Rattling Sabres

by
Glen E. Zook

Please excuse this issue for being, basically, nothing! I was in the hospital with Type B flu (I am allergic to the vaccines so I did not have one). Then, I had to have surgery on my right arm and, right now and for the next couple of weeks, it is in, basically, a cast. As such, I cannot really type or do much of anything with my right hand. Since I am right handed, that really cuts into what I can do!

I am definitely learning how to eat with my left hand and a lot of other things as well. Usually, I do a fair amount of things left-handed but nowhere near as much as I am having to do right now!
