DEMANDBASE

Demand Gen vs. ABM

Traditional demand generation is fishing with a net.

You put your content out there and start catching fish. You don't care what fish you catch, as long as you pull in enough of them every month. You then nurture and score them until opportunities come out the other end.

Account Based Marketing is fishing with a spear.

You don't wait for a target account buyer to wander into your net. You reach out to target accounts directly – going after the big fish only. You don't get wasteful 'by-catch', focusing all your efforts on the prospects you need to reach.

This raises the bar on the quality of your data and the relevance of your marketing. ABM is laser-focused.

Your Profile

- I am confident, driven and very goal and success oriented at work
- I am motivated, hard-working, easy-going, competitive, and enjoy schedules
- I believe in recognition for achievements and can easily adapt to situations and roles

You are confident, driven and energetic. You are generally well - spoken, diplomatic and poised, but can also be competitive and may have a tendency to "over work." At your best, you are authentic, self - accepting, charitable, and strive to be a role model for other employees. You have the ability to achieve great things in your work environment, and when you are genuine, others may admire and respect your graciousness and professional accomplishments. You often strive to contribute the best of your abilities to your work and enjoy motivating others to rise to their best and accomplish more than they thought possible. As such, you are usually well regarded by peers who appreciate your desire and motivation to help your firm attain its goals.

You are very goal oriented, highly organized, extremely hardworking, and usually decisive. You will tend to gravitate toward executive, leadership, or management roles in technology, politics, finance, legal professions, or entertainment. Since you enjoy performing, you are ideally suited for acting, broadcasting, public office, public relations, or similar fields. Free time is hard to come by, and you may actually feel guilty when not working. When you do relax, you might enjoy philanthropic volunteering or helping with a political campaign. You also like athletic activities to stay fit and increase endorphins and working on various hobbies or interesting projects.

Your Primary Attributes

Optimistic, competent, confident, hard - working, motivated, goal - oriented, competitive

- You almost always display optimism about everything
- Most will say you are way too busy and tend to overwork

Majority of respondents have direct involvement with cloud applications evaluation, purchase and usage

Overall Conclusions

- Mid-market companies are adopting cloud (mix of private, public, and hybrid) with up to 15 cloud services. This despite most not having an explicit cloud strategy
- Most rate cloud management use cases as "somewhat needed":
 - Benchmarking versus peers
 - Recommendations on cloud service purchase and comparative assessments
 - Monitoring usage for compliance, auditing, and governance reasons
- Top cloud consumption concerns seem to be:
 - Compliance with mandatory regulations (HIPPA, PCIA) and audits
 - Security and privacy (SSH, bank acct) of cloud data
 - Data retention/recovery in the event of disaster or other loss
 - Unauthorized use of cloud services including file sharing (Dropbox), communications (Skype), creative collaboration (Adobe), and purchasing
 - Compliance with frequently updated State PI protection mandates: (https://www.mintz.com/newsletter/2007/PrivSec-DataBreachLaws-02-07/state_data_breach_matrix.pdf)

Security is greatest concern, followed by availability and costs

Case Study

ABM Partner Appointments – Retail Industry

Problem

- The client wanted to offer products to larger retail chain stores and needed ABM help to research and contact target partners to gain account & prospect information.

Solution

- Brickwork contacted target partners via phone and verified decision-makers in charge of managing vendors for the client's solutions.
- Brickwork engaged with decision-makers and gathered detailed firmgraphics, risks, concerns, and solution requirements and scheduled appointments for the client's sales team.

Impact

- The client engaged with decision-makers via scheduled appointments and discussed opportunities to offer/propose solutions to the retailer. The client completed numerous successful calls, closed business, and expanded their market share. The client was very satisfied with the outcome and has entrusted Brickwork with several additional projects.

Case Study

ABM Customer Appointments – Chemical Industry

Problem

- The client wanted to identify target chemical laboratory customers in the APAC region with the capability to manufacture or supply a specific chemical compound via an organic extraction process.

Solution

- Brickwork conducted extensive ABM research to prepare a target list of 20 accounts that matched the client's stringent requirements and detailed firmographics.
- After identifying and analyzing target accounts, Brickwork contacted each via phone and email to qualify the accounts and schedule appointments for the client.

Impact

- Brickwork created a detailed database of target accounts that included firmographics, scoring, and important information.
- Brickwork conducted research on more than 600 accounts, scheduled appointments, and assisted the client in completing a successful ABM campaign to drive revenue.
