

Giulio Brouzet

Press kit bio

Giulio is a musician and teacher in harmonica, both diatonic and chromatic, from Milan, Italy now based in Chicago.

He has been performing for over 30 years in clubs, theatres, churches, and festivals all over Europe, with jazz orchestras, small ensembles, and blues bands. He has also worked in drama free performance improvisation, ethnomusicology research, and music therapy.

Giulio has a Bachelor's degree in Jazz and another in Music Therapy. He has started and held many harmonica classes, including at the Conservatory G. Verdi in Milan for 12 years, and in the Milan jail teaching inmates.

Giulio has recorded for countless artists and has released four CDs. He is currently actively playing in Chicago as a side man and as a one-man band with the aid of beloved harmonicas, singing, piano, guitar, and all sorts of percussion.
