

2014 UNFROZEN CAVEMAN ROUND BY ROUND RECAP

FINAL ROUND

Underachiever no more, Tommy Wagner is now a Major champion. When did it look like no one could beat Kurly Kunzman on his home course? All the way up to the final hole of the final round. Then in a majestic Majors moment, Tommy Wagner stepped up and drained an unbelievable forty foot putt for birdie, for the UFC championship and for the ages. From there it was just a short walk for the youngster to Schmute Cabin for the presentation of the Black Kirok Wig and the claiming of the trophy.

ROUND 5

Near repeat of 2013 UFC final group. TWAGS has lost his lead to KK but will join W in the last grouping in tomorrow's final round. RAF appears in the elite grouping for the second time in two years as his title defense is on the line. There were no highlights from round 5 per the tournament director. Except for KK's solo 67 which has triggered an official inquiry by the Justice Department.

ROUND 4

The Jeffersons movin' on up the leaderboard. Weezie Deener and Big Dan the Door Man climbed out of the basement and made a charge this morning carding a near record 62. Meanwhile on the other side of the island, MEL lost two balls, four putted and somehow moved significantly up the leaderboard.

ROUND 3

Flappy Steven Bowditch Paddles serves notice that he will indeed defend his title. RAF and KK put on a chipping clinic in today's third round of the UFC. A few dog bollocks drives did not deter their resolve. Meanwhile in the Gobi Baked Colonoscopy event, Scary Clown made a 12 on number 1. BT3 and Big Dan were significantly not much better. TWags still leads but the margin has shrunken (?) as W begins to loom.

ROUND 2

W makes his way up the leaderboard with a Colonoscopy round 75. Meanwhile, TWAGS extends his lead as he and Apples Dillin shot 67 to blow away the entire field. Note: The wind had not kicked up yet.

ROUND 1

Tommy TWags Wagner leads after the first round of the Unfrozen Caveman. He holds onto a slim margin after carding a net 81 in his Goby Baked Lays solo round. Perhaps more telling, PVT and the flashy MEL won the d
