GILA COUNTY MONTHLY MEETING IN TONTO BASIN-

Tuesday November 1, 2022, 5:00 PM

Supervisor Humphrey covered his recent activities which were that he attended 4 agenda meetings, held a Gisela Community Meeting, attended a Stagecoach Road Improvement Project /Roosevelt Resort Utility Conflicts meeting, will hold a Roosevelt Community Meeting on November 14th at 1 PM, and will be on KQSS on November 14th at 5:30 PM. Supervisor gave the following update from ADOT. George Collaco was unable to attend this evening but asked that we provide the following update.

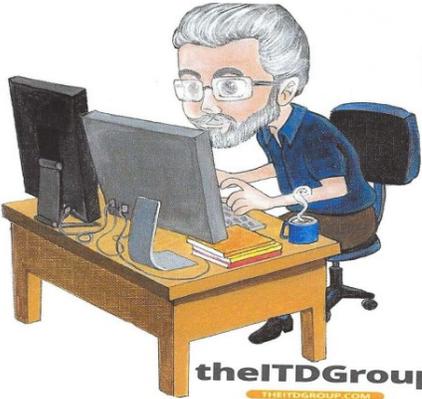

1. ADOT is working on the sign issue brought up at the last meeting. The sign in question was for the old Fire Department/Medical Assistance and is currently pointing folks to the wrong place.
2. ADOT crews are cleaning some of the drainages in the Tonto Basin area.

Supervisor gave the following update regarding the bridge. On October 4th, the Board of Supervisors approved the U.S. Department of Transportation First Amended and Restated Grant Agreement (BUILD GRANT) to receive an additional $250,000 in grant funding. This funding will help with the increased cost of materials and with the cost of the biologist who must be present daily during the bridge construction.

Supervisor let residents know that the Board is working on a wildlife feeding ordinance. On the October 24th Board Work Session, one of the items discussed was a proposed ordinance regarding feeding wildlife. There has been an increase in wildlife related injuries in Gila County due to residents providing food for wild animals. Both elk and javalina have been involved in these incidents. We currently have an ordinance preventing feeding bears but are looking at expanding that to include other wildlife. Supervisor discussed the recent injuries people have sustained from elk. Elk are not predators and they have become used to being hand fed in the Pine and Strawberry areas. Due to the elk living in residential areas and having their babies there, predators will increase, and it is only a matter of time before the predator's attack family pets. A residents asked if the county currently had any ordinances against feeding wildlife.

Supervisor responded that we have an ordinance against feeding bears, but not other wildlife.

Supervisor said that we will not regulate the feeding of birds or squirrels, but that elk and javalina will be addressed. Supervisor further stated that the county is rewriting ordinances so that they are not open to interpretation. The goal is to write the ordinances in such a way that they are black and white, anyone reading them will take away the same thing. Jeremy Plain, USFS Tonto Ranger, was unable to attend. He is in West Virginia on a fire.

Supervisor let residents know that The Tonto National Forest will begin selling Christmas tree permits online at Recreation.gov on November 1, 2022.

Randy Plumier, Director of Gila County Community Development, is seeking public input for the rewriting of County Zoning Ordinances. Randy will begin holding public meetings in January, until then he asks that you email any comments to: communitydevelopment@gilacountyaz.gov

A resident said that Dryer Drive and Tonto Drive drainages need to be cleaned out. Supervisor said to let Mark Cline know so that he could get them on his list.

A resident stated that the runoff and sediment in the creeks isn't all from the fires. He said that land is being stripped and can no longer hold water. He further stated that this is causing Tonto Creek to widen. He said that within a year it will be in his yard. He said that the county needs to be vigilant in seeing that any new construction doesn't further impact the creek.

A resident asked if the county could do anything about the mud and water draining into the IGA parking lot. Supervisor said that he would get with Randy and discuss it.

A resident said that her home is located 350' from the Roosevelt Cottages development.

She was unhappy that she had not received a letter for the public hearing prior to the permit being issued for the development. Supervisor let her know that the current rule is anyone living within 300' is advised of the public hearings. She asked that we provide the residents with an environmental impact report for the project. She asked how the development will impact the creek and the water availability in the area. Supervisor let her know that the county requirement for a development is an agreement with a water company and a "will serve" letter. Other than that, the county has no jurisdiction on water. He also let her know that we had a water expert attend one of our meetings to discuss what alternatives might be available to residents. A resident said that the State Supreme Court ruled that the "longest straw" gets the water. He was concerned because the new development will be using the well in his area. He said that his well is currently 26' deep. He said that his neighbors have had to drill deeper due to water usage and that he doesn't want to have to spend the thousands of dollars it will cost to drill his well deeper. He would like to see the county regulate water use or force water utilities to help residents hook up to their service should their own wells fail.

A resident said that some developers have found a loophole by building communities of rental homes and thereby only needing one water permit.

A resident asked if the current rules regarding RV's will be enforced on the bridge workers. Supervisor said that the rules will be enforced, but to remember that the county is complaint driven on code enforcement.

A resident asked if we could provide the number of mobile home parks approved in the area in the past 12 months.

Supervisor responded that prior to getting a "T" overlay, property owners have to go to the Planning and Zoning Commission Board. Supervisor told residents that the P&Z board is all volunteers who want to help the county and the local communities. He said that the Board of Supervisors appoint members to the P&Z board, and we are always looking for new members. He said that we will have Mickie Nye, P&Z Board President at our next meeting.

A resident asked if it was possible for the locals to get a petition going to limit water use. Supervisor said that he would speak to the County Attorney and find out.

A resident suggested that the community consider incorporation. Another resident stated that she lives next to the Roosevelt Cottages development and that she has a video of the flooding.

A resident asked how the public could find out about any upcoming building projects or permits that have been issued. We explained that Community Development posts all building permits issued monthly on the County website.

A resident asked if Supervisor was aware that the school was within 15 students of being maxed out. Supervisor said that he didn't know that, but he would speak to Roy Sandoval about it.

Dustin Sene, Tonto National Monument Director gave an update on upcoming events at the Monument. He said that they are still planning to do the luminaries and that a night hike is scheduled for November 12th at 7:30 PM. Reservations are required for the hike, and you can call 928-467-2241 to make a reservation.

This prompted a resident to ask if the county considers the night sky when issuing permits. Supervisor said that the county has a lighting ordinance so as not to cause light pollution. Sgt. Don Engler, Gila County Sheriff's Department gave residents the following update. In the past 30 days there have been 120 calls for service in Tonto Basin and 80 in Roosevelt. His department has conducted 3 rescues, 4 contacts, 4 hours on the water, and 20 hours on water related items. Sgt. Engler said that in January the SO will be changing to new uniforms. They will be wearing green instead of brown so folks should expect the change. He also said that the grant his office received for the inflatable boat of $26,000 has been received and he will be picking up the boat soon. He also said he is writing a grant for the purchase of a Ranger patrol boat. He said that Bermuda Flats will be closing on November 15th. He also said that at the present time 4 SO deputies live in Tonto Basin.

Mark Cline, Gila County Roads, said that the road department is having a lot of problems with residents throwing brush and green waste into drainages in the subdivisions. He said that this creates a huge problem because it blocks the drainage and causes flooding. He also said that his crew has been working on Rye Road.

Meeting adjourned.

William Louis Petersen (born February 21, 1953) is an American actor and producer. He is best known for his role as Gil Grissom in the CBS drama series CSI: Crime Scene Investigation (2000–2015), for which he won a Screen Actors Guild Award and was nominated for a Golden Globe Award; he was further nominated for three Prime-time Emmy Awards as a producer of the show. He reprised his role as Gil Grissom in the sequel CSI: Vegas, which premiered on October 6, 2021.

He also starred in the films To Live and Die in L.A. (1985), Manhunter (1986), Young Guns II (1990), Fear (1996), The Contender (2000), Detachment (2011), and Seeking a Friend for the End of the World (2012).

Petersen was born in Evanston, Illinois, the youngest of six children of June (née Hoene; 1909–2006) and Arthur Edward Petersen (1907 – 2004), who worked in the furniture business. Of Danish and German descent, he was raised in the Roman Catholic faith of his mother. He has two brothers, Arthur Jr. and Robert, and three sisters, Anne, Mary Kay, and Elizabeth.

He graduated from Bishop Kelly High School in Boise, Idaho, in 1972. He was accepted to Idaho State University on a football scholarship. While at Idaho State, Petersen took an acting course, which changed the direction of his life. He left school along with his wife, Joanne, in 1974, and followed a drama professor to the Basque country, where he studied as a Shakespearean actor. Petersen was interested in Basque culture: He studied the Basque language and gave his daughter the Basque name "Maite Nerea" ("My Beloved"); she was born in Arrasate/Mondragón in 1975. Petersen returned to Idaho with the intention of being an actor. Not wanting to work a non-acting job in Idaho, he returned to the Chicago area, living with relatives. He became active in the theater and earned his Actors' Equity card. He performed with the Steppenwolf Theatre Company, of which he has been an ensemble member since 2008, and was a co-founder of the Remains Theater Ensemble, which also included other prominent Chicago actors Gary Cole and Ted Levine.

In 1985, Petersen received his first break when he played a Secret Service agent gone rogue to avenge his mentor in William Friedkin's 1985 action film To Live and Die in L.A. In 1986, he played FBI agent Will Graham in the first Hannibal Lecter film, Manhunter. Because his role was so emotionally exhausting, he did everything he could to rid himself of Graham after finishing principal photography. He shaved off his beard, cut his hair, and bleached it blond. He also claims to have done this because, while rehearsing for a play in Chicago, his dialogue was always coming out like Graham's; he dyed his hair so he could look in the mirror and see a different person.

He declined a part in Oliver Stone's Platoon, as it would have kept him in the Philippines, away from his family. Instead, he worked on the 1987 HBO made-for-TV movie Long Gone as a minor league baseball player and manager named Cecil "Stud" Cantrell. Petersen was offered the role of Henry Hill in the film Goodfellas, but turned it down. An exposé about the film in the May 2015 issue of Playboy claims that Petersen turned down the audition altogether. In a 1990 ABC three-part miniseries, The Kennedys of Massachusetts, Petersen played U.S. President John F. Kennedy's father, Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy. The film won an Emmy and a Golden Globe from eight and two nominations, respectively. Also in 1990, Petersen portrayed the infamous Patrick Floyd "Pat" Garrett in Young Guns II.

In 1993, Petersen appeared in a CBS TV miniseries, Return to Lonesome Dove, as former Ranger Gideon Walker. He played Steven Walker, a father who stops at nothing to break up the relationship between his daughter and her vicious boyfriend in Fear (1996). Petersen played Governor Jack Hathaway, an unscrupulous candidate for vice president following the death of the incumbent, in The Contender in 2000.

He appeared uncredited in the noir thriller Mulholland Falls as a character who finds himself on the violent receiving end of a Los Angeles police squad's tactics. In 1999, he starred in Kiss the Sky as "Jeff."1] He appeared as part of an all-star cast in a remake of the 1997 film 12 Angry Men (as Juror #12, a.k.a. "the Snob").

From 2000 to 2009, he played Dr. Gil Grissom in the CBS crime drama CSI: Crime Scene Investigation. Petersen took a break from CSI in 2006 to appear in a five-week run of the Trinity Repertory Company production of Dublin Carol by Conor McPherson, in Providence, Rhode Island. Petersen renewed his contract with CBS to appear on CSI for the 2008-09 season, reportedly for $600,000 per episode. On July 15, 2008, the Associated Press reported that Petersen was leaving the show as a regular following Season 9's tenth episode in order to pursue more stage-acting opportunities, but that he might return for guest spots. He remained an executive producer of the show. He reprised his role of Gil Grissom in the eleventh-season episode "The Two Mrs. Grissoms" (aired February 3, 2011). He came back in 2015 as a guest in the series finale, "Immortality."

In February 2020, Petersen announced to return for a CSI sequel series along with Jorja Fox, before the series was picked up as CSI: Vegas.

Personal life-In 1975, Petersen and his wife Joanne Brady welcomed a daughter, Maite. In June 2003, Petersen married longtime girlfriend Gina Cirone. He has two grandsons, Mazrik William (born October 2003) and Indigo August (born August 2009). He is an avid Chicago Cubs fan. In 2004, he described to Play-boy a near-death experience he had in the 1980s which gave him "assurance" that there is an afterlife.

On July 5, 2011, Petersen and Cirone (via surrogate) welcomed fraternal twins (a son and a daughter).

HOLLYWOOD WALK OF FAME

Regis Francis Xavier Philbin; August 25, 1931 – July 25, 2020) was an American television presenter, talk show host, game show host, comedian, actor, and singer. Once called "the hardest working man in show business", he held the Guinness World Record for the most hours spent on U.S. television (surpassing previous record holder Hugh Downs).

After graduating from the University of Notre Dame, Philbin served in the U.S. Navy and got his television start serving as a page for The Tonight Show in the 1950s. He got his first network television exposure in 1967 as Joey Bishop's sidekick on The Joey Bishop Show. He is most widely known as the co-host of the New York City-based nationally syndicated talk show Live! with Regis and Kathie Lee, starting in 1988, which became Live! with Regis and Kelly in 2001, and continued as Live! with Kelly after Philbin's departure in 2011. He is also well-known as the original host of the U.S. version of Who Wants to Be a Millionaire, the most-watched prime-time series of the 1999–2000 U.S. television season.

Philbin also hosted Million Dollar Password and the first season of America's Got Talent.

Philbin was born in the Manhattan borough of New York City on August 25, 1931.] His father, Francis "Frank" Philbin, was a U.S. Marine of Irish descent who served in the Pacific. His mother, Filomena ("Florence"; née Boscia), was a member of an Albanian-Italian immigrant family from Greci. Philbin had a Catholic upbringing. He was supposedly named "Regis" because his father wanted him to attend his alma mater, the prestigious Regis High School. It was long believed that he was an only child, but he announced on Live with Regis and Kelly in February 2007 that he had a brother named Frank (March 1, 1951 – January 27, 2007), who had died from non-Hodgkin lymphoma several days earlier. Philbin said his brother had asked not to be mentioned on television or in the press while still alive to protect his privacy.

Philbin was raised in the Van Nest neighborhood of the Bronx. He attended Our Lady of Solace grammar school and graduated from Cardinal Hayes High School. After graduating high school, he attended the University of Notre Dame, where he lived in Fisher Hall, and graduated in 1953 with a degree in sociology. He later served in the U.S. Navy as a supply officer Lieutenant Junior Grade and then went through a few behind-the-scenes jobs in television and radio before moving into broadcasting.

In his earliest show business work, Philbin was a page at The Tonight Show in 1955. Later he wrote for Los Angeles-based talk-show host Tom Duggan and nervously filled in one night when the hard-drinking Duggan failed to arrive. Philbin soon got a job at KCOP as assistant news editor to Baxter Ward, and when the station's sportscaster did not arrive one day, Philbin filled in. In 1957, Regis left his job at KCOP, Los Angeles, to make his fortune in New York City. His replacement at KCOP was George Van Valkenburg. He also was an announcer on The Tonight Show in 1962.

His first talk show was The Regis Philbin Show in 1961 on KOGO-TV (now KGTV) in San Diego. After serving as news anchor for the station. For budget reasons, he had no writing staff, so he began each show with what became his hallmark, the "host chat" segment influenced by Jack Paar, where he engaged his audience (and later his co-host) in discussions about his life and the day's events. picked up Philbin's talk show for national syndication in the late night time slot (replacing Steve Allen). That Regis Philbin Show failed to attract many stations and Westinghouse replaced Philbin with Merv Griffin in 1965.

In 1964, Philbin hosted That Regis Philbin Show, a nationally syndicated show for Westinghouse Broadcasting replacing The Steve Allen Show after Steve Allen refused to renew his contract. The audience did not accept Philbin as a replacement for Allen's zany antics and the appearance lasted slightly more than four months because of dismal ratings, especially compared to Johnny Carson in the same time slot. Nevertheless, Philbin has cited Carson as an influence.

Philbin gained his first network TV exposure in 1967 as Joey Bishop's sidekick on The Joey Bishop Show on television (1967–1969). In a Johnny Carson-Ed McMahon vein, Bishop would playfully tease Philbin and he would take the barbs in stride. But his feelings were hurt when he learned from the network grapevine that ABC executives were dissatisfied with his work and his thick accent, so during the opening of one 1968 program, he launched an unplanned diatribe about "not being wanted and letting down" the program and abruptly quit on air. A few nights later, assured by Bishop that all was well and the barbs were not personal, Philbin returned. As revealed in his 1995 book, I'm Only One Man!, this was actually a publicity stunt planned by Bishop and Philbin beforehand. He reiterates this assertion in his 2011 memoir, How I Got This Way, explaining that it was intended to draw in some of Johnny Carson's viewers. When The Joey Bishop Show was canceled, Bishop returned the favor and walked off the show on air unannounced, leaving Philbin to carry the night on his own. A 1978 book called The Great 1960s Quiz, authored by Dan Carlinsky (published by Harper & Row), asked: "Who was Regis Philbin?" (p. 7) The answer was "Joey Bishop's sidekick on his late night show." (p. 124)

During the early 1970s, Philbin co-hosted Tempo on Los Angeles station KHJ-TV (now KCAL-TV). He also commuted on weekends to St. Louis, where he filmed Regis Philbin's Saturday Night in St. Louis on KMOX-TV (now KMOV).

From 1975 to 1981, he co-hosted A.M. Los Angeles, a local morning talk show on KABC-TV, where Philbin was already working reviewing movies for newscasts on the station. He co-hosted first with Sarah Purcell (1975 to 1978), then with Cyndy Garvey (1978 to 1981). Philbin's presence brought the show from the bottom of the local ratings to No. 1.

From November 30, 1981 to April 9, 1982, Philbin and Mary Hart co-hosted "The Regis Philbin Show," a national morning variety series for NBC. Philbin was hoping to transfer his success from KABC to a national network show, but the show was not successful and lasted only 18 weeks. During 1982 to 1988, Philbin hosted the shows Health Styles and Lifestyles with Regis Philbin on the Cable Health Network and its successor, the Lifetime television network.

After Garvey left Los Angeles in 1982 and moved to New York City, Philbin rejoined her on The Morning Show, on WABC-TV starting on April 4, 1983. At the time, the 9 am time slot for WABC suffered from low Nielsen ratings because of competition from WNBC-TV's Donahue and WCBS-TV's game show block featuring The Joker's Wild and Tic Tac Dough. After Garvey left again and Ann Abernathy briefly shared co-hosting duties, Philbin was paired with Kathie Lee Johnson (later Gifford), in June 1985, and ratings improved significantly. The show became nationally syndicated on September 5, 1988, as Live! with Regis and Kathie Lee and the success continued. The program replaced A.M. Los Angeles upon its cancellation in 1991 and was eventually picked up by all of the ABC owned-and-operated stations except for WLS in Chicago, which aired The Oprah Winfrey Show in that time slot and had done so since the show's debut as A.M. Chicago.

When Gifford departed in 2000, the show was temporarily named Live! with Regis. Philbin had guest co-hosts until a replacement was found. Philbin won a Daytime Emmy Award for Outstanding Talk Show Host in 2001. Kelly Ripa was chosen as the permanent co-host in February 2001, and the show was renamed Live! with Regis and Kelly. Their chemistry proved to be successful as the show continued to enjoy high ratings.

Philbin set a Guinness World Record for "Most Hours on Camera" on his August 20, 2004, Live show (surpassing Hugh Downs), which gave him a total of 15,188 hours on television.

In 2008, Philbin's contract with ABC was renewed through 2011. Under this contract, Philbin reportedly earned more than US $21 million per annum. He received a similar contract with CBS for hosting Million Dollar Password.

Philbin departed Live with Regis and Kelly after hosting his final show on November 18, 2011.

Philbin was also a game show host. He hosted The Neighbors, a short-lived game show on ABC from late 1975 to early 1976. The show had two female contestants guessing which of her three women neighbors said gossipy things about her. In 1976, he was a "field reporter" for ABC's Almost Anything Goes, an American adaptation of the British game show, It's a Knockout.

Philbin was the original host of the U.S. version of Who Wants to Be a Millionaire, an ABC game show that had its roots in Britain. Millionaire was a big ratings success in its 1999 debut, when it was intended as an occasional special series. ABC aired Millionaire as a regular series with frequent episodes, but its viewership slowly declined. After Millionaire was canceled, it was retooled in 2002 as a syndicated series hosted by Meredith Vieira. ABC brought back Millionaire in 2004 with Philbin, retitled Who Wants to Be a Super Millionaire, a related series that was aired on a more limited basis. Philbin had appeared in 11 episodes of a special edition of Who Wants to Be a Millionaire, which started on August 9, 2009, 10th anniversary of the show. He also was a celebrity contestant in this version. Millionaire, in its syndicated format, uses guest hosts for selected weeks during the season and Philbin hosted a week of episodes that aired in November 2009, coinciding with his 2009 surgery.

Philbin's Millionaire hosting duties won him a Daytime Emmy Award for Outstanding Game Show Host in 2001. In a 2007 Time article, he was listed among the 15 Best Game Show Hosts in History. When Millionaire was honored on GSN's Gameshow Hall of Fame special, Philbin's tenure as the show's host was praised. Leigh Hampton, then executive producer of the syndicated version, said that he "knew when to take rein of it and when to sit back and let the contestant be the contestant," and Jennifer Slater of twogirlsandatv.com called him "the sweetest man on television." Philbin himself recalled his own Millionaire tenure on said special with the following statement:

You could only have a minute or two with it before the questions began. I did everything I could to make them more available for the right answer.

— Regis Philbin

In November 2005, ABC announced that Philbin would host the network's revival of This Is Your Life. In August 2006, he reported that his option on the contract for the show had lapsed and he declined to renew it.

Philbin hosted the first season of America's Got Talent, a Simon Cowell-produced amateur talent search show on NBC, during the summer of 2006. He flew between New York City and Los Angeles during that time period to participate in both Live with Regis and Kelly and AGT. Because of his difficulty with commuting cross country and his health problems, he was replaced in 2007 by talk show host Jerry Springer. With regard to filling Philbin's spot, Springer noted that "no one fills in for Regis. He's the best there ever was at this so you pay homage to him."

Philbin's affiliation with Fremantle started to develop at this time. He hosted a revival of the Password franchise entitled Million Dollar Password, which premiered June 1, 2008, and ended on June 14, 2009.

On December 31, 2004, Philbin filled in for Dick Clark on ABC's Dick Clark's New Year's Rockin' Eve, as Clark was recovering from a stroke. Philbin (who was a year and a half younger than Clark) lightheartedly claimed to have interrupted his previously planned vacation to do the show. The following year, Philbin hosted a competing special for Fox, replacing Clark's new co-host and eventual successor Ryan Seacrest.

Philbin was also the host of The Apprentice 2 finale on December 16, 2004, and the official 30-minute red carpet arrivals at the 80th Academy Awards ceremony on February 24, 2008.

Philbin hosted the 37th Daytime Emmy Awards on June 27, 2010.

Philbin made regular guest appearances on Late Show with David Letterman. He was often introduced by Letterman as "Regis Lee Philbin", a play on his former morning co-host, Kathie Lee Gifford. He also appeared on other late-night talk shows; such as Jimmy Kimmel Live!, Late Night with Conan O'Brien, The Late Late Show with Craig Ferguson, and Late Night with Jimmy Fallon.

Philbin appeared on the sitcoms Spin City, How I Met Your Mother, Mad About You, Hope & Faith, Seinfeld, and The Fresh Prince of Bel-Air, as well as the sketch-comedy programs The Dana Carvey Show, Mad TV, and The Larry Sanders Show. He appeared in an episode of The Big Valley called "The Challenge" which first aired on March 18, 1968. In 1970, he appeared in an episode of the ABC crime drama The Silent Force, and also in an episode of the series That Girl.

In 1991, Philbin was a celebrity guest at WrestleMania VII in Los Angeles, commenting on the main event between Hulk Hogan and Sgt. Slaughter.

In 1998, Philbin made an appearance in Disney's Hercules as the voice of the mythical monster Typhon; Kathie Lee Gifford was also present as the voice of Typhon's mate, Echidna.

On December 25, 2000, Philbin appeared as a panelist on the first season championship game of the ESPN game show 2 Minute Drill.

On February 28, 2004, Philbin guest-starred in a Lilo & Stitch: The Series episode called "Drowsy".

On May 15, 2006, Philbin appeared as a special guest, alongside Howie Mandel, for a two-hour special episode of Deal or No Deal on NBC.

Philbin appeared three times on Celebrity Jeopardy!, the most appearances for any competing celebrity on the game show Jeopardy!. In November 2006, he won his competition and earned $50,000 for Cardinal Hayes High School, his alma mater.

Philbin appeared as a contestant on Celebrity Are You Smarter Than a 5th Grader? in November 2007. He again played for his alma mater, Cardinal Hayes High School. He dropped out of the game and went home with $175,000 for the school.

In September 2008, Philbin guest starred as himself on How I Met Your Mother, where he joined the cast in the search for New York's best hamburger. The show revealed that he worked out at Barney's gym. During the best-burger hunt, his picture hung in the "Best Burger" restaurant and every other suspected best-burger restaurant, such as Corner Bistro and Veggie Heaven. In the show, he hosted a "show within a show" called Million Dollar Heads or Tails, which made reference to both Million Dollar Password and Millionaire.

On December 25, 2009, Philbin attended Christmas Mass with Father Edward L. Beck and Timothy Dolan, the current Archbishop of New York, at The Sunday Mass and gave a special interview discussing how being a Catholic had influenced his life.

In February 2011, Philbin made an appearance on Take Two with Phineas and Ferb. On July 3, 2011, he was a celebrity guest on The Marriage Ref, along with Tracy Morgan and Susie Essman.

Davies. In February 2014, he announced his leaving. He returned to occasionally host from March until its cancellation on May 8.

Philbin guest-hosted two episodes of The Late Late Show in January 2015. That July, he appeared on Today with Kathie Lee and Hoda. He reappeared on the program roughly once a month, and sometimes joined Gifford as a guest host on Hoda Kotb's days off.

Writing and singing-Philbin's two autobiographies (with co-author Bill Zehme), I'm Only One Man! (1995) and Who Wants To Be Me? (2000), are written in the conversational or anecdotal style of his host chats. The first follows a year (1994-1995) in his life, his memories of celebrities, and work on Live with Regis and Kathie Lee, among other things. The next was a response to the success of Who Wants to Be a Millionaire. In 2011, upon leaving Live!, HarperCollins released his final memoir, How I Got This Way.

Philbin was a crooner in the styles of his favorite singers: Dean Martin, Perry Como, and Frank Sinatra. He tested the musical waters with his 1968 pop vocal release, It's Time For Regis! After receiving poor reviews, he was reluctant to record another studio album, but he occasionally sang on Live, usually duets. In 2004, he recorded When You're Smiling, a traditional pop music album.

The Regis Philbin Christmas Album was released in September 2005 by Hollywood Records. It features several duets, with friend Donald Trump ("Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer"), Steve Tyrell ("Marshmallow World"), and wife Joy ("Baby, It's Cold Outside" and "Winter Wonderland"). A special edition was produced, including tracks sung with the Notre Dame Glee Club.

Philbin was married to Catherine Faylen, the daughter of actor Frank Faylen, from 1955 to 1968; they had a daughter named Amy and a son named Daniel before divorcing. He married interior decorator Joy Senese in 1970; they had two daughters named Joanna and J. J. Senese occasionally co-hosted with Philbin. On Live, he often mentioned Joy, and to a lesser degree his children. He split his time between his Manhattan apartment (near the WABC-TV studios) and his house in Greenwich, Connecticut.

Philbin followed sports extensively, especially baseball and football. He was an avid fan of the New York Yankees and a proud supporter of the Notre Dame Fighting Irish, the sports teams of his alma mater. He narrated the two audio CDs that accompanied Joe Garner's book, Echoes of Notre Dame Football: Great and Memorable Moments of the Fighting Irish, and was unwilling to waver even when St. John's basketball coach Steve Lavin asked Regis to trade his allegiance. After graduating from Notre Dame in 1953, he returned to campus often for football games, concerts, pep rallies, banquets, and other events, and donated $2.75 million to the university to build the Philbin Studio Theatre for performance arts productions. When he heard that Larry King had never visited Notre Dame Stadium, he invited King and insisted on giving him a tour of the "greatest college campus in the world", which he did in October 2002 with Tim Russert also in attendance.

Philbin played on the Notre Dame tennis team, casting doubt on claims he made in an ad that he had learned to play tennis from Senese. Notre Dame football coaches such as Charlie Weis, Tyrone Willingham, and Lou Holtz have appeared on Live. Along with being a Yankees fan, Philbin was also "keeping an eye on the Florida Marlins". On May 5, 2009, he delivered the first pitch at a Marlins game. He also supported the Pittsburgh Pirates in his final years.

In March 1984, Philbin opened a Ford dealership in Gilbert, Arizona, as a side investment during his career in television. The dealership, Philbin Ford, suffered due to the already saturated auto market in the area, and was closed in late 1988.

Philbin was known to have trouble handling new technology, and was frequently confused when operating electronics such as remote controls and DVD players. He did not usually use computers (although he did use one for an episode of Live in 2008, demonstrating how to find homes online) and did not own a cell phone until September 2008. It is often noted, however, that he did not completely reject technology; he simply had Senese make calls and send emails for him.

Health and death-Philbin had an angioplasty in 1993. On March 14, 2007, he underwent triple bypass surgery at Weill Cornell Medical Center because of plaque in his arteries. Prior to the surgery, Philbin talked with David Letterman, for whom he had substituted on Late Show with David Letterman during Letterman's own quintuple bypass surgery. Following Philbin's successful heart surgery, he returned to the show on April 26. On December 1, 2009, Philbin had hip replacement surgery. He returned to his regular hosting duties on January 4, 2010. In May 2010, he underwent surgery to have a blood clot removed from his calf and returned to work the next day.

Philbin died from a heart attack due to coronary artery disease on July 25, 2020, one month shy of his 89th birthday as noted in a statement released by his family announcing

TRIVIA ANSWERS

1. Answer: While all of the following are names of official U.S. military bugle calls, only one of them literally translates to “wake up” in French: Reveille. The morning bugle call, known as Reveille is used to awaken military personnel in the morning, generally near sunrise, though its exact time varies from base to base. This iconic bugle call was originally referred to as “Troop” in 1812 and was designated to muster the unit and call the roll. Reveille is typically followed by another bugle call, To The Colors, during which the American Flag is raised.

- 2. Answer: Pakistan, officially the Islamic Republic of Pakistan, is a country in South Asia. It is the world's fifth-most populous country, with a population of almost 242 million, and has the world's second-largest Muslim population, behind Indonesia. Islamabad is the capital city of Pakistan. The name Islamabad means "City of Islam." It is derived from two words: Islam and abad. Islam refers to the religion of Islam, Pakistan's state religion, and -abad is a Persian suffix meaning cultivated place, indicating an inhabited place or city.
- 3. Answer: J. D. Vance is a writer and conservative commentator who rose to prominence with the publication of his 2016 memoir, Hillbilly Elegy. His memoir, which describes his upbringing and his family's Appalachian values, became a New York Times bestseller and was adapted into a film directed by Ron Howard, starring Amy Adams and Glenn Close. Vance won the Republican nomination for Ohio's Senate seat in 2021 with 32% of the vote. On Tuesday, Vance faces Democratic nominee Tim Ryan for the vacant US Senate seat in Ohio.

In the film franchise, Han Solo marries Princess Leia and the power couple have a son named Ben Solo. Ben Solo shares his first name with Harrison Ford's son, Ben Ford. - 5. Answer: Taylor Swift made music history last week when ten songs from her new album "Midnights" simultaneously nabbed the top 10 spots of Billboard's Hot 100. "Anti-Hero," the first single from her album, claimed the No. 1 spot. The tracks "Lavender Haze," "Maroon," "Snow on the Beach," and "Midnight Rain" rounded out the top five. Swift now has a total of 40 top 10s, surpassing Madonna's 38, making her the female artist with the most top 10s in the history of the Billboard charts. "Midnights" also earned Taylor Swift her 11th No. 1 album on the Billboard 200 chart.
- 6. Answer: The Man Who Fell to Earth is a 1976 science fiction film adapted from the 1963 Walter Tevis novel of the same name. Rock legend David Bowie makes his acting debut as an alien named Thomas Jerome Newton, who arrives on Earth in search of resources for his home planet. While receiving mixed reviews by critics, Bowie won a Saturn Award for Best Actor for his performance. The film has gone on to become a certified cult classic, thanks in large part to David Bowie's dynamic presence as well as the trippy visuals in the film.

- 7. Answer: Nicknamed "The Great One," Wayne Gretzky has been called the greatest hockey player to have ever played the game. He is the leading goal scorer, assist producer and point scorer in NHL history. He is also the only NHL player to total over 200 points in one season, a feat he accomplished four times. After his retirement in 1999, Gretzky was immediately inducted into the Hockey Hall of Fame, making him the most recent player to have the waiting period waived. The NHL retired his jersey number 99 league-wide, making him the only hockey player to receive such an honor.

8. Answer: Rodney Dangerfield was a stand-up comedian and actor known for his "I don't get no respect" routine. In the 1980s, he appeared in films such as Easy Money, Caddyshack, and Back to School. In 2004, at the age of 82, Dangerfield passed away due to surgery complications. When it came to choosing an epitaph, fate intervened. On the day of his death, the randomly generated joke of the day on Dangerfield's website read, "I tell ya, I get no respect from anyone. I bought a cemetery plot. The guy said, "There goes the neighborhood!" Instead of using his signature catchphrase "I don't get no respect!" for his headstone, his wife choose this eerie final joke.
9. Answer: In 1982, NBC president Brandon Tartikoff decided to take a chance on a show most of his colleagues thought was a joke: a man solving crimes with the aid of a talking car. As soon as it premiered, Knight Rider became one of the network's biggest hits, and launched David Hasselhoff into stardom. For many, the true star was the 1982 Pontiac Trans Am named KITT, which stood for Knight Industries Two Thousand. KITT was ahead of its time in the 1980s, thinking, speaking, and interacting with humans, all while fighting crime under the command of David Hasselhoff.

You've probably heard it throughout your life—breakfast is the most important meal of the day. But is that really true? Or are you better off skipping it and saving your calories for later in the day?

Julie Lammers, a dietitian with Banner Children's Specialists Endocrinology Clinic in Mesa, AZ, answers some questions about this misunderstood meal.

Are there benefits to eating breakfast? Some research has found that people who eat breakfast tend to weigh less and have a lower body mass index (BMI) than breakfast-skippers. They also get better nutrition and feel satiated. And breakfast is important for children. "Some research has shown school-aged kids who eat breakfast have better academic scores and attendance," Lammers said.

What if I'm not hungry in the morning? "If you aren't waking up hungry in the morning, eating a meal may not seem appetizing, and for some people, it may even make them feel sick," Lammers said. She recommends listening to your hunger and fullness cues to decide when and how much to eat. "You want to limit how often you override those cues. Otherwise, it can make it more difficult to recognize them in the future."

If you aren't hungry in the morning and want to begin a breakfast routine, Lammers recommends starting with something small: a glass of water or low-fat milk or milk alternative, a small piece of fruit or a slice of whole-wheat toast, for example. After a few days, see how you feel. "Everybody is different. What works and fits into a healthy lifestyle for one person may not work for another," she said.

What if I don't like breakfast foods? "Breakfast" simply means the first meal of the day. While you might think of cereal, eggs, toast and pancakes as breakfast foods, you don't have to limit yourself to this typical fare. "I always tell people to think outside the box for breakfast," Lammers said.

What should I eat for breakfast? Lammers recommends including at least three food groups, so you get a variety of nutrients. Including complex carbs, proteins and fats will give you energy for your morning and help you feel satisfied until your next meal.

If you like breakfast foods, try a half of a whole-wheat bagel topped with peanut butter and banana slices with a glass of low-fat milk

If you don't like breakfast foods, try a grilled chicken wrap in a whole-wheat tortilla with lettuce, tomato, avocado and shredded cheese
I want to try intermittent fasting. Should I skip breakfast?

There are different variations of intermittent fasting, but with it, you typically only eat during a certain timeframe, which in some cases would include skipping breakfast. Lammers said intermittent fasting could lead to health benefits such as weight loss and improved glucose levels, insulin sensitivity and cholesterol levels. However, this does not mean it is the best fit for everyone. As with most types of diets, it can be restrictive, difficult to follow and, for some people, harmful to their health and well-being.
