PRAYING THE PROMISE

for a Prodigal Child

Father,

I lift my prodigal child before You today, and I thank You that Your love never gives up and Your grace never runs out. You are the God who restores what is lost, who heals what is broken, and who brings the wayward home.

I pray that You would draw my child back to You with cords of love that cannot be broken. Soften their heart to hear Your voice and to recognize Your presence. Remove every stronghold of the enemy and every lie that keeps them from returning.

Surround them with people who will speak life, show kindness, and point them back to You. Protect them on their journey and cover them with Your mercy and compassion.

I declare that no mistake, no rebellion, and no season is too dark for Your redeeming power. You long to restore, and I choose to believe for Your restoration in their life.

Bring them home, Lord. Restore what the enemy has stolen and turn their tears into testimony. May they fall in love with You all over again and walk in the fullness of the purpose You have for them.

In Jesus' name, Amen.

“For I know the plans I have for you,” declares the Lord, “plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future.”
