Magic in 1979. Mathis has also recorded six albums of Christmas music. In a 1968 interview, Mathis cited Lena Horne, Nat King Cole, and Bing Crosby among his musical influences.

Mathis was born in Gilmer, Texas, on September 30, 1935, the fourth of seven children of Clem Mathis and Mildred Boyd, both domestic cooks. The family moved to San Francisco, California, settling on 32nd Avenue in the Richmond District, where Mathis grew up. His father, a singer and pianist, had worked in vaudeville, and when he saw his son's talent, he bought an old upright piano for $25 (US$368 in 2020 dollars) and encouraged him. Mathis began learning songs and routines from his father; his parents also ran his fan club. His first song was "My Blue Heaven". Mathis started singing and dancing for visitors at home, at school, and at church functions. Mathis is of African-American and Native American heritage.

When Mathis was 13, voice teacher Connie Cox accepted him as her student in exchange for work around her house. Mathis studied with Cox for six years, learning vocal scales and exercises, voice production, classical and operatic singing. The first band he sang with was formed by his high school friend Merl Saunders. Mathis eulogized Saunders at his funeral in 2008, thanking him for giving Mathis his first chance as a singer.

Mathis was a star athlete at George Washington High School in San Francisco. He was a high jumper and hurdler, and he played on the basketball team. In 1954, he enrolled at San Francisco State College on an athletic scholarship, intending to become an English teacher and a physical education teacher. While there, Mathis set a high-jump record of 6'-5 1/2" [1.97 m]. This is still one of the college's top jump heights and was only 7 cm [three inches] short of the 1952 Olympic record of 2.04 m at the time. Just as when he was in high school, Mathis's name was frequently mentioned in the sports sections of the Northern California newspapers. He and future NBA star Bill Russell were featured in a 1954 sports section article of the San Francisco Chronicle demonstrating their high-

Black Hawk Club in San Francisco, Mathis attracted the attention of the club's co-founder, Helen Noga. She became his music manager, and in September 1955, after Noga had found Mathis a job singing weekends at Ann Dee's 440 Club, she learned that George Avakian, head of Popular Music A&R at Columbia Records, was on vacation near San Francisco. After repeated calls, Noga finally persuaded Avakian to come hear Mathis at the 440 Club. After hearing Mathis sing, Avakian sent his record company a telegram stating: "Have found phenomenal 19-year-old boy who could go all the way. Send blank contracts."

At San Francisco State, Mathis had become noteworthy as a high jumper, and in 1956 he was asked to try out for the U.S. Olympic Team that would travel to Melbourne, Australia, that November. Mathis had to decide whether to go to the Olympic trials or to keep his appointment in New York City to make his first recordings. On his father's advice, Mathis opted to embark on a professional singing career. His LP record album was released in late 1956 instead of waiting until the first quarter of 1957.

Mathis's first record album, Johnny Mathis: A New Sound In Popular Song, was a slow-selling jazz album, but Mathis stayed in New York City to sing in nightclubs. His second album was produced by Columbia Records vice-president and record producer Mitch Miller, who helped to define the Mathis sound. Miller preferred that Mathis sing soft, romantic ballads, pairing him with conductor and music arranger Ray Conniff, and later, Ray Ellis, Glenn Osser, and Robert Mersey. In late 1956, Mathis recorded two of his most popular songs: "Wonderful! Wonderful!" and "It's Not for Me to Say". Also that year, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer signed him up to sing the latter song in the movie Lizzie (1957).

Show biz millionaire

Mathis' appearance on the popular TV program The Ed Sullivan Show in June 1957 helped increase his popularity. Later in 1957, he released "Chances Are", which became his second single to sell a million. In November 1957, Mathis released "Wild Is the Wind", which featured in the film of the same name and was nominated for the Academy Award for Best Original Song. He performed the song at the ceremony in March 1958.

The week before his appearance at the Academy Awards, Johnny's Greatest Hits was released. The album spent an unprecedented 490 consecutive weeks through 1967 (nearly nine and one-half years) on the Billboard top 200 album charts, including three weeks at number one. It held the record for the most weeks on the top Billboard 200 albums in the US for 15 years, until Pink Floyd's The Dark Side of the Moon (March 1973) reached 491 weeks in October 1983.

Later in 1958, Mathis made his second film appearance for 20th Century Fox, singing the song "A Certain Smile" in the film of that title. The song was also nominated for the Academy Award for Best Original Song.

By the end of the year, he was set to earn $1 million a year. Critics called him "the velvet voice".

During the summer of 1958, Mathis left San Francisco with the Nogas, who sold their interest in the Black Hawk club that year, and moved to Beverly Hills, California, where the Nogas bought a house. Mathis lived with the family.

Mathis appeared on ABC's The Pat Boone Chevy Showroom on January 1, 1959.

Mathis had two of his biggest hits in 1962 and 1963, with "Gina" (number 6) and "What Will Mary Say" (number 9).

In 1962, Ebony magazine listed Mathis as one of 30-35 millionaires on their list of "America's 100 Richest Negroes".

In October 1964, Mathis sued Noga to void their management arrangement, which Noga fought with a counterclaim in December 1964. Mathis purchased a mansion in Hollywood Hills that was originally built by the billionaire Howard Hughes in 1946, where he still maintains a residence.

After splitting from Noga, Mathis established Jon Mat Records, incorporated in California on May 11, 1967, to produce his recordings (previously, he founded Global Records to produce his Mercury albums), and Rojon Productions, incorporated in California on September 30, 1964, to handle all of his concert, theater, showroom, and television appearances, and all promotional and charitable activities. His new manager and business partner was Ray Haughn, who, until his death in September 1984, helped guide Mathis's career. Since that time, Mathis has taken sole responsibility for it.

While Mathis continued to make music, the ascent of the Beatles and early 1970s album rock kept his adult contemporary recordings out of the pop singles charts, until he experienced a career renaissance in the late 1970s.

Johnny Mathis had a 1976 Christmas number one single in the UK with the song "When a Child Is Born".

In 1978, Mathis recorded "Too Much, Too Little, Too Late" with singer Deniece Williams. The lyrics and music were arranged by Nat Kipner and John McIntyre Vallins. Released as a single in 1978, it reached number one on the U.S. Billboard Hot 100 pop chart, number nine on the Canadian Singles Chart and number three on the UK Singles Chart. It also topped the US R&B and adult contemporary charts. "Too Much, Too Little, Too Late" was certified gold and silver in the US and in the UK by the RIAA and the British Phonographic Industry respectively. It was his first number one hit since his 1957 chart-topping "Chances Are".

The duo released a follow-up duet, their version of "You're All I Need to Get By," peaking at number 47 on the Billboard Hot 100. In 1982, they were credited for performing "Without Us" which became the theme song for the American sitcom television series, Family Ties, from its second season onwards. The success of the duets with Williams prompted Mathis to record duets with a variety of partners, including Dionne Warwick, Natalie Cole, Gladys Knight, Jane Olivor, Stephanie Lawrence, and Nana Mouskouri. A compilation album also called Too Much, Too Little, Too Late, released by Sony Music in 1995 featured the title track among other songs by Mathis and Williams.

During 1980–1981, Mathis recorded an album with Chic's Bernard Edwards and Nile Rodgers, I Love My Lady, which remained unreleased in its entirety until its 2017 appearance in the 68 disc collection The Voice of Romance: The Columbia Original Album Collection. Three tracks had appeared on a Chic box set in 2010 and a fourth, the title track, on Mathis' Ultimate Collection in 2011 and the Chic Organization's Up All Night in 2013.

Mathis returned to the British Top 30 album chart in 2007 with the Sony BMG release The Very Best of Johnny Mathis in 2008 with the CD "A Night to Remember" and again in 2011 with "The Ultimate Collection"

Mathis continues to perform live, but from 2000 forward, he limited his concert performances to about fifty to sixty per year. He is one of the last pop singers who travels with his own full orchestra (as opposed to a band).

Mathis, Bob Dylan, Barbra Streisand, Tony Bennett, Billy Joel, and Bruce Springsteen carry the distinction of having the longest tenure of any recording artists on the Columbia label. With the exception of a four-year break to record for Mercury Records in the mid-1960s, he has been with Columbia Records throughout his career, from 1956 to 1963 and from 1968 to the present. (Dylan spent a couple of years at Asylum Records then re-signed with Columbia; Bennett recorded for Verve and his own Improv label from 1972 to 1986 when he returned to Columbia; Joel has been with the label since his 1973 album "Piano Man;" Streisand and Springsteen have never left.)

He has had five of his albums on the Billboard charts simultaneously, an achievement equaled by only two other singers: Frank Sinatra and Barry Manilow. He has released 200 singles and had 71 songs charted around the world.

Pieces of music from numerous Mathis albums continue to be used in motion pictures and television. For example, "Chances Are" was played during an extraterrestrial visit in the film Close Encounters of the Third Kind (1977). "Wonderful! Wonderful!" was used in The X-Files episode "Home", albeit performed by a sound-alike singer. Mathis's "Wonderful! Wonderful!" was also used in the conclusion to the long-running TV series Desperate Housewives as "Karen McClusky" died. Various Mathis songs have been played more recently in the TV series Mad Men, which also features a recurring minor character named "John Mathis," and in the TV series Call the Midwife.

He has taped twelve of his own television specials and made over 300 television guest appearances, with 33 of them being on The Tonight Show. Longtime Tonight Show host Johnny Carson said, "Johnny Mathis is the best ballad singer in the world." He appeared on the show with Carson's successor, Jay Leno, on March 29, 2007, to sing "The Shadow of Your Smile" with the saxophonist Dave Koz. Through the years, his songs (or parts of them) have been heard in 100 plus television shows and films around the globe. His appearance on the Live by Request broadcast in May 1998 on the A&E Network had the largest television viewing audience of the series. Also in 1989, Johnny sang the theme for the ABC daytime soap opera Loving.

On January 14, 2016, Mathis performed to a sold-out audience in The Villages as part of his "60th Anniversary Concert Tour."

Mathis appeared in the Season 14 finale of Criminal Minds, "Truth or Dare", in which he played himself as an old friend of David Rossi and served as best man at Rossi's wedding.

Despite missing the Olympic high-jump trials, he retains enthusiasm for sports. He is an avid golfer, with nine holes in one to his credit. He has hosted several Johnny Mathis Golf Tournaments in the United Kingdom and the US. Since 1985, he has been hosting a charity golf tournament in Belfast sponsored by Shell corporation, and the annual Johnny Mathis Invitational Track & Field Meet has continued at San Francisco State University since it started in 1982. He also enjoys cooking and in 1982, he published a cookbook called Cooking for You Alone.

Mathis has undergone rehabilitation for both alcohol and prescription drug addictions, and he has supported many organizations through the years, including the American Cancer Society, the March of Dimes, the YWCA and YMCA, the Muscular Dystrophy Association and the NAACP.

He is a convert to Catholicism.

Mathis was quoted in a 1982 Us Magazine article, stating: "Homosexuality is a way of life that I've grown accustomed to." Mathis later said that that comment was supposed to have been off the record and did not publicly discuss his sexual orientation for many years after that. In 2006, Mathis said that his silence had been because of death threats he received as a result of that 1982 article. On April 13, 2006, Mathis granted a podcast interview with The Strip in which he talked about the subject once again, and how some of his reluctance to speak on the subject was partially generational. During an interview with CBS News Sunday Morning on May 14, 2017, Mathis discussed the Us Magazine article and confirmed he is gay. "I come from San Francisco. It's not unusual to be gay in San Francisco. I've had some girlfriends, some boyfriends, just like most people. But I never got married, for instance. I knew that I was gay." Mathis spoke to many news sources, including CBS, about his sexuality and his story about coming out.

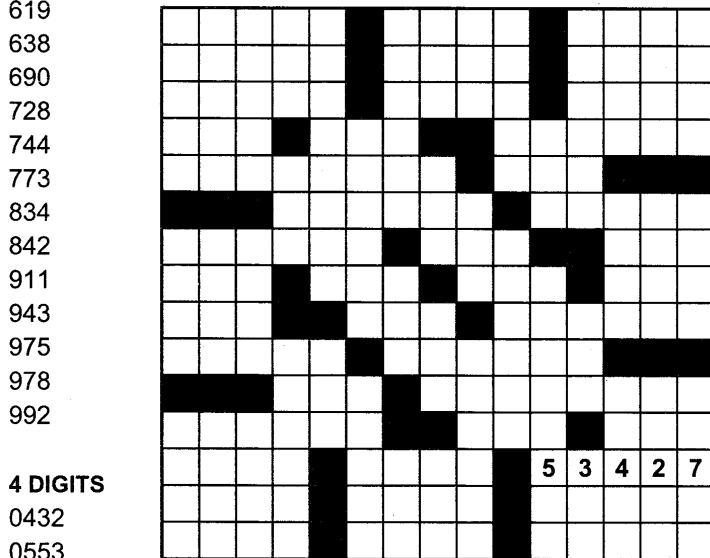

In November 2015, Mathis lost his Hollywood house—the only home he had ever owned—to a fire. Mathis returned home from a concert in Ohio to find the house destroyed. He had owned it for 56 years.

Honors and awards—In 2003, the Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences awarded Mathis the Lifetime Achievement Award. This Special Merit Award is presented by vote of the Recording Academy's National Trustees to performers who, during their lifetimes, have made creative contributions of outstanding artist significance to the field of recording.

WHAT'S COOKIN'?

CROCK POT HAM AND POTATO CORN CHOWDER

With Crock Pot Ham and Potato Corn Chowder, you can throw it all in the slow cooker then set it and forget it! Top with bacon and cheese!

Prep Time 25 mins

Cook Time 8 hrs

Ingredients

1.5 pound bag little potatoes

1 small onion, diced

2 carrots, peeled and diced

2 stalks celery, diced

2 cloves garlic, minced

1 teaspoon dried thyme

8 ounces ham diced

1 (15.25 ounces) can corn (undrained)

1 (32 ounces) container chicken broth

2 cups milk

1-2 cups instant mashed potato flakes

salt and pepper, to taste

Instructions

- 1. Dice potatoes, onion, carrots and celery.
- 2. Place diced veggies into crock pot (slow cooker) along with minced garlic, diced ham, dried thyme, can of corn and chicken broth.
- 3. Cover and cook on low for 8-10 hours.
- 4. Then pour in two cups of milk.
- 5. Depending on how thick you like your chowder, add 1-2 cups of instant mashed potato flakes. Start with one cup, stir, cover with a lid and let sit for 5 minutes. If it's not thick enough for you, slowly add in a little more. No more than two cups because it will thicken the longer it cooks.
- 6. Allow the chowder to cook for an additional 20 minutes on low. Give it a taste and season with salt and pepper, to taste.

Hash Browns

1. Heat a large skillet with oil until hot but not smoking. Add half of the hash browns.
2. Salt and pepper and let cook until the bottom is golden brown about 5 minutes without stirring. Turn the hashbrowns over and cook until the other side is golden brown; approximately 3 minutes.
3. Remove from the skillet and cook the other half the same way. Set aside. Use the hash browns in the enchiladas. Use the hash browns in the enchiladas.

Sausage Gravy

1. While the hash browns are cooking, cook the sausage and onions in the skillet used to cook the eggs on medium high heat.
2. Brown the sausage breaking it up until crumbly. Remove half the sausage from the skillet onto a paper towel lined platter. Use this reserved sausage in the enchiladas.
3. Preheat the oven 350 degrees F. Add avocado oil to the remaining sausage. Heat on medium high heat until hot but not smoking.

4. Add the four. Stir the flour in the sausage and oil until lightly brown.
5. Add the milk, 2 cups first and a cup at a time as needed, continually stirring, scraping the bottom of the skillet releasing all the sausage crumbs. Cook stirring until slightly thickens. Cook until it is a creamy sauce and turn the burner off.
6. The gravy needs to be more like a creamy sauce, not runny or thick. It will thicken as it cooks in the oven. If the gravy gets too thick, add a little milk to keep it creamy.

Enchiladas

1. Lay tortilla on a plate and layer portions eggs, hash browns, sausage And onions, and grated cheese. Roll the tortilla up tightly, placing the seam side down in a 9-inch x 13-inch baking dish. Repeat using all the flour tortillas If there is any hash browns, crumbly sausage leftover, sprinkle across the top of the enchiladas.
2. Pour the creamy sausage gravy over the enchiladas covering each one. Sprinkle remaining shredded cheese evening over the creamy sausage gravy.

3. Bake for 30-40 minutes.

NOTES:

The enchiladas can be made ahead the night before and refrigerate until cooked the next morning. I cook the sausage and make the enchiladas with half and refrigerate the other half for the creamy gravy the next morning.

TRIVIA ANSWERS

1. Answer: Soccer, a sport with a history of violence on and off the field, was nominated for the 2001 Nobel Peace Prize for promoting understanding among nations. Despite the fact that more than a dozen fans died during stampedes and riots at games the previous year, Swedish lawmaker Lars Gustafsson argued that the game is beneficial to international relations. "Soccer has and will continue to play an important role in the global arena, when it comes to creating understanding between people," Gustafsson wrote in his nomination letter to the Norwegian Nobel Committee in Oslo. Ultimately, the 2001 Nobel Peace Prize was awarded to Kofi Annan and the United Nations.
2. Answer: Run-DMC is widely regarded as one of the most influential acts in the history of hip-hop culture. The hip-hop pioneers embraced the look and style of the streets by wearing their Adidas sneakers with no laces, a nod to the fact that shoe-laces were not allowed in jail. They were also known for their trench coats and big jewelry, which became popular with rappers and set the stage for hip-hop style. Their single "My Adidas" led to an endorsement deal with the athletic apparel brand, and proved that rap was not just a form of music, but a lifestyle.
3. Answer: A Social Security Number (SSN) consists of nine digits, commonly written as three fields separated by hyphens. The first three-digit field is called the "area number". The central, two-digit field is called the "group number," and the final, four-digit field is called the "serial number". Currently, the Social Security Administration does not issue Social Security numbers that begin with the number "9". They also do not issue SSNs beginning with the number "666" in positions 1 – 3; SSNs beginning with the number "000" in

4. Answer: The Seven Dwarfs first appeared in the 1812 fairy tale "Snow White." They were first given individual names in the 1912 Broadway play Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs and then given different names in Walt Disney's 1937 film Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs. Every morning, the dwarfs leave their tiny cottage and march to the mine singing "Heigh-Ho" where they dig for diamonds. Each dwarf has a specific job: Grumpy, Happy, Bashful, and Sneezy dig to unearth diamonds; Sleepy collects the diamonds in a mine cart and transports them to Doc, who determines which diamonds should be kept; rejected diamonds are swept up and thrown away by Dopey.
5. Answer: If you remember Darth Vader's famous line "Luke, I am your father," you're not alone — but you're not right, either. His actual words are "No, I am your father." The Mandela effect is a phenomenon where a large group of people remember something differently than how it actually occurred. This phenomenon was named after the false memory that Nelson Mandela died in prison in the late 1980s. Another example includes a misquote of a famous line in the film Casablanca. Although people clearly remember Humphrey Bogart's character Rick saying, "Play it again, Sam," it is Ingrid Bergman's character Ilsa who actually says, "Play it, Sam."
6. Answer: This quote appears in the 1838 novel Oliver Twist, written by Charles Dickens. Oliver Twist was the first child protagonist in an English novel. The novel follows the journey of Oliver Twist, an orphan since birth who spends much of his childhood in an orphanage with too many children and not enough food. One night, after being served his portion of gruel, Oliver requests a second helping and famously exclaims, "Please Sir. I want some more." Oliver is branded a troublemaker and offered as an apprentice to anyone willing to take him.
7. Answer: In 1999, Eric Clapton auctioned 100 of his favorite guitars in the name of drug rehabilitation, raising more than $5 million for charity. A 1956 sunburst Fender Stratocaster brought $497,500, far surpassing the $320,000 auction record for a guitar that belonged to Jimi Hendrix. "Brownie," as Clapton called it, was said to be one of his favorite guitars and was used to record his renowned love song "Layla." Clapton wrote in the Christie's catalog that his guitars represent his life's journey through music. "They all have a place in my heart and my life," he wrote. "It is no easy thing to say goodbye to them."

8. Answer: Two months after Charlie Chaplin died in 1977, his coffin and body were stolen in an attempted extortion plot. Chaplin's widow, Oona, refused to pay the $600,000 ransom demand, saying that her husband would have thought the demand to be "ridiculous." After a five-week investigation, police arrested two auto mechanics who led them to Chaplin's body, which they had buried in a cornfield about one mile from the Chaplin family's home. The men were convicted of grave robbing and attempted extortion. As for Chaplin, his family reburied his body in a concrete grave to prevent future theft attempts.
9. Answer: Yogi Bear was one of the rare Hanna-Barbera characters to have a collar and wear a necktie. The collar allowed animators to keep his body relatively static, redrawing only his head in each frame as he spoke. This strategy helped Hanna-Barbera to cut costs, which reduced the number of drawings needed for a seven-minute cartoon from roughly 14,000 to around 2,000. The plot of most of Yogi's cartoons centered on his antics in the fictional Jellystone Park, a variant of the real Yellowstone National Park. Yogi, accompanied by his companion Boo-Boo, would often try to steal picnic baskets from park campers, much to the displeasure of Park Ranger Smith.
10. Answer: Doc Severinson is best known for leading the NBC Orchestra on The Tonight Show Starring Johnny Carson. He took over as musical director of the show in 1967, and remained in charge of the band for 25 years until Carson's retirement in 1992. Known for his exceptionally loud wardrobe, Severinsen bantered with host Johnny Carson, while supplying the show's incidental music when introducing guests and bridging commercial breaks. Severinsen substituted for Ed McMahon on occasions when Ed was absent as Carson's announcer and sidekick.

AZGFD to discontinue selling Community Fishing licenses beginning Jan. 1 Arizona General Fishing licenses are only $37 for residents and $55 for nonresidents

PHOENIX -- The Arizona Game and Fish Department (AZGFD) has announced it will no longer offer Community Fishing licenses for sale beginning Jan. 1, 2022.

Over roughly the last eight years, the hugely popular Community Fishing Program (CFP) has expanded from 21 waters to 49 waters, which are located in 23 communities throughout the state. All CFP waters are stocked by

AZGFD with trout, catfish, or a few other species, depending on time of year.

Anglers who want to fish CFP waters in 2022 will either need to have an Arizona General Fishing license or Combination Hunt/Fish license, or purchase one once their Community Fishing license expires in 2022.

“General Fishing and Combination Hunt/Fish licenses offer greater value than the Community Fishing license alone,” said Aquatic Wildlife Branch Chief Julie Carter. “Anglers not only get the increased opportunities of the expanded CFP, but also the opportunity to fish nearly 80 other public waters in Arizona that are regularly stocked by AZGFD as well as the other streams and lakes throughout the state with self-sustaining sport fish populations.”

Community Fishing licenses can still be purchased through Dec. 31, 2021 and are valid for one year from date of purchase at designated CFP waters.

Anglers who had typically purchased Community Fishing licenses have been moving over to General or Combo licenses in recent years. Since 2014, Community Fishing license sales have declined by over 80%.

Residents pay only $37 for a General Fishing license ($55 for nonresidents) as opposed to $24 for the Community Fishing license, and have fishing privileges at all public waters in Arizona, including CFP waters. Combination Hunt/Fish licenses are $57 for residents and $160 for nonresidents.

Fishing is a great way to spend time outdoors with family and friends and can also help reduce a family's food costs, especially now that the prices for food and other goods have increased. A $37 fishing license that is valid for 365 days costs roughly the same as 5 pounds of store-bought catfish fillets ($7.49/lb), or 3.5 pounds of trout fillets ($10.99/lb). It could easily pay for itself with a single day of fishing.

For more information about the Community Fishing Program, visit <https://www.azgfd.com/fishing/community/>.

One month left to win a big game
guided hunt package!

You have fewer than 30 days left to enter for the chance to win a bear, mountain lion and javelina guided hunt package!

The Arizona Big Game Super Raffle is raffling off a package of three hunt permit-tags — one each for bear, mountain lion and javelina — that will be awarded to one lucky hunter. The package also includes seven days of guided services with Dieringer Outfitters and meals and lodging. The winner will choose the dates with the outfitter.

The details:

- ♦ Raffle tickets are $25 each and can be ordered online.
- ♦ The deadline to purchase raffle tickets is 10 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 30.
- ♦ The drawing will be conducted Tuesday, Dec. 7.
- ♦ The winner can hunt all three species for 365 days (Aug. 15, 2022—Aug. 14, 2023).
- ♦ Raffle tickets must be purchased in the state of Arizona, but you do not need to be an Arizona resident to win.

Every dollar raised through the raffle is returned to the Arizona Game and Fish Department and managed by the Arizona Habitat Partnership Committee. With input from local habitat partners across the state and sponsoring organizations involved in the fundraising, project priorities are determined that will provide the most benefit to each species.

In the 16-year history of the Arizona Big Game Super Raffle, more than $9.2 million have been raised for wildlife and wildlife management in Arizona.

available Hunters can check their AZGFD portal account

PHOENIX — The Arizona Game and Fish Department (AZGFD) has released the draw results for 2022 spring hunts for turkey, javelina, bison and bear, and raptor capture.

AZGFD portal accounts now are the sole source for finding out draw results and viewing bonus points. Customers can create a free portal account (family account features are now available) at accounts.azgfd.com/Account/Register. Draw results no longer will be provided through the automated phone system.

A portal account allows customers to create a secure account where they can view and manage their contact information, as well as their licenses, draw results history

You may think that you are completely insignificant in this world. But someone drinks coffee from the favorite cup that you gave them. Someone heard a song on the radio that reminded them of you. Someone read the book that you recommended, and plunged headfirst into it. Someone smiled after a hard day's work, because they remembered the joke that you told them today. Someone loves themselves a little bit more, because you gave them a compliment. Never think that you have no influence whatsoever. Your trace, which you leave behind with every good deed, cannot be erased.
