

COLORADO HIPAA NOTICE FORM

Notice of Therapists' Policies and Practices to Protect the Privacy of Your Health Information

THIS NOTICE DESCRIBES HOW PSYCHOLOGICAL AND MEDICAL INFORMATION ABOUT YOU MAY BE USED AND DISCLOSED AND HOW YOU CAN GET ACCESS TO THIS INFORMATION. PLEASE REVIEW IT CAREFULLY.

I. Uses and Disclosures for Treatment, Payment, and Health Care Operations

I may use or disclose your protected health information (PHI), for treatment, payment, and health care operations purposes with your consent. To help clarify these terms, here are some definitions:

- “PHI” refers to information in your health record that could identify you.
- “Treatment, Payment and Health Care Operations” – Treatment is when I provide, coordinate or manage your health care and other services related to your health care. An example of treatment would be when I consult with another health care provider, such as your family physician or another therapist. – Payment is when I obtain reimbursement for your healthcare. Examples of payment are when I disclose your PHI to your health insurer to obtain reimbursement for your health care or to determine eligibility or coverage. – Health Care Operations are activities that relate to the performance and operation of my practice. Examples of health care operations are quality assessment and improvement activities, business-related matters such as audits and administrative services, and case management and care coordination.
- “Use” applies only to activities within my [office, clinic, practice group, etc.] such as sharing, employing, applying, utilizing, examining, and analyzing information that identifies you.
- “Disclosure” applies to activities outside of my [office, clinic, practice group, etc.], such as releasing, transferring, or providing access to information about you to other parties. Revised 12/7/2014 2 of 4
- Records are maintained on computer; fax and electronic transmission is utilized on an ongoing process, not a one-time occurrence.

II. Uses and Disclosures Requiring Authorization

I may use or disclose PHI for purposes outside of treatment, payment, or health care operations when your appropriate authorization is obtained. An “authorization” is written permission above and beyond the general consent that permits only specific disclosures. In those instances when I am asked for information for purposes outside of treatment, payment or health care operations, I will obtain an authorization from you before releasing this information. I will also need to obtain an authorization before releasing your Psychotherapy Notes. “Psychotherapy Notes” are notes I have made about our conversation during a private, group, joint, or family counseling session, which I have kept separate from the rest of your medical record. These notes are given a greater degree of protection than PHI. You may revoke all such authorizations (of PHI or Psychotherapy Notes) at any time, provided each revocation is in writing. You may not revoke an authorization to the extent that (1) I have relied on that authorization; or (2) if the authorization was obtained as a condition of obtaining insurance coverage, law provides the insurer the right to contest the claim under the policy.

III. Uses and Disclosures with Neither Consent nor Authorization

I may use or disclose PHI without your consent or authorization in the following circumstances:

- Child Abuse – If I have reasonable cause to know or suspect that a child has been subjected to abuse or neglect, I must immediately report this to the appropriate authorities.
- Adult and Domestic Abuse – If I have reasonable cause to believe that an at-risk adult has been mistreated, self-neglected, or financially exploited and is at imminent risk of mistreatment, selfneglect, or financial exploitation, then I must report this belief to the appropriate authorities.
- Health Oversight Activities – If the Colorado State Board or DORA or an authorized professional review committee is reviewing my services, I may disclose PHI to that board or committee.
- Judicial and Administrative Proceedings – If you are involved in a court proceeding and a request is made for information about your diagnosis and treatment or the records thereof, such information is privileged under state law, and I will not release information without your written authorization or a court order. The privileged does not apply when you are being evaluated or a third party or where the evaluation is court ordered. You will be informed in advance if this is the case.
- Serious Threat to Health or Safety – If you communicate to me a serious threat of imminent physical violence against a specific person or persons, I have a duty to notify any person or persons specifically threatened, as well as a duty to notify an appropriate law enforcement agency or by taking other appropriate action. If I believe that you are at imminent risk of inflicting serious harm on yourself, I may disclose information necessary to protect you. In either case, I may disclose information in order to initiate hospitalization.
- Worker’s Compensation – I may disclose PHI as authorized by and to the extent necessary to comply with laws relating to worker’s compensation or other similar programs, established by law, that provided benefits for work-related injuries or illness without regard to fault.

IV. Patient’s Rights and Therapists’ Duties Patient’s Rights:

- Right to Terminate Services or Therapy- If you wish, I can provide you with the names and phone numbers of other qualified mental health professionals or you can cease treatment all together.
- Right to Information- You are entitled to ask questions about the procedures used during therapy, the approximate duration of therapy (if it can be determined) and the fee structure and policies I use.
- Prevent Electronic Recording- You can decide whether any part of the therapy session is recorded and permission to record must be granted by you in writing explaining the purpose for the recording and for what time period the recording will take place. You have the right to withdraw your permission to record at any time.
- Avoid Dual Relationships with Your Therapist- The relationship with your therapist should remain strictly professional. In this regard, it is unethical and illegal for a therapist to engage in any sexual behavior with any client, at any time. If any sexual behavior occurs, a written complaint should be sent to DORA or a phone call can be made to that agency. The address, phone # and website for that agency are listed below.

- Right to Request Restrictions – You have the right to request restrictions on certain uses and disclosures of protected health information regarding you. However, I am not required to agree to a restriction you request.
- Right to Receive Confidential Communications by Alternative Means and at Alternative Locations – You have the right to request and receive confidential communications of PHI by alternative means and at alternative locations. (For example, you may not want a family member to know that you are seeing me. On your request, I will send your bills to another address.)
- Right to Inspect and Copy – You have the right to inspect or obtain a copy (or both) of PHI in my mental health and billing records used to make decisions about you for as long as the PHI is maintained in the record. I may deny your access to PHI under certain circumstances, but in some cases you may have this decision reviewed. On your request, I will discuss with you the details of the request and denial process.
- Right to Amend – You have the right to request an amendment of PHI for as long as the PHI is maintained in the record. I may deny your request. On your request, I will discuss with you the details of the amendment process.
- Right to an Accounting – You generally have the right to receive an accounting of disclosures of PHI. On your request, I will discuss with you the details of the accounting process.
- Right to a Paper Copy – You have the right to obtain a paper copy of the notice from me upon request, even if you have agreed to receive the notice electronically.

Therapists' Duties:

- I am required by law to maintain the privacy of PHI and to provide you with a notice of my legal duties and privacy practices with respect to PHI. Revised 12/7/2014 4 of 4 • I reserve the right to change the privacy policies and practices described in this notice. Unless I notify you of such changes, however, I am required to abide by the terms currently in effect.
- If I revise my policies and procedures, you will receive a revised version either in person or mailed to the home address you have listed.

V. Professional Records

I keep Protected Health Information about you in two sets of professional records. One set constitutes your Clinical Record. It may include information about your reasons for seeking therapy, a description of the ways in which your problem impacts on your life, your diagnosis, the goals that we set for treatment, your progress towards those goals, your medical and social history, your treatment history, any past treatment records that I receive from other providers, reports of any professional consultations, your billing records, and any reports that have been sent to anyone, including reports to your insurance carrier. Except in unusual circumstances, you may examine and/or receive a copy of your Clinical Record, if you request it in writing. I legally have the right to refuse review if I deem it would be clinically detrimental to you. In most situations, I am allowed to charge a per-page copying fee. If I refuse your request for access to your Clinical Record, you have a right of review, which I will discuss with you upon request. In addition, I also keep a set of Confidential Therapy Notes. These notes are for my own use and are designed to assist me in providing you with the best treatment. While the contents of Confidential Therapy Notes vary from client to client, they can include the contents of the session as it pertains to you, my analysis of that information, and how it impacts your therapy. They also contain particularly sensitive information that you may reveal to me that is not required to be included in your Clinical Record and information that has been supplied to me confidentially by others. These Confidential Therapy Notes are kept separate from your Clinical Record. Your Therapy Notes are not available to you and cannot be sent to anyone else, including insurance companies. Insurance companies cannot require your authorization as a condition of coverage nor penalize you in any way for your refusal to provide it. Your Clinical Record and/or Confidential Therapy Notes may be contained in both an electronic and paper record, and both are secured per HIPAA requirements.

VI. Complaints

If you are concerned that I have violated your privacy rights, or you disagree with a decision I made about access to your records, you may contact: Colorado State Grievance Board, 1560 Broadway, Suite 1340, Denver, Colorado 80202, (303) 894-7766
