

The path to developed dairy farming system

Our Approach

Understanding the dynamics of the global environment, yet be rooted to the local is our strength. Having the right knowledge and knowing how to use it efficiently is a challenge that we solve for our customers using our unique frontier methods and network. The frontier methods have been developed by me over the years and is based on my PhD work I did in evaluating farming systems at Hohenheim University in Germany and NDRI Karnal in India using the Hierarchical cluster method, frontier analysis and goal programming.
