

Scenario 4

Your good friend is in a new relationship and introduces you to their new partner. The three of you decide to drive to your favourite restaurant for a meal. On the way you pass through an area of town with a large immigrant population. Your friend's new partner starts making extremely offensive and racist statements about immigrants. Your friend looks a little uncomfortable but does not say anything.

