Val Halla News

CLOSING DATE

Val Halla will be closing down for the season on Monday, November 16th.

This means that your last chance to play on the greens in the 2020 golf season will be on Sunday, November 15th. Starting on the 16th, we will have temporary greens open on the Front 9 only.

In addition to this, there are a few things to know about the coming weeks and what to expect.

1) We will only have 9-holes open during the week from November 2nd to the 6th and November 9th to the 13th. This is to allow the Maintenance staff 9-holes to do drainage work, tree thinning, and begin to get the course ready to put to bed for the winter. Anyone looking to play 18-holes during the week will just play the same side of the course twice.

2) This is also subject to weather conditions. There is a chance that we may close earlier than the 16th if it becomes clear that low temperatures and snow will hinder the Maintenance crews ability to put winter covers on the greens before snowfall.

3) Over the next two weeks, please make sure to call the Pro Shop before arriving at the golf course. There could be significant frost delays or we could be closed for the day due to weather related issues. To avoid any problems, please make sure to call ahead.

I also want to thank everyone that played golf at Val Halla this year. It's been a crazy year, but everyone that played at Val Halla properly followed our COVID-19 policies which allowed us to stay safe and to keep our doors open this summer. So thank you very much!

If you have any questions please send me an email and I look forward to seeing everyone on the course again in 2021!

Best,
