A single-story ranch-style house with a dark grey shingled roof and white gable trim. The left side of the house features a stone veneer finish, including a large multi-paned window and a small arched window above it. The central entrance has a dark door and a small porch. The right side is finished with light-colored horizontal siding and features a two-car garage with a white paneled door and a decorative transom window. The house is set on a green lawn under a blue sky with white clouds.
