

Military spouses put off advanced degrees until their families leave the military. Virginia has programs for military families to fill state shortages in nursing, teaching and other critical skill professions.

Now Virginia legislators want to eliminate advanced degrees that would provide job opportunities for military survivors and disabled veteran families.

- Make VMSDEP by law part of the Compact with Virginia's Veterans to make Virginia the most veteran friendly state.
- Give the Virginia Department of Veteran Services full control over VMSDEP so it can honor the Compact.
- Stop veteran family-earned benefits from being turned into a needs-based aid hand-out.
- Stop attempts to compel veteran family applications for federal student aid loans.

Before leaving the military, service members learn about benefits available to them in different states across the country. Thousands choose to bring their families to live, work, and learn in Virginia.

Now Virginia legislators want to cut education benefits for military survivors and disabled veteran families.

FAFSA ROLLOUT BUGS & BLUNDERS

To make more money, colleges need more students to apply for needs-based financial aid. When they tried to make FAFSA easier so more students can apply, they broke the system.

Now they want military survivors and disabled veterans to use FAFSA before they allow veteran education benefits.
