Cashless transport - one card to rule them all

Thanks to a partnership between the Department of Transportation (DOTr), GCash and Kentkart Philippines, you can use your debit/credit cards, GCash, Maya, QRPH codes, NFC-enabled mobile devices at designated turnstiles in Metro Rail Transit (MRT) three stations to pay for your ride as a part of an open loop automated cashless fare collection system that is the first of its kind in the Philippines. Editorial: Zero Balance Billing Gives Hope, But Healthcare Challenges Remain

The announcement from the Department of Health that 2.1 million Filipinos benefited from the Zero Balance Billing (ZBB) policy in just nine months is a strong reminder that government healthcare programs can genuinely change lives when properly implemented.

For millions of poor and financially struggling families, hospitalization often means more than a health crisis—it becomes a financial disaster. Many Filipinos delay treatment, borrow money, or sell possessions just to pay hospital bills. The ZBB program directly addresses this painful reality by ensuring that indigent patients in public hospitals can receive treatment without leaving buried in debt.

The reported PHP135 billion worth of free hospital services from July 2025 to March 2026 reflects the massive scale of assistance being provided. More importantly, it shows that healthcare reforms are beginning to reach ordinary citizens who need them the most.

President Ferdinand Marcos Jr. deserves recognition for pushing the policy, while Health Secretary Teodoro Herbosa has taken the difficult task of enforcing it nationwide. Expanding access to healthcare is not easy in a country where public hospitals often face overcrowding, limited manpower, and insufficient resources.

Still, while the ZBB policy is a positive step, the bigger question is sustainability.

Free hospitalization means little if hospitals continue struggling with medicine shortages, lack of equipment, understaffed wards, and delayed reimbursements. Many public hospitals remain overwhelmed, especially in provinces where healthcare services are limited. Patients may avoid paying hospital bills, but they still endure long waiting times and uneven quality of care.

There is also the issue of public awareness. Many Filipinos are still unaware that they qualify for Zero Balance Billing or do not fully understand the process for availing of the program. Information campaigns must be strengthened so the poorest sectors can truly benefit.

The government must also ensure that funding remains stable. Healthcare programs cannot rely solely on political momentum or temporary budget increases. Long-term investment in hospitals, healthcare workers, and preventive care is necessary if the country hopes to build a truly reliable healthcare system.

The success of the Zero Balance Billing policy proves that compassionate governance is possible. But real healthcare reform does not end with free hospital bills. It must continue with stronger hospitals, better medical services, and a healthcare system that treats every Filipino with dignity regardless of income. To create a working world that is fairer, more secure, and worthy of the people who sustain it.

Startup coffee brand aims to hit 800 units by end-2026

MANILA – Banking on Filipinos' love for coffee along with more affordable offerings, an official of grab-and-go coffee chain Pickup Coffee expressed confidence for continued expansion amidst the current economic challenges.

To date, the brand has around 500 coffee kiosks around the country, mostly in Metro Manila, and about a hundred stores in Mexico City.

The goal is to have around 800 stores by end-2026, Diego Lorenzo, Pickup Coffee Global Chair and chief executive officer, said in an interview Tuesday night.

The company is now open to franchising, with an initial investment of PHP2 million for the coffee truck's stock, equipment and construction.

Lorenzo said they plan to open as many as 200 more company-owned stores nationwide this year, with the focus on Northern Luzon, Visayas and Mindanao.

He said they cater to people from all walks of life, from those who can afford high-end brands but are open to cheaper options with quality offerings, to those in the C and D levels.

"The more accessible you are, the faster you will grow," he said.

The brand has received capital from venture capitalists and Lorenzo said this is a sign of the brand's potential to post stronger growth going forward.

Rami Chahwan, president of Pickup Coffee, said franchising will complement the existing branches, citing lessons learned over the last 48 months.

He said they have piloted 10 franchise stores over the last three months to ensure they can efficiently cater to more units once this bid is in full bloom.

"This is basically a complimentary challenge. It's kind of an add-on to what we're doing. And since our mission is to uplift everyone, everywhere, we want to try to reach out to everyone, everywhere," he added. (PNA)

Editorial: A Bigger PhilHealth Budget Must Mean Better Healthcare for Filipinos

The dramatic increase in the budget of Philippine Health Insurance Corporation following the return of the P60-billion fund marks a significant moment for public healthcare in the Philippines. With the agency's resources now tripling and benefit packages expanding, Filipinos have every reason to expect meaningful improvements in medical services, hospital coverage, and financial protection against illness.

For years, many citizens have questioned whether PhilHealth was truly delivering on its promise of accessible and affordable healthcare. Patients continued to face high out-of-pocket expenses despite paying contributions, while hospitals struggled with delayed reimbursements and limited coverage packages. The return of the P60-billion fund offers a rare opportunity to correct these long-standing issues.

Expanding benefits is a welcome development. More comprehensive coverage for critical illnesses, outpatient services, and preventive care could ease the burden on millions of families who often fall into debt because of medical emergencies. In a country where healthcare costs can quickly consume household income, stronger PhilHealth support can become the difference between recovery and financial ruin.

However, a larger budget alone does not automatically guarantee better healthcare. The real challenge lies in transparency, efficiency, and accountability. Filipinos deserve clear answers on how the additional funds will be spent, how quickly benefits will reach members, and how the agency plans to avoid controversies that have damaged public trust in the past.

PhilHealth must ensure that the increased funding translates into tangible improvements on the ground: shorter hospital processing times, wider medicine coverage, faster reimbursements, and simpler claims procedures. Rural communities and underserved areas must also feel the impact, not just major urban centers. Healthcare equity should remain at the heart of every reform.

This moment should also remind government leaders that healthcare is not an expense—it is an investment in national productivity and human dignity. A healthy population strengthens the workforce, supports economic growth, and improves overall quality of life.

The return of the P60-billion fund has given PhilHealth a second chance to prove its value to the Filipino people. Now comes the harder part: turning bigger numbers on paper into real relief for ordinary citizens seeking decent and affordable healthcare.

are technically on hold are new hearings and the sponsorships on the floor pending designation of chairmen," wika niya.

Dagdag niya, inaasahan niyang makapagpatawag ng all-Senator caucus sa lalong madaling panahon upang plantsahin ang committee assignments at mga nakabinbing panukala.

Paliwanag ng Senate President, batay sa rules at tradisyon ng Senado, maaaring magpatuloy ang mga komitee habang wala pang pinal na itinalagang mga bagong chairman lalo na kung nasimulan na ang mga pagdinig at deliberasyon.

Binigyang diin din niya na mahalagang maiwasan ang anumang pagkaantala sa trabaho ng Senado, partikular sa mga panukalang may suporta mula sa parehong majority at minority.

Tiniyang ni Cayetano na hindi masasayang ang momentum ng mga panukalang kasalukuyang tinatalakay.

"Technically, you can. It's just a matter of the majority leader, and the new majority would like that on the floor at the moment," wika niya.

Sa gitna ng mga agam-agam kasunod ng leadership change, sinabi ni Cayetano na nananatiling gumagana ang Senado at patuloy na tinutugunan ang mga panukalang may direktang epekto sa publiko.

Naipasa sa Third Reading ang Senate Bill No. 1894 na magpapalakas sa Universal Access to Quality Tertiary Education Act, at Senate Bill No. 1966 na naglalayong gawing permanente ang Assistance to Individuals in Crisis Situations (AICS) program ng Department of Social Welfare and Development. ###

Kasama rin sa programa ang outpatient cancer screening upang makatulong sa maa-gang pagtuklas ng sakit at agarang pagpapagamot.

By being empaneled with a YAKAP Clinic, members gain a reliable healthcare partner that can regularly monitor their health, detect illnesses early, and provide timely medical interventions before conditions become severe.

"Ang pagpili at pagpapa-empanel sa inyong YAKAP Clinic ay hindi lamang pagsunod sa proseso; ito ay ang pagtitiyag na may sandigan ang inyong pamilya bago pa man dumating ang sakit. Sa YAKAP, layon nating protektahan ang kalusugan ng bawat Pilipino upang hindi na humantong sa malubhang karamdaman na mas mahirap at mas mahal gamutin," ayon kay Dr. Edwin M. Mercado.

This week, PhilHealth conducted more than 191 empanelment drives nationwide through outreach missions and registration campaigns to help more communities connect with their chosen clinics.

Members who are unable to register during on-site activities may still select their preferred YAKAP Clinic through the eGovPH Mobile App or the PhilHealth Member Portal.

PhilHealth continues to encourage all members to register with a YAKAP Clinic and take advantage of preventive healthcare services aimed at building a healthier and stronger Filipino nation.

Hindi lamang teknikal na kaalaman sa coconut hybridization ang ihatid ng Radyo Eskwela, kundi maging mga praktikal na pamamaraan sa pamamahala ng taniman, pagpapaunlad ng produksyon, at mga oportunidad na makatutulong sa pagpapalago ng kabuhayan ng mga magsasaka ng niyog sa rehiyon.

Sa kanyang keynote address sa isang video message, binigyang-diin ni Sen. Francis "Kiko" N. Pangilinan, Chairperson ng Senate Committee on Agriculture and Food, ang kahalagahan ng programang nagbibigay ng libreng akses sa edukasyon para sa mga magniniyog.

Dito lang kayo, walang tuition, walang uniform, walang bell. Tenga lang, karanasan, at pananabik na maging kasing-sipag ninyong namumunga ang mga puno ng niyog," ani ni Sen. Pangilinan.

Samantala, sa pamamagitan ng video message, inspirasyon naman ang ipinaabot ni Engr. Remelyn R. Recoter, Director IV ng DA-ATI. Binigyang-diin niya ang kahalagahan ng pagtutulungan ng iba't ibang ahensyang tagapagpatupad ng CFIDP at ang layuning ng coconut hybridization upang mapataas ang produktibidad at mapaunlad ang kabuhayan ng mga magniniyog.

for the Jesuit-run school's new campus south of Cayetano: Senate work contin-ues, key bills moving forward

Senate President Alan
Peter Cayetano on Tuesday gave assurance that Senate
work and pending measures would continue despite the recent leadership change in the chamber, with the Senate approving two priority measures on Third Reading
on his second day as Senate President.

During the Senate
session on May 12, 2026, Cayetano clarified that ongoing hearings, bicameral conferences, and pending committee work may proceed even while the reorganization of Senate committees is still being finalized.

"The only things that are technically on hold are new hearings and the sponsorships on the floor pending designation of chairmen," he said.

Eyeing to convene an
"all-Senator caucus soon"
to discuss committee assignments and pending legislative matters, the Senate President emphasized that under Senate rules and tradition, committees may continue functioning until successors are formally designated, particularly for measures and hearings already underway.

He also stressed the need to avoid unnecessary
delays in legislative work,

especially for pending measures considered important by senators from both the majority and minority blobs.

Cayetano likewise assured fellow senators that bills already under deliberation could still move forward while the chamber settles the reorganization of committees.

"Technically, you can.
It's just a matter of the majority leader, and the new majority would like that on the floor at the moment," he said in response to questions regarding pending measures and sponsorships.

Amid public concerns
following the recent Senate
leadership change, Cay-etano maintained that the chamber continues to perform its legislative duties and process priority measures affecting Filipinos.

That same day, the Chamber approved on Third Reading Senate Bill
No. 1894, or the proposed measure enhancing the Universal Access to Quality Tertiary Education Act,
and Senate Bill No. 1966,
which seeks to institutionalize the Assistance to Individuals in Crisis Situations (AICS) program of the Department of Social Welfare and Development
(DSWD). ###

House Approves on Third Reading Bill Strengthening Protection Against Workplace Discrimination

workplace discrimination beyond disparities in salary, promotions, and employee benefits. It also seeks to address issues involving workplace security, dignity, and fair treatment, recognizing the need for safer and more inclusive working environments for all employees.

According to supporters of the bill, having a job is not enough if workers continue to face discrimination and unequal opportunities in their workplaces. The proposed legislation underscores the importance of ensuring dignity, re-

DE LIMA PUSHES FOR LEGAL PROTECTION OF VERDE ISLAND PASSAGE

House Senior Deputy Minority Leader and Mamamayang Liberal (ML) Partylist Rep. Leila de Lima has filed a measure to declare Verde Island Passage (VIP) a protected area, ensuring the livelihoods and food security of coastal communities.

In filing House Bill (HB) No. 8882 or the "Verde Island Passage Protected Seascape (VIPPS) Act", De Lima seeks to strengthen the protection and sustainable management of the VIP by declaring it a Protected Seascape under the National Integrated Protected Areas System (NIPAS).

"The importance of the VIP is uncontested, yet it continues to lack significant legislative protection against environmental degradation caused by increasing industrial developments," De Lima, an environmental justice advocate, said.

"Protecting Verde Island Passage from ecological ruin is protecting the livelihood and source of food of millions of our countrymen living along its coasts. Immediate legislative intervention to ensure its rehabilitation and conservation is thus crucial," she added.

spect, and equal protection for every Filipino worker regardless of gender.

The approval of House Bill No. 7704 marks another milestone in the advocacy of Lani Mercado-Revilla for inclusive governance and stronger protection of workers' rights, particularly for women who continue to experience workplace inequality and discrimination.

The measure aligns with broader efforts to create safe, fair, and empowering work environments where equal opportunity is upheld and protected by law. Advocates believe the bill will help strengthen policies against discriminatory practices and encourage institutions to adopt more gender-responsive and inclusive workplace standards.

With the bill now approved on third reading, supporters hope it will continue to gain momentum in the legislative process and contribute to advancing labor rights and gender equality in the country. Through initiatives such as this, Lani Mercado-Revilla continues to push for reforms aimed at protecting the welfare and dignity of Filipino workers.

are guided by scientific data rather than political considerations, the bill also mandates the creation of a specialized Fisheries Monitoring Center (FMC) to identify Strict Protection Zones and No-Take Zones through regular scientific assessments and surveys.

If enacted to law, a comprehensive mechanism will be established to prohibit destructive activities such as large-scale mining, the use of explosives or toxic substances in fishing, and the operation of commercial fishing vessels within designated coastal limits.

"Hindi kailanman magiging katanggap-tanggap ang mga benepisyong hatid ng komersyalisasyon kung kapalit nito ay pagsalaula sa kalikasan at pagkakit sa kabuhayan ng ating mga kababayan, at kung ito ay nagsisilbing banta sa seguridad ng pagkain sa kasalukuyan at sunod na henerasyon," De Lima stated.

"To achieve long-term sustainability, we must advance environmental protection and community welfare. Let us prevent further ecological and socio-economic losses. Napakayaman at napakaganda ng Verde Island Passage, alagaan at protektahan natin ito," she added. ###

Cashless transport -

od using any cashless platform at their disposal such as GCash, Maya, NFC-enabled devices, debit credit cards and any other e-platform to ride different transport modes.

Unlike a close loop system which requires a specific card per transport like Beep, the PAFCS envisions a system which will be universal or open to all types of electronic and card platforms or in the alternative a single card which you can use across the transport system under an interoperable system.

The PAFCS will usher in the start of a cashless society especially in transport. This system will allow easier tracking and data gathering to help plan out our transport system. This will also encourage financial inclusion getting most people into the financial system.

For the commuter, this system would eliminate long lines at ticket vending machines. Unlike in the close loop system, commuters do not need to buy a new card but can use their existing payment platforms like GCash or Maya.

It is the dawn of a new age in a contactless automated fare system similar to other systems in other countries. If you have any doubts about the system, try it out at the MRT 3 stations. Hopefully, the system will soon be in place at the LRT 1 and LRT 2 stations. There are buses that are also trying out this new concept. Try it out.
