Sarah Carroll: 5 Reasons Why your body needs CBD Everyday!

With Plant Medicine Advocate

CBD has been growing in popularity since the 2018 Farm Bill legalized hemp products. Advertisements for CBD and Hemp derived products are prolific. It is almost impossible to avoid seeing them on a daily basis. My clients frequently ask if CBD will make them high, if it is the same as THC, and why would they take CBD when they have access to "the good stuff" with their medical marijuana card. CBD and THC are first cousins that share some qualities, yet interact differently in our bodies. Scientists discovered our endocannabinoid system (ECS) in the 1990's and the body of research subsequently exploded. The discovery of one benefit snowballed into another area, and so forth and so on—which is why I refer to Hemp as "The Mother Plant" in terms of plant medicine. With so many options available to consumers, how do you know what is best for your mind, body and soul?

In this interactive seminar Participants will: 1) Explore the differences between THC and CBD, as well as Marijuana and Hemp; 2) Appreciate the benefits of CBD for a wide variety of physical and mood disorders; 3) Sample a variety of CBD products delivery (if they choose); 4) Investigate the endocannabinoid system as it relates to disorders and symptoms in the lives of those they love; 5) Understand what to look for when purchasing CBD and why quality matters; 6) Be provided a safe space in which to ask embarrassing questions; 7) Articulate the top 5 reasons why everyone should take CBD every day.

Dr. Sarah, a retired Professor of Education, lives with her husband on a small farm in the country with their feline daughters, Sappho, Penelope and GG. Together, they enjoy long walks, bike rides, gardening and family time. Come and hear how her mood, mindset, and overall health have been improved with consistent use of quality CBD.

James Hafer - "Your Spirit Guides"

Have you ever thought about life after physical death? Can you engage the thought that you have a guardian angel/guide that helps you with your physical life? How would you like to explore and discuss ways to get in closer contact with your spirit guide?

In this presentation we will explore and discuss life after so called death. There is no death, only a transition to a new world, the spirit world. Your guides are alive, vibrant beings just as you are. They are eager for you to get to know & interact with them. Welcome to the gateway leading you to a new world, the spirit world.

James discovered Spiritualism in the early 1980's, when his journey led him to the renown spiritualist community, Camp Chesterfield. After walking through the gates of Camp Chesterfield, his life was never the same. It was at that point that spirit truly became a reality in his life. James began taking classes at Chesterfield Spiritualist College (CSC) in the early 1980's. He also began his journey with mediumship & attended development classes. Little did he realize at that time, that he would become a resident teacher at the CSC, a certified development teacher, an astrologer, a gifted clairvoyant medium, and an ordained spiritualist minister.

Additionally, he has had the opportunity to study mediumship throughout the years with outstanding clairvoyant, trance, and physical mediums at Camp Chesterfield, as well as in Europe at the notable De Zwanenhof. It is his passion to connect the spirit world with the physical world with his evidential mediumship. His journey has led him to demonstrate his mediumship throughout the US.

It is a privilege for James to work with spirit and to aid others in becoming aware & conscious of their own inherent true nature.

Recognizing, understanding the spirit world, and how spirit works in everyone's life is also vital to James' work.

Professionally, James holds a master's degree in Nursing, and is a nurse practitioner at a local medical center in Indianapolis, IN. He and his husband Jeremy, reside in Indianapolis with their 2 dogs Macie Grey and Stella YourSpiritualJourney.net

Jeremy Kaylor. "So how does all this work? A Q&A session with Medium, Jeremy Kaylor"

Debbie Keri-Brown: - Saturday "Somewhere Over the Rainbow" and

Sunday - "LIVING EULOGY AND HEBREW PRAYERS FOR THE DEPARTED"

Rainbows have fascinated us for thousands of years and they continue to capture our attention. Hear about the fascinating rainbows that inspired Debbie Keri- Brown's boss to find deeper meaning in his life. Debbie was a paid rainbow researcher and will also share her wisdom on the meanings of rainbows in different cultures throughout time.

Sunday: Join Debbie Keri-Brown for a living eulogy for those still alive in their physical bodies and a Hebrew service of remembrance for the physically departed. These prayers are for those who may be in the process of transitioning or experiencing changes due to health conditions. It's also for those living for whom circumstances have caused a separation and loss of connection to us or the divine. The grief you feel over the emotional losses is deserving of a special rite of passage.

So too, grief or death is not just death of the physical body. It can be the loss of a job, a relationship, the losses as our loved ones progress through various stages of illness, the collective losses in our community....anything where a loss has happened. It can be a spiritual death, where losing their connection to the divine for any length of time, can evoke a grief response in them or others. These could have been healthy or unhealthy experiences. A child's loss of his favorite toy or his favorite rose bush which could not survive the winter storm is no less important than someone's loss of a loved one.

If you have not been able to attend the funeral of a person who has passed from this physical plane, this service is also for you. It is suitable for anyone of any faith and has both secular and nonsecular spiritual components. If you would like to recite your own personal living eulogy or a memorial out loud, that is your choice or you can read/say it quietly. We will cut and remove the cords to experiences and people as your personal needs allow as we move thru these types of grief. Debbie will use various sound healing techniques such as a 528 HZ tuning fork and an historical Asian gong.

She is a motivational speaker on esoteric and spiritual topics as well as a nondenominational minister. Debbie is a Reiki Master chanting songs of peace and praise in six languages as she shares and channels the sacred energies. She is the recipient of the 2015 Spirituality Award from Purpose For Women.
