

2010 Winter Summit

December 26, 2010

Attendance:

(6) Peeps, DT, W, TST, REN, BPT (a new record by a landslide)

Public Airing of Grievances:

No new grievances we made public at this time and therefore none were seconded.

Next Generation of Handicaps:

Much discussion and arguing ensued centered on the change in handicaps for the HHS (to established USGA handicaps for those who have them), the potential to make the same change in all other tournaments and, of course, the fate of the PIQ. Was decided by the UFC and (by default) AJ Cup tournament director and the Mondo tournament director to adopt the same approach as the HHS for 2011 and to require everyone in the field to establish USGA handicaps the CDGA handicapping system (HYPERLINK "<http://www.csga.org>" www.cdga.org) or the applicable system in his home state. The discussion grew to a heated pitch when the DHB tournament director was not willing to abandon the current PIQ system for this handicapping system. A motion was brought to the floor to vote on whether all tournaments should have the same handicapping/PIQ approach, specifically the USGA system. A vote was deferred to the end of the meeting.

UFC and AJ Cup Scheduling and Location for 2011:

Timing will be the second half of May and many locations were kicked around with the decision being for the venues and accommodations coordinator to investigate Lake Osage in the Ozarks in Missouri as a location. Could still be closer to Peoria, in the STL area which might also facilitate certain evening activities in and around Busch Stadium. More to come.

W-Slam Recognition

Was decided that while owning all four majors trophies at once is quite an accomplishment, it is not the official Grand Slam, which requires all wins in the same calendar year. However, the group did officially recognize the W-Slam with a nice Fat Tire for W.

AJ Cup Teams / Status:

Discussion centered around the potential to add one or two captains' picks to the format in 2011 with some sitting the foursomes and fourball competitions. Decision was, given the challenge to get even eight qualified players to show up, the potential for hard feelings in captains' picks, and the desire to maintain the exclusive status of those who qualify, that we will stick with 4 on 4 in 2011, with teams determined completely through the qualifying process.

Player DEAD status (Dead to Me, In The Tunnel, Permaded):

Discussion began around the potential for one or more of the elders establishing a dead to me status for those in the traditional invitee list that tend to lead the group on only to perpetually settle on a NO every time. TST nominated CRW for PERMADEAD status but was not successful in gaining enough support and therefore CRW is only In the Tunnel with Killoran. Too complex to go into—just be sure that you don't want to be PERMADEAD. Discussion evolved into a debate over who decides the invitee list for any particular tournament—should the TD have that exclusive power. Coupled with the handicap/PIQ issue, the topic for vote modified to be a judgment of whether the TD should have full responsibility and power to make all tournament rules or should rules around handicaps/PIQs and invitees be consistent across all Majors. Again this was deferred to the vote at the end of the meeting.

Mondo Format Change:

All Agreed that the larger field was great and no changes, beyond the handicap change, could possibly improve the event.

HHS Format / Handicap Change:

All Agreed that the 12 player format and handicap change were outstanding and, with just a little more punctuality, it would have been the perfect tournament.

Women in the Majors:

Voted down 4-2. Although all Trannies are still welcome. Transvestites, not transsexuals.

Trophies:

Peeps will begin work on a Stanley Cup type retractable trophy to replace the current Majors trophy that is now out of space for the UFC and Mondo. The goal is to allow for many, many more champions names on the trophy, while being able to be reduced to the size of a dog dish for easy transportation. Peeps will be the official engraver going forward. Individual tournament trophies are overdue and will likely remain that way.

UFC Videos:

BPT will provide TST will all raw footage from 2009 and 2010 to facilitate the completion of the long awaited videos. Timeliness is not a strong suit of BPT, so this could be a while.

Website Status:

You're looking at it!

Facebook Future:

Most everyone is very lame. Not that easy to navigate and always see what the current communication is, but we'll keep it around. Get on there are start participating, you losers! What are you scared of? Rent The Social Network and all your fears will subside.

Future Majors Growth:

Again the discussion went back to who could invite whom. I mean who. I mean whom. Yep, whom. We will continue to try and add newbies in a non-PIQ event given the publicly held handicapping information. If the DHB is the right place for someone to be added, we will use the process from the past—ask them what they may shoot and then establish a PIQ so they won't win. All agreed to this approach. Also all agreed that elders will evaluate and decide on new invitees, but won't reasonably deny anyone, except women and the bad kind of trannies.

Other Topics:

A vote was taken on the exclusive rules responsibilities and powers of the tournament director specifically when it comes to handicaps/PIQs and Invitees. A supermajority was required to change from the current all powerful and mighty TD to a standard set of rules for handicaps/PIQs and Invitees. The Vote was 3-2 for the change which was not a supermajority. TDs will retain the exclusive responsibility and power to establish all of their tournament rules.

Feats of Strength:

Peeps pinned DT in twelve seconds.
