YARNING CIRCLES have been used by First Nations people since the beginning of time and it continues to be an important process with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander culture. A Yarning circle is a practice of speaking and listening from the heart. It is a collaborative way to communicate in a respectful place without judgement. Dialogue allows all to grow in mutual understanding, experience and knowledge. Culturally, it builds respectful relationships and is used to preserve and pass on cultural knowledge."

BLOODLINES is a creation showing the inter-connectedness of the land. It's our food, our culture, our spirit and identity. Luke's bloodlines are connected through the rivers, the mountains, the coastline and the plains. The Wiradjuri Gugar is Luke's family's spiritual emblem. Totems define peoples' roles and responsibilities. The artwork on our shirts represents his four family bloodlines and cultural connections across South Eastern Australia. His art shows his unique style; bold shapes and tones, representing Luke's mob and country with indyamarra (respect).

BEYOND BLUE

LIMITED EDITION

For every shirt sold, Luke Penrith will donate $10 to Beyond Blue.

It takes $48 to ensure that Beyond Blue answer one call, web chat or e-mail 24/7. Over 300,000 people reach out to the Beyond Blue Support Service each year.

These shirts are NSW Rail compliant and available in sizes from XS–4XL. This is a limited edition run of only 500 shirts, the sale of which will raise $5,000 for Beyond Blue.

Not only will you be eligible for your IPP purchasing directly from Indigenous Artist Luke Penrith, but you will be helping your fellow Australians. Mental Health problems affect 20.4% of Australian males aged 18–65 and having Beyond Blue at the other end of the phone helps save lives.
