A great way to attract a crowd for both the venue and the photographer is by hosting a reception. This can be as simple as a meet and greet with the photographer over free coffee or can be more elaborate and have a liquor license and a band. Make sure you work with the venue to see what you can offer jointly. Once you decide on an event, we will market it for you. Your event should not be on the opening of the festival itself as this will detract from your event. For a list of dates and what other receptions are planned please contact the Festival Coordinator.

Reception date Time

Brief description

I approve the exhibit content and agree to host this FOCUS on SIMCOE exhibit for the month of June 2019

Authorized Venue Representative Signature

Exhibit Installation Deadline: Midnight, May 31, 2019 (exhibits can be installed in advance)

Items to Review with the Venue

In advance of submitting your registration make sure you discuss the following.

Is the venue aware of the benefits of being a FOCUS on SIMCOE venue?

- They will receive free marketing through our website, catalogue, newsletters and maps.

Is the venue willing to split the exhibitor fees with you such as production and framing of your photos or the registration costs?

- Your exhibit will increase traffic to their venue throughout the month of June. Helping to offset the cost is a small price to pay for the marketing and exposure they will receive through the festival.

Will they help market your exhibit through their website, Facebook pages or other marketing avenues?

- By marketing your exhibit, the venue will see increased traffic. This will be beneficial to both you and the venue.

If you plan on selling your photographs, then how will this take place?

- Odds are the venue will process the transaction. An agreement should be made in writing in advance so that both parties understand the revenue split.

How will insurance be handled?

- Will their current insurance cover your work if anything was to happen? Will it cover the reception and anything that might happen during this time? Make sure you discuss this in advance so they can place a call to their insurance company if required.

What type of installation will they allow?

- How will you display your work? Will the venue allow you to put nails in their walls? Will you paint the wall if there is damage? Cover these topics in advance to avoid surprises.

What happens if there is damage or theft of your work?

- Will you write off the photographs? Will their insurance cover the theft or damage?

Will they allow festival signage to attract traffic?

- Remember that the festival will provide you with signage to increase traffic to the venue. What kind of signage will they agree to displaying?

FOCUS on SIMCOE exhibits can be held anywhere in communities throughout Simcoe county. For a map of the R7 region, visit http://www.mtc.gov.on.ca/images/regions_maps/Region07.pdf.

Exhibit Content

Each exhibit must be a photographic still image. This may be presented through traditional analog print, digital print, monitor, screen projection, mixed media, billboard, postering, photo sculpture, or flags. Looped slide shows or animation of a series of still photographs are acceptable.

Exhibitor Categories

Individual - One person.

Group - An exhibit with two or more participants.

Individual Student or Student Group - Individual students and groups of students who attend a Canadian, publicly funded school or post-secondary institution, undergraduate only.

Featured Exhibits - Exhibits in a private, public, commercial, or not-for-profit gallery. This category is designed to highlight the role galleries play in presenting the work of photographers and to encourage them to do so.

Branded Sponsored Corporate Exhibits - Exhibits sponsored by a corporation interested in aligning its brand with the work of a photographer or group of photographers. However, groups of business employees exhibiting as a team building experience are categorized as groups, and not as branded corporate exhibits.

Why is there a fee to participate?

FOCUS on SIMCOE is a not-for-profit corporation run by volunteers. Fees are used to help in the marketing of the festival as well as the marketing of your exhibit/venue. The fee is supplemented by our sponsors to help with the website, catalog, maps, signage and other marketing efforts.

Venues

The exhibitor is responsible for locating and working with a Venue. FOCUS on SIMCOE is also working with the various businesses throughout Simcoe County to generate awareness and to help match photographers with venues. This will be on a first come first served basis. Keep in mind that the venue has the right to refuse a photographer based on content or changes in their direction. Why not try approaching your local coffee shop, library, community centres or stores in the downtown cores. This festival's primary focus is to generate more foot traffic throughout Simcoe County. This will benefit the local stores as the advertising through FOCUS on SIMCOE is helping them with awareness.

If you are working on a public display the exhibitor will be responsible for arranging and securing all permits and licenses and any other documents required.

FOCUS on SIMCOE will help to drive traffic to the various participating venues. For the best exposure consider partnering with Venues open on weekends and later hours. Consider that most people will be making their viewing rounds during the weekends or after work.

All registrations must include a signed Venue Agreement Form. It is the responsibility of the photographer to work with the venue representative to complete and submit the Venue Agreement Form. FOCUS on SIMCOE assumes that all exhibitors registering on-line will keep a physical copy of the signed Venue Agreement Form.

Exhibit and Venue Reception

A Reception is a great way to generate awareness for your exhibit. FOCUS on SIMCOE encourages both the exhibitor and the venue to partner in such an event. We ask that you avoid the opening date of the festival to ensure maximum participation at your event. The reception can be anytime between June 2nd and June 30th. To ensure maximum exposure work with the festival director to see what dates are taken and to make sure you get your event advertised. If you get the dates in on time your reception will be advertised in the pocket guide/map as well as web and other print. Make sure you and your venue discuss this in advance so that there are no surprises and they can use their marketing engine to help promote the event.

Responsibilities of the Exhibitor

When does the exhibit need to be ready?

As an Exhibitor of the FOCUS on SIMCOE Photography Festival you are responsible for setting up your exhibit in a timely manner. All exhibits must be set up by June 1st and on display for the full month of June. It is the Exhibitor's responsibility to ensure the Venue is aware of this and the Venue representative must sign the Venue Agreement Form indicating their acceptance of these terms.

Who is responsible if there is damage or theft?

Any damage or theft of the exhibit will be the sole responsibility of the Exhibitor and not Vendor or company that the exhibit resides. Keep this in mind as you install your work. Perhaps a short term, off-site insurance rider on your home policy might be in order. Most venues will have public liability insurance. If you have any concerns, address your questions with your venue representative.

Who prints and frames the exhibit?

Photographers are also responsible for all costs associated to mounting, framing, and the installation of their exhibit. FOCUS on SIMCOE offers a First Time Exhibitors Workshop at no cost to help you in answering questions such as how I create an exhibit, how should I display my photographs, how do I print them, how do I market my event and more. Even if you're experienced why not come out and attend to share your knowledge with your peers.

Can I sell my work?

Absolutely. FOCUS on SIMCOE encourages you to get your passion into the hands of people who would appreciate it. Why not try to sell a print? This can take the form of a traditional print or a card or even a calendar. Whatever the format, keep in mind that the Venue is not responsible to handle these transactions. If you work with the Venue they might create a partnership with you for a percentage of the revenues. When pricing your work keep in mind that it should be consistent. If you sell 1 8"x10" print for $50 then make sure all your 8"x10" prints are priced at $50. Consider a 1 pager with thumbnails of the images and a description with the price. This could be a take away for the potential customer. Make sure to include your contact information as well as your website.
