PhilHealth to members: Avail of penalty waiver amid energy emergency

MANILA – The Philippine Health Insurance Corporation (PhilHealth) on Tuesday urged direct contributors to take advantage of its one-time penalty waiver for past-due premiums to help ease financial burdens during the current state of national energy emergency.

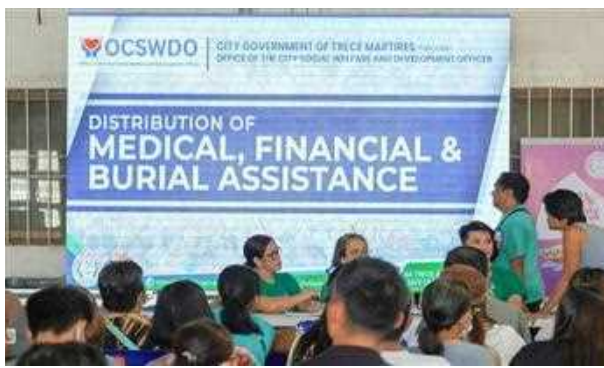

The state insurer issued the call following the declaration of Executive Order 110, which recognizes the heavy impact of the energy emergency on the livelihoods of Filipinos.

While the agency is currently reviewing calls for a temporary suspension of premium collections, it emphasized that the penalty condonation scheme is an immediate measure to provide relief to employers and self-paying members.

"We encourage our direct contributors to avail of this penalty condonation to

How the 3Ps Framework Can Help Filipinos Overcome Economic Hardships

Senate Minority Leader Alan Peter Cayetano is offering a new perspective for Filipinos struggling with rising costs and economic uncertainty. On April 7, 2026, through his CIA 365 vlog, he introduced the 3Ps Framework—Purpose, Potential, and Power—as a roadmap for finding hope and stability during difficult times.

The core of this message is a reminder that even in the face of national problems, local communities and individuals have the capacity to rise above their circumstances. Cayetano emphasized that the current economic trials should not lead to despair, but rather to a clearer focus on how resources and faith can be used to support one another.

The first pillar of the framework is Purpose. Cayetano shared that

LTRFB: P651 million released for fuel subsidy

MANILA, Philippines — The Land Transportation Franchising and Regulatory Board (LTRFB) has released over P651 million in fuel subsidies to public utility vehicle drivers affected by the energy crisis.

"The distribution covers drivers and operators of modern and traditional jeepneys, UV Express, point-to-point buses, transport network vehicle service, taxis, tricycles and delivery services," LTRFB Chairman Vigor Mendoza II said.

Metro Manila received the largest amount of fuel subsidies amounting to P181.278 million followed by Calabarzon with P98.215 million and Central Luzon with P73.416 million.

Mendoza admitted that the LTRFB encountered minor challenges in releasing the fuel subsidy to Metro Manila beneficiaries.

Meanwhile, Department of Social Welfare and Development Secretary Rex Gatchalian said the DWSD would conduct a special payout for drivers who were not on the agency's list so they would be able to receive cash aid

KOMENTARYO:

Nazal beats majority bloc to filing 'Bayanihan 3' bill; eyes automatic relief during energy crises

Cong. Robert Nazal

Amid plans from the House majority bloc to pursue a "Bayanihan 3" measure and provide relief to fuel cost-weary Filipinos, a congressman from the minority bloc did just that.

Bagong Henerasyon (BH) Party-list Rep. Robert Nazal has filed House Bill (HB) No. 8821, or the proposed "National Energy Emergency Relief and Protection Act," which establishes a standing legal framework for ready-to-roll assistance.

Nazal says this "Bayanihan-style" bill eliminates the need to craft emergency measures from scratch during every crisis.

The assistant minority leader says it is automatically activated upon the declaration of a national energy emergency to protect Filipino families, workers, and key sectors.

Nazal announced the filing of HB No.8821 ahead of planned joint hearings from a combination of 13 House committees next week for the purpose of drawing up an emergency response measure.

Committee on Ways and Means Chairman Marikina City 2nd district Rep. Miro Quimbo says the resulting legislature is likely to be a Bayanihan 3, to be loosely patterned to the first two Bayanihan law enacted in 2020 during the height of the Covid-19 pandemic.

Nazal noted the country is already feeling the impact of volatile fuel prices driven by tensions in the Middle East. Thus, he underscored the need for automatic relief once a national energy emergency is declared.

"The Philippines is confronting an energy shock with immediate consequences for transport costs, food distribution, business operations, and household welfare," the party-list solon said in the bill's explanatory note.

He said the measure complements existing executive actions by providing a permanent statutory backbone for crisis response.

"This bill does not duplicate that executive action. It provides what only legislation can firmly establish: a standing statutory framework for automatic relief, market stabilization, logistics continuity, labor protection, and targeted public support during any declared national energy emergency," Nazal explained.

"Ito ay isang praktikal na panukalang batas para sa mahihirap na panahon (It's a practical bill during these trying times)," he said.

Modeled after the pandemic-era Bayanihan laws but tailored for energy-related disruptions, the bill recognizes how fuel shocks ripple across the economy. "In plain terms, a fuel shock does not stop at the pump. It spills into fares, food, electricity, logistics, and the cost of keeping businesses open," Nazal said.

The measure provides a comprehensive package of financial assistance, livelihood support, and cost-of-living protections for vulnerable households and workers. It also proposes a P100-billion Energy Emergency Relief Fund and creates a multi-agency council to oversee implementation and ensure accountability.

Under the bill, qualified low-income families will receive emergency cash aid equivalent to at least two weeks of the regional minimum wage, along with targeted cash transfers and food support.

Displaced workers will be entitled to assistance equivalent to at least one month of the regional minimum wage, plus access to emergency employment, retraining, and livelihood programs.

To prevent layoffs, the measure establishes a wage subsidy program covering 50 percent to 100 percent of workers' wages for up to three months.

Employers are also encouraged to adopt flexible work arrangements such as work-from-home, staggered hours, and employer-provided transport.

The bill mandates automatic financial relief for households once an energy emergency is declared.

These include a 60-day grace period on loans without penalties, a 60-day rent grace period with an eviction ban, and at least a 30-day grace period on utility bills with no disconnections or late fees.

A temporary moratorium on foreclosures and repossessions will also be enforced, covering residential properties and livelihood assets.

The measure also provides fuel subsidies, fare relief, and transport support to protect commuters and transport workers.

It strengthens anti-inflation safeguards through intensified price monitoring, anti-hoarding enforcement, and strategic buffer stocking of essential goods.

"Industries that are exporting should be part of the so-called essential industries in order not to stop the influx of foreign currencies," Nazal said, pointing out the need to protect our Philippine peso.

Nazal said the bill also aims to ensure continuity of livelihoods, essential services, and supply chains during energy disruptions.

Editorial:The Fuel Weight: Straining the Filipino Backbone

As we move through April 2026, the familiar sting of the weekly oil price hike has returned to haunt the Filipino consumer. While we are not seeing the apocalyptic prices feared by some, the steady climb toward the ₱80 to ₱90 per liter mark for premium fuels is creating a heavy ripple effect across the nation. For a country still navigating economic recovery, these "incremental" increases are anything but small—they are a direct tax on the movement of goods, people, and survival.

The Realistic Burden

The current volatility in the global market, driven largely by ongoing geopolitical tensions in oil-producing regions and the seasonal surge in summer power demand, has left the Philippines vulnerable. Because we import nearly all of our fuel, every conflict abroad translates to a more expensive plate of food at home.

Logistics and Food Security: It is a simple but painful math: higher fuel costs mean higher transport costs for farmers in provinces like Benguet or Isabela. By the time their produce reaches Manila, the price of "siling labuyo" or "bigas" has already absorbed the cost of the gas tank.

The Commuter's Dilemma: While fare hikes are regulated, the pressure on our transport workers is immense. Drivers are forced to spend more hours on the road just to break even, leading to a tired workforce and a strained public transport system.

Beyond the Band-Aid

The government has historically relied on fuel subsidies (Pantawid Pasada) to cushion the blow. While these are vital lifelines for public utility drivers, they are temporary fixes for a structural problem.

To truly protect the economy, the conversation must shift toward:

Transparency in Oil Pricing: Ensuring that local oil companies are not "over-recovering" or raising prices faster than the global market dictates.

Strategic Reserves: Strengthening our national fuel reserves to act as a buffer during weeks of high global volatility.

Modernizing Beyond Oil: The current crisis highlights our dangerous dependence on fossil fuels. We must accelerate the transition to electric public transport and renewable energy sources to decouple our daily survival from the whims of foreign oil markets.

The Bottom Line

A few pesos added to a liter of gasoline might seem manageable to some, but for the majority of Filipinos, it is the difference between a full meal and a skipped one. The government must treat the rising cost of fuel not just as a global market trend, but as a domestic emergency that requires swift, strategic, and transparent action.

Our economy cannot keep running on "resilience" alone—it needs affordable energy to move forward.

Some of the latest beneficiaries were barangays in Pilar, Bataan, where the president led the distribution following his attendance at the Araw ng Kagitingan rites.

Recto said the move aims to strengthen barangays as frontliners in responding to community concerns.

"They are the first to see problems and they should also have the capacity to act immediately," he said.

SSS marks 2025 with pension reform and program upgrades; Looks forward to 2026

"We also look forward to 2026 where we continue implementation of existing programs, develop new ones, strengthen member servicing, and expand footprint of SSS nationwide and abroad," De Claro added.

The year 2026 brings with it Tranche 2 (of 3) of the Pension Reform Program for another round of pension increase for all pensioners in September. Also available for 2026 is the Emergency Loan Program up to 9 December 2026 or until the calamity declaration is lifted.

From 17 December 2025 approval by the Social Security Commission of the guidelines for micro loan program, we expect implementation of this loan program early in 2026.

"With guidance from Finance Secretary Frederick D. Go, SSS is looking to implement this micro loan program through partner institutions very soon as a safer and affordable option to borrow cash for short-term needs with 15- to 90-day tenor and interest rate of 8% per annum or 0.67% per month," De Claro said.

Expanding footprint in the Philippines and overseas

Toward ensuring that no Filipino worker is left behind, we shall pursue opening of local and overseas branches in 2026. SSS is looking to establish Foreign Representative Offices in Madrid, San Francisco, and Macau while looking to establish 10 new branches locally.

Massive recruitment of personnel

For 2026, SSS is looking to hire about 1,800 personnel toward completely providing manpower resources in the frontlines – be it physically or virtually through electronic means. This recruitment effort aims to address gaps in service delivery and handling of requests for assistance and various complaints.

Other initiatives for 2026

Other programs being explored include potential partnership with the National Commission of Senior Citizens (NCSC) through Chairperson Ma. Mercedes N. Gutierrez for the Annual Confirmation of Pensioners (ACOP) Program, special programs for gig economy workers, and contribution subsidy program for 2,000 OFWs through P28.8-M commitment from Double Dragon Corporation.

"Looking back at 2025 and forward to 2026, we remain committed to our goal of making SSS relevant in the life of every Filipino at every point in their lives by providing quality social protection, continuous enhancement of member servicing platforms, and espousing the value of saving for the future," De Claro emphasized.

For more information, inquiries, or feedback, members may contact the SSS through hotline 1455, email ussstapayo@sss.gov.ph, and our branches. The Philosophy of Honest Concern

At the heart of this movement is the principle of Honest Concern. The city leadership emphasizes that these services are not merely administrative tasks, but are built on a foundation of genuine empathy and community bond. the biblical story of Joseph, he explained how a nation can be prepared to act as an instrument of blessing. He suggested that when a community understands its unique purpose, it can better manage resources to ensure no citizen is left behind during a crisis.

The second pillar is Potential. The senator pointed out that every individual is equipped with inherent talents and resources. He challenged both leaders and citizens to reach their full capacity, noting that national progress is often stalled when people settle for doing the bare minimum. By tapping into their full potential, Filipinos can find innovative ways to sustain their families and contribute to the local economy.

The final pillar is Power. Cayetano believes that when a person is aligned with their purpose and working toward their potential, the necessary strength and resources will follow. He described this as a form of "spiritual fuel" that prevents burnout and exhaustion when facing the daily grind of high prices and social challenges.

For the everyday reader, this framework serves as a call to action for local leaders to shift their focus toward "filling the gaps" in the lives of the people. It encourages a move away from traditional politics and toward a service-oriented approach where the government acts as a partner in helping citizens realize their own potential and power.

operators and 50,000 public utility vehicle (PUV) units (jeepneys, UV Express, city buses, and EDSA Bus Carousel units) are expected to benefit from the program, serving an estimated 15 million passengers daily. The program will cover 823 routes nationwide, including 545 routes across Metro Manila, Cavite, Laguna, and Rizal. The Land Transportation Franchising and Regulatory Board (LTFRB) is set to release the official route list and fare matrix on Saturday. Under the scheme, modern jeepneys and UV Express units will receive P40 per kilometer, while traditional jeepneys will get P30 per kilometer. For the EDSA Busway, buses will be paid P100 per kilometer. Participating units will operate five days a week with a limit of 100 kilometers per day. Payments to operators are expected to be released within three to five days through online banking channels and e-wallets. "Nag-utos tayo sa LTFRB na ang payment nito must be 3 to 5 days di na po katulad dati na aabot ng isang buwan kasi ito defeats the purpose. JC Dun nga po pumapasok na talagang mas magandang may GPS kasi mas magagawa ng DOTr, LTFRB ang pagbabayad within 3 to 5 days period," Lopez said. Officials said jeepney drivers could earn at least to P1,000 daily under the program, ensuring more stable income. However, the DOTr noted that the P800 million road transport budget may only last about two weeks. "Kailangan paabutin natin 'to hanggang July. Hangga't maaari, humingi nga po tayo ng karagdang pondo. JC Humingi po kami ng additional 5 billion additional para lang mapababaha itong programang ito," he said.
