

Nao Group | Nao Bond 2019

WELCOME FROM OUR CEO

Nao Group is a commercial property developer striving to be at the forefront of the rapidly evolving coworking and shared office space market. Utilising the senior management team's vast experience in the property sector and solid operational intelligence, we have set a course to deliver a coworking experience that today's entrepreneurs and SMEs will truly embrace. In the process, we are creating environments for better productivity and health. To support our growth, we are seeking to raise funds through the launch of our corporate Bond, which offers a broad range of investors the opportunity to gain exposure to the fastest growing property sub-sector globally.

Since developing our strategy and launching in 2016, we have raised €10 million from institutional and HNW investors. This enabled us to plan, source, fit-out and launch our first offices, both of which opened in 2017. In 2018, we successfully launched two additional London sites and now have over 500 members across our locations. With innovation and passion at the heart of what we are building, we are confident with our next steps. In 2019 we will open locations in Farringdon and Stratford and with several other buildings in the pipeline, the opportunity to accelerate our offering and presence is imminent.

The Board and I are extremely excited about the next stage of growth and look forward to sharing this journey with you, our customers and continually loyal investors.

MARKET OPPORTUNITY

Whilst the coworking model is flourishing, as modern businesses seek working environments that cater to the needs of millennials, our market research indicates that the majority of operators are not delivering a product that truly strikes a chord beyond cost. Nao Group is changing the coworking landscape by offering services that help entrepreneurialism and wellness to flourish in the same environment. To deliver on our growth ambitions, we are targeting prime city areas, but simultaneously focusing on areas outside of traditional city centre locations - those which are attracting new businesses and mixed-use developments. These areas are proving attractive due to their lower costs whilst workers can avoid longer commutes into the city centre.

The company has set itself a target of acquiring 30 buildings over the next 7 years, with a focus on the UK, Europe and Asia Pacific. This strategy will enable us to achieve an estimated company valuation in excess of €600 million.

THE BOND

Nao Group seeks to raise €25 million through the Bond issue in a first series funding round. The launch of our fully listed Bond is a very exciting milestone for us. We are inspired to deliver a product that today's businesses truly want and, in the process, grow our company on an international scale and provide excellent returns to our investors.

NAO GROUP ASSET-BACKED 7% FIXED INCOME BOND (EUR)

Our Bond is designed to be a straightforward investment.

■ INTEREST

Offering 7% interest per annum, payable in cash on a quarterly basis.

■ TERM

Five-year initial fixed term, with a three-year redemption offering to accommodate the shorter investment strategy.

■ APPLICATION

Minimum investment of €10,000, with no maximum limit.

■ SECURITY

The Bond is fully secured against several of the company's existing properties and will secure all future properties in the portfolio that are acquired from the series.

■ TIMELINES

Applications open from 20th May 2019 (available on a first-come, first-served basis).

■ SIPP/UCITS

The Nao Bond is SIPP and UCITS compliant.

OUR BUSINESS

The business was founded in 2016 and, until recently, operated under the name WorkSpace Commerce (WSC). The company is privately held, with its head office in Gibraltar and global offices in London and Dubai. Now distinctively rebranded as Nao Group, our strategy remains the same – to fill the major gap in the flexible office space market across the UK, Europe and APAC.

AREAWORKS

While Nao Group sources, acquires and develops our coworking properties, the buildings are operated under our coworking brand, Areaworks. The Areaworks brand represents the value proposition of being truly open – open in space, open in attitude, and with an open atmosphere of innovation and collaboration. This mindset is at the core of the Areaworks brand; however, we believe in customising this value proposition to meet market demands and present a strong entry and dynamic presence in any new market. This is a differentiator in its own right and one way in which Areaworks stands out from the crowd. Through our adaptable coworking brand, Nao Group's coworking units tick three essential boxes for its members: creative spaces, multi-service provision and value.

Whilst our buildings offer private offices, hot desking, meeting rooms, breakout and presentation areas, the spaces are constructed in a manner that fosters community interaction and encourages creativity, innovation and collaboration between members.

WORK-LIFE BALANCE

Promoting a work-life balance and a healthy working environment is a key part of our model. This is achieved by a broad range of valuable add-ons. To name just a few, our larger buildings are designed to contain fully functional gyms while our smaller spaces benefit from our partnerships with fitness centres, giving our coworking members access to quality gyms with the latest equipment as well as health and wellness classes. We are also at the forefront of childcare support within the coworking market, with our new centres providing pop-up crèches to cater to the ever-growing need to support working parents.

ADDITIONAL REVENUE

Along with developing amazing spaces, we also deliver value-added services and revenue streams that create better member experiences. We give professional individuals workspaces that provide an edge over their home office, the coffee shop, or even a corporate office. Understanding that service and convenience are what drive people to shared offices, we aim to provide many all-in-one location services that really make a positive difference to our end users.

FLEXIBILITY

Flexible contract terms and affordable rental packages are also core building blocks of our model. Whether they are coworking spaces, co-living quarters or scalable creative offices, Nao Group's products cover a range of bespoke commercial properties to suit individuals or entities at various stages of their growth cycle.

areaworks

Areaworks is the operator of Nao Group's commercial properties. It is leading the campaign to be more than just your average serviced office operator, by putting innovation and customer service at the heart of its ethos. It is the view of the senior management team that the company can best achieve a market leadership position through relentless innovation, underpinned by a rigorous commercial outlook.

The business as a whole has seen exponential growth in the last year, with facilities often overbooked prior to launch, prompting our need to expand to meet the booming market demand. One of Areaworks' key product and service differentiators is the provision of a broad suite of services, which provide superior support for the working and living requirements of our members. These include:

- A mix of spaces ranging from warehouse conversions for creatives through to corporate style offices, complete with roof terraces and on-site coffee shops
- On-site or closely located gyms, included in memberships, rather than just a tie-up
- Taking work-life to the next level with child-friendly floors and crèches with professional nannies in our facilities, fully regulated and licensed
- Education on important matters regarding business or health
- Technologies that provide significant value to members
- Complimentary refreshments
- Business and member events
- Complimentary breakfast mornings
- In-house urban-gastro cafés/ bakeries in our new facilities

Areaworks' approach also differs from other market players in the way it adapts to the specific needs of each area. For example, our new Farringdon space will be geared towards the City firms that tend to reside in that area, such as finance, legal and banking consultancies, whereas our Manor House space, which is a huge warehouse conversion, is focused more towards creative industries.

The popularity of coworking has seen demand continue to grow exponentially across Europe with data indicating that growth will continue to accelerate across the continent, due to the success of the tech sector, a flourishing startup environment and a projected increase in office-based employment.

The Asia Pacific region is also embracing a shift towards a shared economy - a fundamental concept that is driving the coworking movement. However, many coworking spaces in the APAC region tend to be limited or homogenous, focusing on office letting or building spaces for startups rather than a broader demographic of the employment and freelance sector, which is progressively in need of coworking spaces. In Asia, millennials have similar needs as those in the West, so while the heart of our growth campaign reflects our continuous drive to be different, we also ensure that our products are attractive to the unique requirements and preferences of the local market.

OUR UK PORTFOLIO

The Nao Bond is initially fully secured against parts of the company's existing portfolio, with further properties to be added as they are acquired.

COMING SOON

DUBLIN

Coworking is fast-growing in Dublin, with the sector accounting for 8% of office leasing activity in the city's central business district in 2017, compared to just 0.7% of leases in 2016. Dublin's coworking office market has been ranked fourth hottest among European cities in a league compiled by agents Cushman & Wakefield.

BERLIN

Sector growth in Germany is strong across the country, with Germany's largest seven cities growing to a share of 5% of total office space take-up, with Berlin leading the way with 8%. The German capital also saw one of the fastest growth rates of 505% last year, and it is present in the European top five and global top ten markets.

STRATFORD, LONDON

Stratford is a buzzing business, shopping and leisure hub which has been labelled the 'new business hot spot for London'. With great transport links into the centre of London, Stratford is an up-and-coming area and a prime location for businesses to establish themselves.

THE MARKET

MARKET TRENDS

The coworking sector has experienced a huge boom in recent years, with forecasts indicating that the trend is set to continue on a global scale. The Global Coworking Unconference Conference (GCUC) recently stated that, based on current trends, the number of coworking units will rise from 17,725 in 2018 to 30,432 by 2022. By that same time, there is expected to be 5.1 million coworking members across the world.

In its 2018 Coworking Sector Report, commercial property and real estate consultant, Cushman & Wakefield listed these 5 reasons for this exponential growth:

- 1 Changing working practices
- 2 Social changes / lifestyle choices
- 3 Greater demand for flexibility and shorter leases from large companies
- 4 Cost relative to traditional offices
- 5 Growth in self-employment

GLOBAL NUMBER OF COWORKING SPACES (2017 Forecast)

THE ESTABLISHED PLAYERS

Currently, the global coworking sector is being spearheaded by WeWork. Founded in 2010 and headquartered in New York City, it has become the largest operator in the world with a presence in 97 cities across 32 countries. Its straightforward business model is to rent office spaces cheaply, en masse, via long-term lease contracts, an approach which has led to the business being valued at $47 billion in a recent funding round.

Until recently WeWork's UK presence has been focused on London, in which it is the largest operator of office space with over 30 locations across the city, however, it has now also opened its first coworking office in Manchester. The regional cities, which are part of Nao Group's longer-term strategy, have until now been predominately serviced by Regus. Other players to have emerged in recent years, include Landmark and Orega, who have spaces in main regional cities like Birmingham, Manchester and Leeds.

WeWork has also made a major push into Asia following its $400 million acquisition of Naked Hub, which has a series of coworking offices across China and Singapore. Ucommune has become the largest operator in China with 120 locations across the country and its series of acquisitions have included rivals Wedo, Coworking, New Space, and Woo Space.

EUROPE

The coworking sector is flourishing across Europe with the Global Coworking Unconference Conference (GCUC) reporting that memberships in prime cities are expected to grow at a rate of 15% per year across the continent. The share of coworking spaces in mid-sized regions has risen and average member numbers are up by a third (Deskmag). The popularity of coworking is also positively impacting the local communities in which they set up in, with research indicating that the average coworking space member generally spends around €10 per day around their specific coworking spaces, contributing to the local economy and helping local entrepreneurs keep their businesses alive; a sentiment that aligns directly with Areaworks' strategy. Additional revenue streams are also prevalent in the region, with a fifth of all members using a coworking space not for regular work; so for reasons such as meetings, networking opportunities or events.

ASIA PACIFIC

The coworking sector is also riding high in Asia Pacific with 4,000 coworking spaces in operation in the region, according to an article published by East West Bank in June 2018. Cushman & Wakefield's most recent sector report on the region forecasts a 40% growth in coworking memberships, well above the global average. With some countries showing coworking growth rates of 350% year-on-year, as illustrated by CBRE in their latest Korea Coworking Report, we are confident that the company will benefit significantly from a more established presence in this region. Having traditionally been very corporate in its approach to work, Japan has been highlighted by Cushman & Wakefield as a new major growth area for coworking, with the number of entrepreneurs and freelancers increasing by 25% over the past two years. Southeast Asia is also expected to present a significant number of new opportunities for coworking operators given the region's high economic growth.

UNITED KINGDOM

There has been a rapid rise in the number of startups and SMEs across the UK over the past 10 years, with entrepreneurs and their workforce embracing a new approach to work and no longer defined by a specific location. This combination has been a driving force behind the demand for flexible coworking spaces, with London becoming the most established coworking city in the world. As of 2017, it was estimated that flexible workspace operators occupied 10.7 million sq. ft. across Central London, equating to 4% and more than double the level in 2007. Research by the Centre for Entrepreneurs states that 187,250 new businesses were set up in London in 2017.

CHANGE IN CENTRAL LONDON'S FLEXIBLE WORKPLACE STOCK

SECONDARY CITIES

Demand for flexible workspace is set to expand outside of the primary global city-based markets, with over 70% of this space available in smaller secondary cities (Instant Offices). In the face of increased living costs, many companies are looking towards secondary cities to reduce costs and increase affordability for their employees.

Forbes announced that in Europe, Manchester and Toulouse were the fastest growing markets thanks to increasing investment and a growing corporate focus. All EMEA cities, including Manchester, Lille and Frankfurt, have seen supply grow by over 15% in response to accelerated demand. Europe is forecast to see 255 million sq. ft. of flexible space in 2019 – an increase of 12%, with over 70% of this space being available in smaller secondary cities. Similarly, in APAC, Instant Offices have indicated that that in the coming five years there will be significant growth in secondary cities across the region driven largely by the significant number of startups and entrepreneurs based there.

OUR STRATEGY FOR SUCCESS

In our quest to remain ahead of the competition, Nao Group puts service and product innovation at the heart of our business strategy. Nao Group's senior management have identified a number of shortcomings in the majority of competitor workspace models being rolled out across the world. Many of these lack differentiation, value-added services and competitive price points. In addition, many operators do not own their buildings and, as such, Nao Group's leadership believes the mainstream coworking business model will come under strain when operators are subjected to new lease negotiations. In contrast, we are aiming to achieve a favourable blend of leases and ownership in order to minimise risk to Nao Group's lease negotiations and costs.

2018 has been a record year so far for us as we have celebrated record growth of 88% on the previous year, across the company. Our current portfolio boasts superb properties in London, but our ambitions reach far beyond this point, with a strategy of expansion that includes a total of 30 properties in the next 7 years across the UK, Europe, and APAC region. This strategic growth will enable us to achieve an estimated company valuation in excess of €600 million.

THE GROUP'S STRATEGY FOR SUCCESS IS BUILT ON FIVE PILLARS

Picking the right locations

- To find the best opportunities, we have developed a large network of commercial agents including key partnerships with Colliers, CBRE, JLL and Savills.
- We have also teamed up with Stirling Ackroyd, one of London's leading commercial real estate agencies, to source the right properties.
- Building upon our extensive property experience, each potential location undergoes comprehensive analysis through a detailed feasibility process by our team of experts.
- Nao Group currently reviews an average of 15 properties a week to ensure that our acquisition decisions accommodate our planned growth and mitigate risks to the company and our bondholders.

Making our properties better than the rest

- Nao Group's insight shows many current coworking space operators fail to deliver a product that truly supports the needs of members.
- Areaworks, our coworking operator, offers members different options and services that meet their needs. Our products are adapted to suit the market in each area and the types of businesses that are clustered there. The needs of the banking and finance workers, for example, are different to those of media and creatives, so Areaworks adapts accordingly with design, ambience and add-ons to suit the needs of these industries.
- Companies that recognise the importance of work-life balance for their employees are benefitting from improved staff retention and productivity. Nao Group is leading this cause with all our spaces offering more than just yoga and meditation at lunchtime, but rather a holistic approach, from healthy breakfasts and coaching sessions, to crèches and gyms in our buildings.
- We also plan to provide concierge services, such as dry cleaning and grocery pick-up or delivery, which will play well to the needs of coworking members.

Knowing our customers

- Truly catering to the needs of our members is at the heart of the business model, and our adaptable Areaworks brand ensures a tailored offering in each coworking space. Offering a personal touch is an important element of our brand and service offering.
- Thorough engagement and knowing what our members want means we're delivering a valued service that drives retention, referrals and a greater demand for Areaworks' spaces.

Provision of digital services

- To ensure that our spaces operate in the smartest way possible, Nao Group partners with experts who assess our properties and advise on how we can improve services for each coworking community.
- Nao Group is looking to implement new technology into its offering, including blockchain technology to improve processes and security.
- The senior management team have seen with competitor valuations, that the introduction of technology will help to drive value in Nao Group beyond that of a typical property development and operator business.

Lowering the cost of customer acquisition

- We are strong believers that good customer service today drives the sales of tomorrow. As the business has begun to scale, so have the number of member referrals by word-of-mouth, which is testament to the quality of our overall product and community experience being delivered by Areaworks.
- Areaworks successfully uses digital marketing channels to reach its audience and, by increasing the size of the in-house marketing function, agent fees have dropped. Investment in marketing has also led to a tenfold increase in website traffic, which is further helping to drive down our cost of member acquisition.

HOW FUNDS WILL BE USED

EUROPEAN EXPANSION

The popularity of coworking has seen demand continue to grow exponentially across Europe. Data indicates that growth will continue to increase due to a thriving startup environment and a lucrative tech sector. Across the region, more and more large organisations are offering flexible work terms to their employees, which continues to fuel the coworking sector. The concept of work-life balance is already prevalent in most European cities, allowing us to enter the market with a service offering that will resonate well within these regions. Having identified spaces in Dublin, Amsterdam, Berlin, Barcelona and Rome, Nao Group will use funds to expand our portfolio across Europe.

UK EXPANSION

Our long-term UK plan is to establish 15 coworking locations, with an initial focus on the South East of England and the London area. The funds from the Bond will be used to finance the purchasing and leasing of buildings in various locations throughout the city. Outside of London, we have also identified sites in Manchester, Birmingham and Glasgow as we look to capitalise on the growth of businesses adopting the coworking trend in these regional cities and introduce our Areaworks brand to these areas.

ASIA PACIFIC EXPANSION

Aligned with our UK plans, Nao Group seeks to build upon its Asia Pacific footprint and will use the funds to help secure coworking spaces in many new locations throughout the region. We have currently identified opportunities in Shanghai, Seoul, Tokyo, Bangkok, Kuala Lumpur, Jakarta, Manila and Taipei. Supported by the high-growth and economic development in the Asia Pacific region, we believe Nao Group will be able to capitalise on the demand for coworking spaces that offer better service and value. To mitigate risk to our investors Nao Group will not purchase property outside the UK, but only sign long-term leases.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Q.1 Why does Nao Group need the money?

Proceeds from the Bond will be utilised to acquire leasehold and freehold properties in the UK and to support company expansion plans in Europe and Asia Pacific.

Q.2 Which entity in the Nao Group will be using the funds raised?

The funds from the Bond are to be utilised across the Group.

Q.3 Why are you not seeking bank finance?

When creating the company 3 years ago, we had a deliberate strategy to build up a loyal investor base to help move the company forward in a faster fashion than traditional bank finance would have facilitated. Our approach was successful and now we have the ability to combine both to ensure we are flexible in the market. We believe that owning more of our assets will make the business more attractive to banks wishing to provide financing when, and if needed.

Q.4 What is the minimum and maximum investment amount?

The minimum investment is €10,000 and there is no maximum limit.

Q.5 What amount is being raised?

In this initial funding phase, the Group is seeking to raise €25 million. For our full strategy we are targeting a raise in excess of €200 million.

Q.6 Who can invest in the Nao Bond?

The Bond is open to all suitable individual investors over the age of 18 and/or trusts or companies.

Q.7 Is the Bond suitable for SIPPs and/or UCITS?

Yes, the Bond is suitable for Self-Invested Personal Pension (SIPP) schemes, subject to the SIPP provider accepting the Bond and making the application on the investor's behalf, and also UCITS.

Q.8 How will the Nao Bond repay my investment?

The investment will be repaid using the company earnings, property appreciation and additional company financing.

Q.9 When can I get my money out?

The company will repay investors in full on the 5th anniversary of the term.

Q.10 Can I withdraw my money before the end of the five-year term?

There is an optional early redemption allowed on the 3rd anniversary of the Bond term. The Bond has been listed and is publicly tradable on the General Exchange Market (GEM) of the Euronext Dublin Stock Exchange. The company reserves the right, at the discretion of the Board, to trade their bonds before they mature on behalf of the investors prior to the redemption date. If a bondholder wishes to exit and is unable to sell in the market, the bondholder can ask the company to buy them back as liquidity is daily. Nao Group keeps a cash reserve of 8% at all times to do this. The company can redeem the bondholder at any time at its discretion. Kindly note that if a bondholder wishes to exit prior to the redemption period, this is possible, as the bond is freely transferable in the market place.

Q.11 What happens if the Bond is oversubscribed?

The company reserves the absolute right to accept applications for the Nao Bond in whole or in part (subject to a minimum investment of €10,000 per applicant). Therefore, the company may accept your application in whole or in part only of the nominal amount of Nao Bond for which you applied (in which case the balance of the amount paid by you in respect of the Nao Bond not issued would be repaid to you).

Q.12 Is the Bond secured against any assets?

The Bond is initially secured against part of the Nao Group's property assets and all the future properties will be secured against the bond, creating an asset-backed investment.

Q.13 Do I need to discuss the Nao Bond with a financial advisor?

We strongly recommend that you seek the advice of an independent financial advisor authorised by the local regulator in your country of residence to conduct investment business.

Q.14 Does investing in the Nao Bond mean that I have shares in the company?

No, Nao Bonds aren't convertible into shares and bondholders will hold no ownership interest in either the company or any member of the Group. It's a loan for a fixed period, paying a fixed rate of interest.

Q.15 What return do I receive on my investment and is the interest rate fixed?

The Nao Group Asset-Backed 7% Fixed Income Bond (EUR) will yield a fixed return of 7% per annum on your initial investment, payable in cash quarterly in arrears.

Q.16 What happens if I die while I hold the Nao Bond?

The Nao Bond would form part of your estate and title to them would initially be held by the executors or administrators of your estate. Your executors or administrators would accordingly transfer the title of the relevant Nao Bond to the intended beneficiary by sending the company an executed transfer in a form reasonably acceptable to the company.

Q.17 Can I transfer my Bond to another investor?

Yes, the Bond is freely transferable, so you can do this at any point and you will not incur a cost, subject to KYC for the new bondholder being approved by Nao Group's compliance department.

Q.18 Is the Nao Bond issued, recognised by the FCA?

Yes, the FCA currently classify these bonds as standard assets due to the structure controlled by the Central Bank of Ireland and listing on the Irish Stock Exchange, which is a recognised 'major' stock exchange.

Q.19 What security do bondholders have and how are they kept up to date with the performance of their underlying Bond?

We offer full transparency with regards to where bondholders' funds are invested and the performance of the underlying assets. Our administrators are Apex Funds who manage $500 Billion globally for investors across numerous regulated jurisdictions. They have included within their criteria a quarterly update on performance, NAVs, progress on projects and any other material updates.

Q.20 Can we review copies of security, legal charge documents, borrower loan agreements - and who are the parties to the loan agreement?

Our Security Trustee is DMS Governance Risk & Compliance Ltd, whose role is to govern the notes issued and protect the underlying bondholders. Loan parties will be the underlying borrowers and the Collateral Managers, and documents which are not commercially sensitive can be viewed upon request.

Q.21 Can we review the Trust Deed – and who are the parties to this document?

DMS (a CBI authorised and regulated entity) are the Security Trustee, and party to the Deed, along with Audacia Capital (Ireland) plc. It is summarised within the listing particulars which are publicly available on the Irish Stock Exchange website.

Q.22 What happens to investor monies if not utilised?

Monies for Bond issuances are held in the Custodian Account until used by the Collateral Manager. The Custodian Account is with Northern Trust International Banking Corporation. Investor's money will accrue interest under the Coupon terms of each Bond - even if the money is not being used.

Q.23 Who has control of investor funds?

Northern Trust International Banking Corporation is the custodian of the account within which bondholder funds are held. Each account is segregated and there is no risk of cross-contamination from any Bond issued by Audacia Capital plc. Control of the accounts is with Apex Funds and not with the Board of Directors of the plc or the Collateral Managers.

Q.24 Does Nao Group appoint independent lawyers to prepare legal documents?

Yes, Nao Group has engaged Child and Child in London to act on its behalf. Child and Child has considerable experience in working with this structure.

Q.25 Is the Bond a retail investment and therefore be described as suitable for retail investors?

Yes, the current FCA definitions of a 'Standard Asset' require it to be listed on a 'major' exchange. The Irish Stock Exchange meets all the requirements for liquidity and volume of trading. The minimum investment is €10,000 whereas a non-retail product will typically require a minimum investment of €100,000. The Nao Bond has been approved by a number of retail pension trustees and investment platforms who all confirm that the bonds are retail investments.

Q.26 Is the Nao Bond an alternative investment?

The Nao Group operates in the commercial office industry, with properties being used as security to back the Bond. This would mean the investment is standard for a property Bond, however as shared office space is aggressive in growth the fixed returns on offer are higher than conventional office leasing.
