ABOUT BLUJAYE

BluJaye — Artist Bio

BluJaye is a rising country-hip-hop artist redefining modern country music by blending authentic country storytelling with the rhythm, energy, and edge of hip-hop. Born in Chicago and rooted in country influences, her sound reflects the contrast between city life and her deep connection to country culture.

BluJaye discovered her passion for music at 13 through poetry, eventually transforming her words into rhythmic verses and songs. Influenced by country artists including Luke Bryan, Morgan Wallen, Luke Combs, Blanco Brown, Chris Stapleton, and Carrie Underwood, alongside hip-hop legends such as The Notorious B.I.G. and Tupac Shakur, she has developed a sound that is both personal and genre-defying.

After previously releasing hip-hop music, BluJaye is entering a new chapter focused on her country-influenced catalog, with three released singles and more than 20 unreleased songs. Her growing live presence includes performing at Orange Crush Reloaded 2026, competing in the Next2Rise Music Competition, opening for Bike Walk Macon, and opening for country artist Blanco Brown.

Her music has received radio support from 107.1 The Boss and NationWide Sounds Radio, while podcasts, social media, and viral content continue expanding her reach.

Beyond performing, BluJaye writes, records, mixes, and masters her own vocals while building her career independently. Her music draws from real-life experiences, resilience, family, and the pursuit of a better future. Inspired by her child and driven by purpose, BluJaye is building a legacy through music that connects, motivates, and tells stories that are truly her own.

BluJaye isn’t following a lane—she’s creating one.
