

The Tech-Less Adventure Program (TLAP) is one of a variety of specialized citizen specific programs designed to educate, mentor and evaluate ages 16 and above. Within TLAP the emphasis is growth intellectually, emotionally and kinesthetically in a 100% technology free environment. TLAP is tailored to the attendee audience and their respective needs/requirements. and presented over a 15 day period.

The TLAP model is based on the three "C" concept of education-training. It begins with building comfort with subjects/activities, confidence and ultimately competence. Each attendee is taken through a variety of disciplines that makeup the TLAP core. The core includes but is not limited to:

- * Psychology of Personal Responsibility
- * Nutrition-Fitness
- * Our World (National-International)
- * Cognitive and Kinetic Phase #1 (Indoors)
- * Cognitive and Kinetic Phase #2 (Outdoors)
- * Cognitive and Kinetic Phase #3 (Wilderness-Land)
- * Cognitive and Kinetic Phase #4 (Wilderness-Water)
- * Culmination Events-Exercises

TLAP prepares each attendee to function/operate as well as lead in a dynamic,exciting, adventurous environment during the 15 day period. All disciplines/training are life skill specific and are taught based upon a progression style concept that culminates with each attendee participating in dynamic, high energy adventures in which all learned disciplines are applied.

The desired TLAP end state...a deeper sense of understanding of yourself, less technology dependence, improved self-esteem and excitement about self-reliance and a renewed overall life outlook.
