in his judgment, the circumstances of the case so warrant, taking into consideration the best interests of Puerto Rico and the purposes of this Chapter.

(2) Exceptions.- The following transfers shall be authorized with no need for previous consent:

(A) The transfer of the assets of a deceased to his estate or the transfer by bequest or inheritance.

(B) Transfers within the provisions of this Chapter.

(C) The transfer of stocks or partnership interest when such a transfer does not result, directly or indirectly, in a change in the ownership or control of an exempt business holding a decree under this Chapter.

(D) The transfer of stocks of a corporation that owns or operates an exempt business when said transfer takes place after the Secretary of Economic Development has determined that any transfers of stocks from said corporation shall be allowed without his previous approval.

(E) The pledge, mortgage, or other surety with the purpose of securing a bona fide debt. Any transfer of control, title, or interest by virtue of said contract shall be subject to the provisions of subsection (a) of this Section.

(F) The transfer by operation of this Chapter, by a court order, or by a bankruptcy judge to a trustee or fiduciary. Any subsequent transfer to a third party other than the aforementioned debtor or the bankrupt himself, shall be subject to the provisions of subsection (a) of this Section.

(G) The transfer of all the assets of an exempt business holding a decree under this Chapter to an affiliated business. For purposes of this paragraph, affiliated businesses are those whose stockholders or partners jointly hold eighty percent (80%) or more of the issued and outstanding voting stocks or interest of said exempt business.

(3) Notice.- All transfers included in the exceptions to this subsection shall be notified to the Director within the following thirty (30) days by the exempt business holding a decree under this Chapter, with a copy to the Secretary of Economic Development and the Secretary, except for those included in subparagraph (D) of paragraph (2) which do not turn the holder of ten percent (10%) or more of the capital issued by the corporation into a stockholder, as well as those included under subparagraph (G) of paragraph (2), which shall be notified by the exempt business to the Director, with a copy to the Secretary, prior to the date of the transfer.

Section 6070.62- Allowable and Mandatory Revocation Applicable to Opportunity Zones.

(a) Allowable Revocation.- The Secretary of Economic Development may revoke a decree:

(1) When the exempt business fails to comply with any of the obligations imposed by this Chapter of this Code, or the regulations thereunder, or by the terms of the exemption decree.

(2) When the exempt business fails to commence or complete the construction of the facilities necessary for the activities it intends to carry out or for the services it intends to render, or when the exempt business fails to commence the activity within the period established for such purposes in the decree.

(3) When the exempt business suspends its operations for over thirty (30) days without the express authorization of the Secretary of Economic Development. Provided, that the Secretary of Economic Development may authorize such suspensions for periods longer than thirty (30) days when these are due to extraordinary circumstances.

(b) Mandatory Revocation.-

(1) The Secretary of Economic Development shall revoke any decree granted under this Chapter when such decree has been obtained by means of false or fraudulent representations concerning the nature of the eligible business, or any other facts or circumstances which, in whole or in part, prompted the granting of the decree.

(2) When any person commits, or attempts to commit, by himself or on behalf of someone else, a violation of the provisions pertaining to successor businesses or preceding exempt businesses, such an action shall also be grounds for revocation under this paragraph.

(3) When the exempt business fails to comply with its tax liability under the Internal Revenue Code and other tax laws of Puerto Rico, when said noncompliance is duly certified by the Secretary.

(c) Procedure.- In the event of revocation of a decree granted under this Chapter, the grantee shall have the opportunity to appear before and be heard by the Director or any Special Examiner of the Tax Exemption Office designated for such purpose, who shall report his conclusions and recommendations to the Secretary of Economic Development, with the prior recommendation of the agencies that submit tax exemption reports.

(d) Effect of Revocation.- In the event of revocation, all of the computed net income, previously reported as opportunity zone net income, whether distributed or not, as well as all distributions thereof, shall be subject to taxation under the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code. Furthermore, the taxpayer shall be deemed to have filed a false or fraudulent tax return with the intent to evade the payment of taxes, and consequently, shall be subject to the criminal provisions of the Internal Revenue Code. The taxes owed in such case, as well as any other taxes that were until then exempt and unpaid, shall become due and payable from the date such taxes would have become due and payable were it not for the decree, and shall be assessed and collected by the Secretary, pursuant to the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code.

Section 6070.63.- Nature of the Decrees Applicable to Opportunity Zones.

(a) In general.- The decrees granted under this Chapter shall be deemed to be a contract between the exempt business, its stockholders, partners, or owners, and the Government of Puerto Rico, and said contract shall be binding upon the parties. Said contract shall be construed liberally, consistently with the purpose of this Chapter of promoting the socioeconomic development of Puerto Rico. The Secretary of Economic Development shall have discretion to include, on behalf and in representation of the Government of Puerto Rico, those terms and conditions, grants and exemptions that are consistent with the purpose of this Chapter and promote job creation through the socioeconomic development of Puerto Rico, taking into consideration the nature of the application filed or action requested, as well as the facts and circumstances relative to each particular case as these may apply.

(b) Obligation to Comply with Representations in Application.- Every exempt business holding a decree under this Chapter shall conduct its exempt operations substantially as they were represented in the application, except when such operations have been changed through amendments authorized by the Secretary of Economic Development pursuant to the provisions of this Chapter.

Section 6070.64.- Administrative Decisions Applicable to Opportunity Zones – Purpose.

(a) All decisions and determinations of the Committee regarding the designation of an activity as a Priority Project within Opportunity Zones, or of the Secretary of Economic Development regarding the granting of decrees and the contents thereof, shall be final and not subject to judicial or administrative review or any other writ may overturn them, unless otherwise specifically provided. Provided, that once a decree has been granted under this Chapter, no agency, public instrumentality, political subdivision, public corporation, or municipality, whether autonomous or not, of the Government of Puerto Rico, other than the Secretary of Economic Development or the Governor, may challenge the legality of such decree or any of the provisions thereof.

(b) Any grantee adversely affected or aggrieved by any action taken by the Secretary of Economic Development revoking and/or cancelling an exemption decree pursuant to subsection (b) of Section 6070.54 of this Code shall be entitled to a judicial review thereof by filing a petition for review before the Court of Appeals of Puerto Rico within thirty (30) days after the final decision or adjudication of the Secretary of Economic Development. During the processing of such a judicial review, the Secretary of Economic Development is hereby authorized, when in his judgment the service of justice so warrants, to postpone the effective date of any action taken by him under those conditions that so require and to the extent necessary to prevent irreparable damages. When such postponement is requested and subsequently denied, the court before which the review is requested, including the Supreme Court of Puerto Rico, through a writ of certiorari, may decree any necessary and appropriate proceeding to postpone the effective date of any action taken by the Secretary of Economic Development in order to preserve the status or rights of the parties until the review proceedings conclude, upon prior posting of a bond in favor of the Secretary of the Treasury in the amount of the unpaid taxes as of such date, plus interest and penalties, plus interests computed for a period of one (1) year at the prevailing legal rate. Any decision or judgement of the Court of Appeals of Puerto Rico shall be subject to review by the Supreme Court of Puerto Rico through a writ of certiorari requested by any of the parties thereto as provided by law.

(c) The members of the Committee and employees with Committee-related functions shall not be held civilly liable for any action or omission while discharging their duties under this Chapter of this Code, unless such conduct constitutes an offense or involves gross negligence.

Section 6070.65.- Periodical Reports to the Committee Applicable to Opportunity Zones.

(a) In General.- Every year, and regardless of any other report required by law, the Director, in consultation with the Secretary, the Secretary of Economic Development, and the Planning Board shall submit a report to the Committee on the economic and fiscal impact of this Chapter. Said report shall be submitted within one hundred eighty (180) days after the close of each fiscal year. Said report shall include the information that the Committee publishes through circular letter or other publication of general circulation.

Section 6070.66.- Reports Required from Exempt Businesses and Their Stockholders or Partners Applicable to Opportunity Zones.

(a) Every exempt business shall file annually with the Secretary an income tax return, regardless of the amount of their gross or net income, separate from any other return which they are for other reasons required to file in connection with industry operations covered under the benefits provided for in this Chapter, and pursuant to the Internal Revenue Code for a New Puerto Rico. The Secretary may share with the Tax Exemption Office the information so received, provided that the confidentiality of said information is protected.

(b) Any stockholder or partner of an exempt business holding a decree under this Chapter shall file annually with the Department of the Treasury an income tax return, pursuant to the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code for a New Puerto Rico, insofar as such stockholder or partner is required to do so under said Code.

(c) The exempt business shall be required to keep in Puerto Rico a separate accounting for its operations as well as records and files as necessary, in addition to making and submitting the affidavits and complying with the rules and regulations in effect to duly achieve the purposes of this Chapter, and those which the Secretary may prescribe from time to time in connection with the imposition and collection of all types of taxes.

(d) Every exempt business shall file annually with the Tax Exemption Office, with a copy to the Secretary, not later than thirty (30) days from the deadline prescribed by law for filing the corresponding income tax return, including any extensions granted for such a purpose, a report authenticated with the signature of the President, managing partner, or his authorized representative. Said report shall include an account of data ascertaining compliance with the conditions established in the decree as well as any information that may be required in the form to be adopted for such purpose, or as required by Regulations. This report shall enclose the fees provided through Regulations payable through postal money order or cashier's or certified check, or by electronic means to the order of the Secretary of the Treasury. The information furnished in this annual report shall be used for statistical purposes and economic studies, as provided in this Chapter. Likewise, the Tax Exemption Office shall conduct an audit at least every two (2) years to ascertain compliance with the terms and conditions of the decree granted under this Chapter.

(e) The Director may impose a ten thousand dollar ($10,000)-civil fine on any exempt business that fails to file any of the reports required by the Secretary or the Director, pursuant to the provisions of subsections (a) through (e) of this Section, or that files such reports after the deadline. The Tax Exemption Office may bring a civil action for the collection of said civil fine before the General Court of First Instance of Puerto Rico, Superior Court, San Juan Part, which shall have exclusive jurisdiction to hear said proceedings. Filing an incomplete report shall be deemed to be a failure to file said report, if the concerned agency notifies the exempt business of any omission on the required report and said exempt business fails to submit the missing information within fifteen (15) days from the date of such notice, or fails to provide reasonable grounds therefor.

Section 6070.67.- Regulations Applicable to Opportunity Zones.

The Secretary of Economic Development, in consultation with the Secretary of the Treasury, shall approve regulations as necessary to govern all that pertains to the form and manner in which the decrees contemplated herein are requested and granted, in order to enforce the provisions and purposes of this Chapter. The Secretary of the Treasury shall approve regulations, in consultation with the Secretary of Economic Development regarding the granting and assignment, or the sale of tax credits under Section 6070.56 of this Code. Furthermore, these regulations shall be subject to the provisions of Act No. 38-2017, known as the “Government of Puerto Rico Uniform Administrative Procedure Act.”

The Secretary may issue regulations, administrative determinations, circular letters, or general information bulletins on all that pertains to compliance by the exempt business and the Fund with the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code and this Code.

Section 6070.68.- Application of the Puerto Rico Internal Revenue Code.

Section 6070.69.- Special Process for the Evaluation and Issuance of Permits.

(a) Special Process.- Government agencies with jurisdiction over permit processing, consultations, licenses, franchises, or certifications for Priority Projects within Opportunity Zones shall be governed by the provisions of this Chapter and shall be exempt from compliance with the terms and procedures established in Act No. 161-2009, as amended, known as the “Puerto Rico Permit Process Reform Act”; Act No. 75 of June 24, 1975, as amended, known as the “Puerto Rico Planning Board Organic Act”; Act No. 81-1991, known as the “Autonomous Municipalities Act of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico of 1991”; and Act No. 38-2017, as amended, known as the “Government of Puerto Rico Uniform Administrative Procedure Act,” as well as the regulations promulgated thereunder. The substantive requirements applicable to permits, consultations, licenses, franchises, consultations, or certification shall be those established by the law or regulations governing the referred processing.

(b) Jurisdiction.- The provisions of any other law notwithstanding, every permit application for a Priority Project within Opportunity Zones shall be evaluated by the Permit Management Office (OGPe, Spanish acronym), regardless of its location and any hierarchy transfer agreement that exists with the municipality where it is located. Provided, however, that OGPe shall be required to request the municipality where the Priority Project within Opportunity Zones is located to make comments on the proposal.

(c) Term for Comments.- The agencies or municipalities from which OGPe requests comments shall have a nonextendable term of ten (10) business days after such comment request to submit them. If no response is received after said term of ten (10) business days, the proposal shall be deemed favorable.

(d) Term for Processing Environmental Documents.- A term of twenty (20) business days from the filling of the environmental document for a Priority Project within Opportunity Zones is hereby established for OGPe to express its consent or objection in accordance with the provisions of Section 4(B)(3) of Act No. 416-2004, as amended, known as the "Environmental Public Policy Act." OGPe may extend said term when the environmental document submitted is incomplete, when additional information is required, or when other reasons so warrant it.

(1) An Interagency Subcommittee on Environmental Compliance to be created by the Governor through an Executive Order shall be responsible for the evaluation and final determination regarding the environmental document. Said subcommittee shall be composed of representatives empowered to evaluate and adjudicate the potential environmental impacts of the projects to be developed. In extraordinary circumstances, a majority vote of the Interagency Subcommittee may extend the term to evaluate and adjudicate potential environmental impacts up to a term not to exceed thirty (30) days. If the Interagency Subcommittee on Environmental Compliance has not been created, the Interagency Subcommittee on Environmental Compliance that has been created by the Governor pursuant to Act No. 76-2000, as amended, is hereby authorized to carry out the tasks authorized under this Section.

(f) Term for other Development Permits.- Permits for urban development, construction, land subdivision, and others for the development of the Priority Project within Opportunity Zones, other than a site consultation and other individual, general, or consolidated permits under the jurisdiction of OGPe, shall be evaluated by OGPe within ten (10) business days after the appropriate permit application has been satisfactorily filed.

(g) Notices.- In every procedure where it is required to notify the interested parties, it shall be sufficient to publish only a single notice in two (2) newspapers of general circulation. Furthermore, a sign shall be placed in a conspicuous place indicating, among other things, the purpose of the work or project, the Web address, and the telephone number of the pertinent agency.

(h) Regulations and Administrative Orders.- The Office of Permit Management (OGPe) is hereby empowered to establish alternate procedures to expedite the granting of permits, licenses, endorsements, consultations, or certifications, relating to Priority Projects within Opportunity Zones, that are consistent with the requirements of this Chapter. Until such procedures are established, OGPe is empowered to apply the procedures established in the regulations that were adopted in accordance with Act No. 76-2000, as amended, and the timeframes established in this Act shall be applied thereto. The government agencies are also empowered herein to issue administrative orders as necessary to enforce and achieve the purposes of this Act.

(i) Priority.- The projects that are to be executed under the provisions of this Act shall have priority in the agendas of all the government agencies. However, the projects that qualify as emergencies under Act No. 76-2000, as amended, shall have priority over Priority Projects within Opportunity Zones if submitted simultaneously.

(j) Request for Review and Orders for Stay.- The only remedy available to the party adversely affected by any resolution or order issued by OGPe or any other agency with jurisdiction shall be to file a request for review before the Court of Appeals. Any request for judicial review by the concerned administrative agency shall be filed before said court, within a jurisdictional term of twenty (20) calendar days from the date on which a copy of the notice of the resolution or final order of the agency is entered in the record. The appellant shall serve notice of the filing of the request for review to the appellee agency, and to all interested parties, within the established term; provided, that compliance with said notice shall be jurisdictional in nature.

(1) If the Court of Appeals so requests, the administrative agency in question shall refer the case file to the Court of Appeals within ten (10) calendar days following the Court order. The Court of Appeals shall consider the review as provided in Sections 13.1(b) and 13.1(c) of Act No. 161-2009, as amended.

(2) The issuance of a writ of review shall not stay the authorization or the performance of a work, nor the implementation of a rule, regulation, order, resolution, determination, processing, granting, or effectiveness of any permit, license, endorsement, or certification of an agency or official; the adjudication of an auction; or the award of a contract executed or entered into in connection with projects to be carried out, unless expressly ordered by the court to prevent an irreparable damage, upon considering a motion in aid of jurisdiction to such effects. In order for the court to issue such order, the petitioner must prove that it is indispensable for the protection of the court's jurisdiction; that it has a strong probability of prevailing on the merits; that the order for a stay shall not cause substantial damage to the other parties; that it shall not impair the public interest; that there is no reasonable alternative to avoid the alleged damages; and that the damages cannot be compensated by granting a monetary remedy or any other adequate legal remedy, all of which shall be in accordance with the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure of 1933.

(3) Any court order shall only affect the component or components of the project that are subject to controversy in the case, and where a substantial damage is entailed.

Section 6070.71.- Severability.

If any clause, paragraph, subparagraph, sentence, word, letter, article, provision, section, subsection, title, chapter, subchapter, heading, or part of this Act were held to be null or unconstitutional, the ruling, holding, or judgment to such effect shall not affect, impair, or invalidate the remainder of this Act. The effect of said holding shall be limited to the clause, paragraph, subparagraph, sentence, word, letter, article, provision, section, subsection, title, chapter, subchapter, heading, or part of this Act thus held to be null or unconstitutional. If the application to a person or a circumstance of any clause, paragraph, subparagraph, sentence, word, letter, article, provision, section, subsection, title, chapter, subchapter, heading, or part of this Act were held to be null or unconstitutional, the ruling, holding, or judgment to such effect shall not affect or invalidate the application of the remainder of this Act to such persons or circumstances where it may be validly applied. It is the express and unequivocal will of this Legislative Assembly that the courts enforce the provisions and application thereof to the greatest extent possible, even if it renders ineffective, nullifies, invalidates, impairs, or holds to be unconstitutional any part thereof, or even if it renders ineffective, invalidates, or holds to be unconstitutional the application thereof to any person or circumstance. This Legislative Assembly would have approved this Act regardless of any determination of severability that the Court may make.
