

Steven M. Greenspan

Steven M. Greenspan was the Corporate Vice President and Chief Litigation Counsel for Raytheon Technologies Corporation (formerly United Technologies Corporation) from January 2011 through his retirement in December 2023. In his role, he actively managed worldwide litigation for the company and each of its many operating business units. He also oversaw the legal teams that support the company's environmental health and safety, real estate and risk management functions. In 2024, he continued to consult, on a part-time basis, on a handful of legal matters for RTX.

Greenspan was a trial lawyer in private practice from 1986 – 2010 with the law firm of Day Pitney, LLP (formerly Day Berry & Howard) and was elected a Partner of the firm in 1993. While in private practice, he tried dozens of cases to jury verdicts and court judgments in numerous federal and state courts across the country.

Greenspan graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1982 and from the University of Connecticut School of Law (with High Honors) in 1985. While in law school, he was Managing Editor of the Connecticut Law Review. After law school, he served as a judicial law clerk for Associate Justice David M. Shea of the Connecticut Supreme Court.

Mr. Greenspan currently serves in leadership roles on the boards of directors of three non-profits: the Mandell Jewish Community Center, the Horace Bushnell Center for the Performing Arts, and the University of Connecticut Foundation. In addition, in 2022, he was appointed by the Governor of the State of Connecticut to serve a three-year term on the Judicial Selection Commission.
