Tuition is due on the first day of each month. The studio currently accepts payments through Venmo. A link containing the studio's Venmo payment information will be sent prior to the student's first lesson.

Tuition is not a guarantee of the number of lessons that will be given each month – while most months will include 4 lessons, there will also be months that will have as few as 3 or as many as 5. Monthly tuition is calculated by dividing the total annual tuition into 12 equal monthly payments. The studio is open 48 weeks of the year, for a total of 48 lessons.

Tuition depends on enrollment, not attendance, therefore, please choose a lesson time in which you feel confident. The tuition you pay reserves an exclusive weekly time in the teacher's schedule for the student. Please give at least a 2-week notice of any scheduling issues that need to be resolved.

No make-up lessons or refunds will be given for lessons canceled by the student. However, in the case of serious illness that would cause the student to miss lessons for an extended period of time, special arrangements can be made. Also, arrangements for extended vacations may be discussed on a case-by-case basis when a 2-week notice is given. In case of inclement weather or short-term illness, a virtual lesson will take the place of in-person instruction. If a student wishes to terminate lessons at any given time during the year, a two week notice is required.

I have read and agree to the above policy. In addition, I hereby release Bethany Ford, owner of Teaching the Joy of Music, and representatives from all liability of personal injury, illness, property loss, or damages resulting directly or indirectly from Studio activities.
