

A LITTLE TIME

Lately I'm feeling so lazy
It's not the way I want to be
And It's killing my time
Oh time, can never be on our side
Pushing and pulling me around like the hands of time holding me down
Releasing me seconds just before the minute hand passes you by Now as the hours drift away looking back on all the days I find

Time is a waste of time
Nothing can change it or your mind
Don't think you have time to wait
It's time we made time for wasting a little time

Sit around, looking for the years that I have lost and sat it out
Now look at me, using up now to find a past I didn't see
And now we sit around counting up all the likes we get
Waiting for someone
Counting on something
Fearing a moment
That's already passed you by it couldn't wait

Time is a waste of time
Nothing can change it or your mind
Don't think you have time to wait
It's time we made time for wasting a little time
