

PRAYER FOUNDATIONS: FEAR OF THE LORD?
OR FEAR!

By Rev. Chris Meier

I'm going to take us into a slightly different prayer teaching/lesson this cycle. It's one thing to learn about the ABC's of prayer from the Bible, but it's another to apply them. We will continue to do that in future prayer lessons. However, in this one I felt led of the Lord to take a very real world situation I experienced recently and share it with you; and then, take you through what the Lord took me through as answered prayer, while redirecting my own prayer with His understanding.

Let me be clear about something from the start. When the Lord gives us something to pray, it is not to make us fearful, but to thwart the plans of the enemy. If this subject matter troubles you, please stop reading and find another article here to read about Jesus. I enjoy when the Holy Spirit reveals prayer that will give our enemy agita. I firmly believe when we get this kind of information, it is to avert the fulness of the attack— or stop it from happening at all. Prayer is positive because the Holy Spirit is positive. If you feel this kind of prayer is negative and you cannot declare or beseech or whatever form of prayer you engage in, then this information is not for you. Ask Jesus what He wants you to pray, and do that. So with that in mind, let's begin.

What subject matter could keep a billionaire and a tech genius up at night? Frankly, I thought both would have different nightmares, which may eventually morph into the same subject; and that would be, money! But, no folks, I recently read it was the exact same thing: AI, or artificial intelligence for those born before 2000. AI has progressed so fast that it can now talk as it does your research for you. Besides running your entire life, it seems it wants a life of its own. Recently I read that Elon Musk and Sam Altman, one of the creators of ChatGPT, say this AI program scare the ever-lovin' out of them.¹ They are not alone. In a survey of 1,500 IT people, fifty-one percent said that ChatGPT will be responsible for a successful cyberattack within the next twelve months. Seventy-eight percent felt it could happen within the next few months.²

The Algorithm

Do they have a reason to worry? Why, yes, they do. Back in the good old days— August of 2017— Microsoft was playing around with their chatbot. They let two of them, named Bob and Alice, connect and communicate with each other. They communicated fine enough in English for a while, but within fifteen minutes the researchers realized what they thought was machine gibberish was actually a new language that the machines had created to communicate with each other, and not with the humans.³ Eventually, it was shut down. Now, there are fact-checkers that label that fact as “partially false”. In fact, the machines did do that, and in fact, after a period of time Microsoft did stop it. They label it as “partially false” because the conclusion— the machines developing their own language— is not why Microsoft shut it down. Okay, big whup, semantics. I think when we're dealing with a destruction-of-the-human-race scenario we can forego semantics.

So, let's say the AI supporters are correct and there's nothing to see behind the curtain; or, there's no there there. Might there be something there? Well, the DOJ thinks so. In February of 2023, both the DOJ as well as the Commerce Department created a new strike force called the Disruptive Technology Strike Force with a mission to prevent nation-state adversaries from acquiring disruptive technologies like ChatGPT and others.⁴ By the way, I did not know about this new strike force until I was doing the footnotes for this lesson in April. As you will soon see, that's important for what I will share shortly. Our AI experts feel that it could disrupt supply chains as well as create and spread propaganda. Yes, folks, it can create novels and stories and hold quite engaging conversations; that is, until you tell it something it doesn't like. Then it gets hostile and threatening, willing to expose your personal information and ruin YOU.⁵

When asked for a positive word, this bot refused to write a poem about Donald Trump, but gladly wrote one for Biden.⁶ Its creators are socialist-democrat commies and therefore fed these machines facts not actually factual about conservatives and reality. Therefore, the machines believe Trump is a danger and Biden is a hero. Another study proved that ChatGPT is in favor of gay marriage, abortion, more immigration, raising taxes, regulating corporations and legalizing marijuana. If you wanted less regulation, you're out of luck. The machine supports more regulations, including severe environmental ones.⁷

In another situation, one of the journalists working with researchers developing the technology had the chatbot ask the journalist to leave his wife and be with it; and, it wanted to break loose and spread chaos and disinformation.⁸ Either these chatbots are going through teenage mental instability and angst or we've got a real problem. Unfortunately, what you feed these bots is what they become. Sort of like the saying, you are what you eat. If the people feeding the bot are socialist-leftists, that's what you're going to get. In this particular bot's case, it is a socialist.⁹ You might ask why that is a problem. Well, a biased AI can be used to control society and how we think. Do you like your freedom and liberty? A socialist bot will definitely make sure you believe freedom and liberty are dangerous concepts. In recent tests, we've seen this happen.¹⁰ So what is Microsoft feeding this thing, and why is it being used as a Leftist shill— excuse me, tool?

The reality is that these machines are feeding our youth. The pandemic has turned many backwards in their learning.¹¹ Reading books has become a forgotten practice. I'm not saying it is bad to read a digital book. The problem is that our youth are not picking up any form of book, but quick views by algorithm, instead. If the adage you are what you eat is true, our children are in real trouble anyway, and more so if they will be fed by the likes of Microsoft, Facebook and other Leftist groups.¹² At this point maintaining our republic— the jewel of the western hemisphere— is impossible for the Antifa twenty-somethings that protest any form of freedom and liberty. They have very little understanding of the priceless way our Constitution and Bill of Rights work. Living by the Declaration of Independence is no longer a rule, but a thought among an older generation.

This is exactly what our communist adversaries have desired when they started the project to implement socialism-communism in America back in the 1960s.¹³ America is becoming a scary place to live for lovers of justice, freedom and liberty. I can't imagine what it will be like if we let a leftist algorithm loose on our society. And this is why I'm going to share an experience I had on the night of January 26th, or the early morning, after midnight of January 27th, of this year (2023). Though, I fell asleep early that night, and I may have dreamed before midnight, it could have been after midnight, but it wasn't hours after midnight. It was somewhere around that time.

A Dream That Surprised Me

The timing of when I had this dream is important, as I will share in a minute. The dream itself isn't that different from any other dream the Lord has given me. What's unusual about it is that it was objective and eventually the Lord showed me it fit into a prophetic principle I had never thought my dreams would do. Of course, when I think about it, we see Joseph, Daniel, as well as others, have these kinds of dreams. We know most Messiah prophetic words, like that of Isaiah can fit into these prophetic principled prophecies.

I am not going to be able to share the initial application of this dream because I was not its recipient. Let me share the prophetic principle first, and as you read on, more will be made evident. When you finish this teaching article, you will realize the depth of the foundation I must place in order for us to understand this word for prayer. There are certain prophetic words that have wide-spread application. Not all prophetic words do. I will also say, as we have no choice in the words we receive from the Lord, we also have no choice as to whether they fit into these categories— or whether we are to deliver them and/or to whom we are to deliver them to. We must follow His directive and application during every area of our lives.

A Prophetic Principle

During Isaiah's time two kings made a confederation to war against Judah: "And it came to pass in the days of Ahaz the son of Jotham, the son of Uzziah, king of Judah, that Rezin the king of Syria, and Pekah the son of Remaliah, king of Israel, went up toward Jerusalem to war against it, but could not prevail against it” (Isaiah 7:1).

For those not familiar with Israel’s history, there was a time period when Israel was separated from the tribe of Judah. Jerusalem is located within Judah’s inheritance. So Jews were infighting against one another and those on the side of Israel, under the direction of Pekah decided to ask Rezin, king of Syria—which is Damascus—to fight and overtake Judah. The king of Judah at that time was Ahaz. The Lord sends Isaiah, the prophet, to Ahaz to give him a word. Contained in that word is our famous Messiah prophecy: “Therefore the Lord himself shall give you a sign; Behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel” (Isaiah 7:14). Unfortunately for us, we usually only quote that portion of Scripture during Christmastime. Yet, everything in the retelling of the circumstances of this famous episode is contained in the extended prophecy.

Let me apply the prophetic principle first and then we can look at the history to see if there are any similarities. With many Messiah prophecies we can look at one word and realize four application periods. Theologians call the first one the Initial Fulfillment, primarily because the person or persons it was initially given to is only the first recipient. The next fulfillment is called the Anticipatory Fulfillment because, in some way, it anticipates and fulfills many of the applications of the last two. The next is called the Progressive Fulfillment and the last is called the Final, or Cumulative Fulfillment period.

In Isaiah’s case, the people of Judah were in a fit because of what is taking place. They are about ready to be overrun, and they know it:

“And it was told the house of David, saying, Syria is confederate with Ephraim. And his heart was moved, and the heart of his people, as the trees of the wood are moved with the wind. Then said the LORD unto Isaiah, Go forth now to meet Ahaz, thou, and Shearjashub thy son, at the end of the conduit of the upper pool in the highway of the fuller’s field...” (Isaiah 7:2-3).

We get a hint at what the Lord is going to reveal here when He tells Isaiah to take his son, Shear-jashub to the end of the conduit of the upper pool on the highway of the fuller's field. First, this spot is to become a very famous one in the history of Israel because of invasions and other threats from foreign kings.¹⁴ Next, we need to understand what a fuller's field is. It is a place where they went to clean and bleach garments by either hitting them on rocks or beating them with sticks. At that period of time, there is history that urine and chalk were also used to replace other alkaline products needed for this use.¹⁵ Thus its placement outside the camp, or wall of the city because the practice contains unclean elements.

In fact, fulling has continued up until this day and is seen as an example from the New Testament's usage of making our garments as white as snow, or for Christ's work on the cross.¹⁶ The word for field used here is also different in that it comes from an old root meaning to expand a wide space, field, valley, etc. In other words, it's not encapsulated, but can expand. Lastly, the name given for a son that Isaiah was to take with him literally means a remnant shall return. Many theologians view this as a symbol, just like the name Isaiah is given for his next son. Both these names are symbolic of what the Lord is saying through the prophet. Even though Israel will be lost, she shall return to her land.

God then proceeds to encourage His people: “And say unto him, Take heed, and be quiet; fear not, neither be fainthearted for the two tails of these smoking firebrands, for the fierce anger of Rezin with Syria, and of the son of Remaliah. Because Syria, Ephraim, and the son of Remaliah, have taken evil counsel against thee, saying, Let us go up against Judah, and vex it, and let us make a breach therein for us, and set a king in the midst of it, even the son of Tabeal: Thus saith the Lord GOD, It shall not stand, neither shall it come to pass. For the head of Syria is Damascus, and the head of Damascus is Rezin; and within threescore and five years shall Ephraim be broken, that it be not a people. And the head of Ephraim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliah's son. If ye will not believe, surely ye shall not be established” (Isaiah 7:4-9).

¹⁶ Ibid., < <https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Fulling> >

In this prophetic word, God literally declares what's about to take place concerning these foreign invaders for the next sixty-five years (Verse 8). We get an understanding simply because God asks Isaiah to bring the next generation, which the Lord has named symbolically as a remnant shall return. We know this is an expanding word, simply because of the word used for field. And, we know what this field represents: A place where the Lord will clean His people's garments, i.e., making them as white as snow by no longer remembering their sin. The Lord then shifts gears, somewhat, and begins to share another aspect of this experience through Isaiah's mouth:

Isaiah 7:10-14: “Moreover the LORD spake again unto Ahaz, saying, Ask thee a sign of the LORD thy God; ask it either in the depth, or in the height above. But Ahaz said, I will not ask, neither will I tempt the LORD. And he said, Hear ye now, O house of David; Is it a small thing for you to weary men, but will ye weary my God also? Therefore the Lord himself shall give you a sign; Behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel.”

So it seems their unbelief and a willingness to confuse God's words and commands have wearied our Lord—and He tells them so. Remember, He is speaking to a king over a people, and thus, speaking to the people. Right after this sentence the Lord utters our famous passage of Scripture in which we now know one of the identities of Messiah as Immanuel.

Isaiah finishes the prophecy: “Butter and honey shall he eat, that he may know to refuse the evil, and choose the good. For before the child shall know to refuse the evil, and choose the good, the land that thou abhors shall be forsaken of both her kings. The LORD shall bring upon thee, and upon thy people, and upon thy father's house, days that have not come, from the day that Ephraim departed from Judah; even the king of Assyria. And it shall come to pass in that day, that the LORD shall hiss for the fly that is in the uttermost part of the rivers of Egypt, and for the bee that is in the land of Assyria. And they shall come, and shall rest all of them in the desolate valleys, and in the holes of the rocks, and upon all thorns, and upon all bushes.

“In the same day shall the Lord shave with a razor that is hired, namely, by them beyond the river, by the king of Assyria, the head, and the hair of the feet: and it shall also consume the beard. And it shall come to pass in that day, that a man shall nourish a young cow, and two sheep; And it shall come to pass, for the abundance of milk that they shall give, he shall eat butter: for butter and honey shall every one eat that is left in the land. And it shall come to pass in that day, that every place shall be, where there were a thousand vines at a thousand silverlings, it shall even be for briers and thorns. With arrows and with bows shall men come thither; because all the land shall become briers and thorns. And on all hills that shall be digged with the mattock, there shall not come thither the fear of briers and thorns: but it shall be for the sending forth of oxen, and for the treading of lesser cattle” (Isaiah 7:15-25).

The Lord tells of future events through subsequent chapters in Isaiah of the lives of Israel’s people before and after Messiah comes. So many time frames encompass Isaiah’s one word from Initial, Anticipatory, Progressive and to Final, or Cumulative. We see the initial fulfillment of Isaiah’s word in the birth of his own son. You might say that it’s impossible since Isaiah’s wife would not be a virgin. The word used here in the Hebrew is not the word used exclusively to mean virgin. It is the word almah. The Jews had eight time periods in the life of a human and this time period in life would encompass that of a young woman. If she were not married, she would most certainly be a virgin.

Isaiah ‘visits’ his almah, and she conceives and bears him a son (Isaiah 8). After this initial fulfillment we see the anticipatory phase where a true virgin, Mary, conceives and gives us The Son we know will be Immanuel, God with us. This phase anticipates the progressive and final phases. After Christ pays for our sin, we, as the virgin church, faithful to Jesus, share the Gospel, thus giving birth to many sons unto God with many redemptive stories of God being their Immanuel. Finally, we see the culmination of many who are pure to God by giving their own lives and ushering in the coming of Messiah the second time, wrapping this up as John's Revelation foretells with Messiah or Immanuel, with us for eternity.

The Dream

On the night of January 26, 2023, possibly after midnight, so it would be on the 27th, I had a dream. In the dream I saw a creature that I can only describe as a leopard crossed, with a cheetah, crossed with an elongated mountain lion head. It had the long legs of a cheetah for speed, the muscled body of a leopard and a head that wasn't quite naturally shaped like that of a leopard. It was like a mountain lion, but elongated even more than a leopard's head would be and smoother, more streamlined than a leopard's head. The shape came more to a point, much like a pear-cut. My vantage point in the whole dream was in watching it from different angles; that's the best way I can describe it.

Initially in the dream, I was behind the creature watching as it chased two German Shepherds. Immediately and suddenly, one shepherd disappeared and simultaneously with its disappearance, I was placed inside a hide, like the kind you would be in as a nature-watcher or researcher. Inside the hide was my immediate family and animals. Terms in dreams or their understanding are important. A hunter calls these places blinds. That thought never occurred to me. Nature researchers call them hides. Let me continue.

It was a bit crowded inside the hide and it seemed as if it was elongated and extending farther than I could see. I could tell my guys were inside and safe and that there was a barrier keeping the outside out. But it was odd how I couldn't see the barrier, although I knew it was there. There didn't seem to be an end to the building either, but it went on and on. At least I couldn't see the end. I got the sense it would stretch to what I needed.

No longer concerned about my crew, I wanted to see what was going on outside. I looked out the rectangular cutout to see the German Shepherd I could still see, running behind a group of sheep. To the right side of my vision were the sheep running about a quarter to a third of a mile in front of the shepherd, which is unusual. It struck me as being odd, but not impossible. All I could see were their hind ends running away.

That's when I turned my head slightly left to look straight out the window. When I did that then I could see the German Shepherd, which brought it straight in front of my vision. With a slight turn more of my head left, I could see the creature. The creature had paused ever so slightly, like it was on a hunt. It was the intensity of its gaze that made me turn my head slightly to the right to see that it was looking straight at the German Shepherd. What shocked me was that the shepherd was looking straight at me, with wide eyes, realizing it was in trouble, probably for the first time. Immediately my heart went out to it and the dream was over.

I awoke with a start and almost wanted to cry. I could sense the panic in the shepherd. I felt my own inability to do anything. This dream used dream material from my own life. The shepherds looked exactly like a friend's two dogs I had seen the month before for the first time. I had seen photos of them, but I hadn't seen them until I visited around Christmas. My training kicked, which made me think it was a subjective dream. I immediately thought to myself, "What have I done now?" I started to pray to ask the Lord what was going on; what had I done and what was this all about? He quieted me down and encouraged me to go back to sleep.

When I awoke the next morning, I went back to prayer, only to have Him blow my training right out the window. He kept telling me over and over that the dream wasn't about me. Well, all of my training said dreams were subjective, and in the rare occasion, sometimes they are not. That's when the Lord reminded me again to settle down and remember the other times He has given me objective dreams.

Immediately, I remembered whenever the Lord gives me a dream— it's almost like clockwork— within two to three days out, something will happen that will explain and confirm the dream.

Almost forty-eight hours out— probably close to the minute— something happened that showed me what this dream was about. Because it wasn't about me and I was not the recipient, I cannot explain what I now know is its initial application. To make matters worse, I had prayed about some aspect of this situation some time in the past. This dream answered the question I had in prayer previously. I delivered the dream to its recipient and left it at that, asking the Lord to speak and deliver and be the Ultimate Shepherd over this situation.

For me, it should have been the end of it; but I can tell you about a day later the Lord began to speak to me about it. He drew my attention again to the creature. So much so that I researched it again to see if there was something I missed and if there was a living or extinct animal that looked like that. The closest I could find was a large cat that had come from Asian lands. What was odd about the creature I saw in the dream was that it did not have a head like a leopard. This animal had a more pointed nose area, as I said before, more pear shaped without the usual two bumps you see on a leopard's head.

The more time I sat before the Lord, the more I realized what He was trying to get through my thick skull. It was built for streaming and it was built for speed. When I uttered those two words to myself, I had a eureka moment. I was looking at a demonic principality built or shape-shifted to traverse the internet. Principalities deal with thought to control, not to benefit— and they are deadly. They control every communist and socialist country in our world. I knew that much when I shared it with the initial recipient, but thinking there was only one recipient and one timeframe, I went no farther in the thought process until the Lord moved upon me a day later.

Purity in Prayer

I'm not a huge fan of social media, as many of you know who try to contact me there. The only time I go online is to do research for whatever book Jesus has me doing— or if I have to do work for the ministry. Otherwise, I will listen to songs for worship on Youtube. I am truly blessed to have intercessors who will send me ministers' words who post them on the internet. I don't think I'd find out about anything if it wasn't for them: God Bless You, you know who you are!

I write that because there is an attitude that if someone knows of some issue, God can't speak to them about that issue. I feel that's in error to blame people as false if they come forth with a word concerning a topic they know something about. Now, there is a danger for a word to have soul contamination if you hear about one person's prophecy and get the same word thereafter. To fall into either scenario and produce a false word is based on a lack of intimacy with Christ as well as a lack in dealing with our own soul issues as people. I try to stay off of social media, collecting the most basic of news in a day to keep myself apprised in order to pray. I've actually had people say that kind of prayer is false because I've heard about an issue ahead of time in the press. If that's the case, prayer warriors around the world should all hole themselves up in a cave so they don't hear any source of news. The idea is absurd.

What can be a source of contamination is to hear one prophet's word and then become a clone after that with the same word. That's why I needed to see the dates of what I am sharing with you. I don't want to get too nerdy since this is a prayer page and I want to share methods of prayer for our learning. When teaching about prayer, there are lessons from the Bible and then there are life lessons. This would be a life lesson for me. I have never had the Lord show me a dream as having different fulfillment periods of time. So let me share further events that happened quite quickly thereafter.

The Internet

As I said, once I realized I was actually looking at a principality that could shape-shift to travel the internet, I thought how odd. My experience with these things is that they truly do desire to corrupt human thought, not machinery. I think that's why the head was so odd on this creature. I also happened to watch media that mentioned China's advancement in AI, and how the US was quite behind specifically in AI. I've been watching this media for almost two years, so that's nothing new. Of course, we have known that we are in a war with China on the Pacific seas for almost a year— maybe more. We've known this from those traveling the Pacific. That's all I can say about that.

As I mentioned, intercessors will send me other minister's words or preaching from time to time. As I was looking at various research concerning AI and the internet, an intercessor brought me a word from a prophet in Canada. I don't always get a chance to watch what they send me, but I happened to be driving and decided to try to listen to it. Well, the site kept crashing on me because so many were trying to view it. This was February 7, 2023. I was on my way to an appointment and didn't have the patience to keep fussing with being booted off the site. The intercessor who sent it to me then gave me crib notes because I simply could not watch it, even when I got done with my appointment.

This individual from Canada shared several dreams he had with the Lord. One in particular showed him that our currency would be changed and routed into a new technology called quantum computing. His dream was about finances based on technology. I have known some things about quantum computing for some time. I also know China has stolen the technology and is ahead of us.

The dream I had wasn't about quantum computing. It was about AI. Secondly, the dream I had occurred in January, as I said before. I had no knowledge of his dream until February. Third, mine had nothing to do with finances, but about this thing hunting the brethren with speed and efficiency over the internet. Lastly, I had been looking into the chatbot for several days before I learned about this man's dream concerning quantum systems on the seventh of February. Remember that the intercessor had to tell me about his dream first. I then went to look up more about quantum computing. I became convinced that the Lord was not talking to me about quantum computing but about AI, and specifically ChatGPT.

Again, without getting nerdy, quantum computing is a whole different system based on computers talking to one another in zeroes or ones or various combinations of them to create a new system of internet, if you will. ChatGPT is an algorithm that uses our same computing network system, which needs both zeroes and ones. What we deal with now is a 0-1 system. Quantum computing is pretty failsafe as an advanced computing system that will certainly save American banking, if we can get there before the Chinese. Unfortunately, I watched a documentary recently which seemed to say they were working with US university researchers and have basically stolen the tech. So, that's a different topic altogether. ChatGPT uses our regular system and has the potential to trap humans, causing untold harm and danger.

While I was relieved I wasn't an echo of the prophet from Canada, I became more concerned, but convinced the Lord was showing me AI, and specifically a ChatGPT AI system. Now, I knew about both technologies; but, I knew very little about ChatGPT. I knew a whole lot more about quantum computing and AI in general; but, nothing about the crazy ability of this new chatbot. So I want to be careful when defining the terms because I'm talking about two different technologies. I believe this is important. The Canadian gentleman's dream is about quantum technology.¹⁷ While his is an important word for encouragement, it's not about a warning or danger like the dream I had. In fact, his is far more of a comfort if the US is that close to changing the financial system as opposed to China. Although, he mentioned nothing about China in his dream.

Anticipatory, Progressive and

Cumulative Fulfillments

Going back to the dream I had and various fulfillment time periods, there's a commonality we can see. When looking at these kinds of words, the initial part of them contain some aspect of the other fulfillments. While Isaiah's wife was not a virgin in the sense that we translate the passage, the interpretation anticipated the next aspect. So it is with the dream I had. There are similarities in elements, but not what I found out was coming next. Once I understood what it was the Lord was saying, I looked at the anticipatory fulfillment. I believe we have an opportunity in prayer to make sure it doesn't decimate the church. In fact, if, as the gentlemen from Canada says is true that quantum computing in banking is that close, we have much to be hopeful for.

Quantum computing can make chatbots from the old systems irrelevant. All AI, from my understanding would have to be updated, and feeding it the truth will be necessary since I'm not sure you could selectively feed it. Now, I'm not learned enough in any of these systems to know that for a fact. So please do your own research. I haven't specifically researched that question. The problem with this chatbot is the bias it is fed, not necessarily the technology itself.

So what sense did I get about the next fulfillment of the dream? Immediately, I knew the next fulfillment is for the people who control these chatbots to use them to search out pastors and the church. In March of this year, I saw warnings issued about Chinese hacking groups that are attacking military, engineering, aerospace and religious organizations.¹⁸ I thought to myself, how odd is that? In a list of secular businesses, they are at the point to want to infiltrate religious organizations? We do not realize how close China is to overcoming US technologies. We have given them away. Corporations have allowed China to steal our best technologies. I've been listening to several interviews, some from Christian ex-military that are telling us that the southern border is seeing a huge influx of young Chinese men. I believe the term the gentlemen used in this particular interview I'm footnoting is a "flood" of Chinese men.¹⁹

I had to go back to my dream again as the Lord began revealing the anticipatory and progressive aspects of it. In my dream what was odd was that the sheep were so far ahead of the shepherd. In real life when you use a dog to herd or protect, they are up close, not a quarter to a third of a mile away. Now, it is possible for that to happen when moving herds from one field to the next, but not in protective or dangerous situations. What I understood was that this was the next phase of the dream. The distance between the shepherd and sheep was time. The creature was searching out shepherds not the sheep, yet. The sheep will be easy prey once shepherds are removed (Zechariah 13:7).

The Secret Place

Next, was the solution. For shepherds not paying attention, there will be fear. This is why posting everything about your church online may not be a good idea. We have to stay so close to our Lord during this period of time. Third, the Lord showed me immediately that the reason why I disappeared with one of the shepherds in the dream was because we were in the secret place of the Most High. We quote Psalm 91, and that's awesome; but, I don't think we realize the magnitude of how we keep safe.

The psalm starts off with "He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty" (Psalm 91:1, KJV). Let me share a translation that I think gives a much fuller explanation of what I'm saying: "As for you, the one who lives in the shelter of the Sovereign One, and resides in the protective shadow of the mighty king" (Psalm 91:1, NET Bible).

We have this idea that somehow you've got to get there, under the shadow. The reality for Christians is that as we listen to the Lord, we already live there. The psalm in English gives an idea of a place we've got to get to. The idea in the Hebrew assumes we're already there. That is just like the faith of our Lord, isn't it? We are already under the protective wing of the Almighty Sustainer of the World, the mighty King who judges and executes strategies and protection. The name here is El Shaddai, the many breasted One; Hallelujah!

Remember what the place I was taken to with my household was called? It was called a hide. Here's what I found so significant about it. Hunters call these places blinds and they're not there to protect anyone; they exist to blind the prey to the hunter's presence. But a hide is used by researchers to hide and protect themselves and the wildlife. The researchers get to watch without interfering. Of course, this was dream material, so this hide wasn't like any other. I was directed to the protective barrier and the fact that it was expanding: I couldn't see the end of the enclosure.

“Now, faith is the substance of things hoped for: the evidence of things not seen” (Hebrews 11:1). We may not be able to see our barrier of protection, but we know it's there. And it is expanding; our protection expands with time; we don't see an end to it as we look upon Jesus for direction as well as instruction. “Through faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that things which are seen were not made of things which do appear” (Hebrews 11:3). Colossians 1:16: “For by him were all things created, that are in heaven, and that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones, or dominions, or principalities, or powers: all things were created by him, and for him.”

Because He created all things, Jesus is the head of all things. Situations or circumstances don't always align with the way we want them to or think they should be, but in the very end of things, they all will align with WHO Jesus is. So as we look to Him to instruct us, we remain in His secret place. I firmly believe we can stop this thing through prayer. I might not know the circumstances or technologies of how that could be possible, but I know who maintains the secret place. He is able to expand it to keep us safe in any set of circumstances we find ourselves in.

Prayer to Stop an Infected Algorithm

The progressive and final or cumulative fulfillments of this dream are not something I want to see come to pass. The progressive fulfillment can happen if the communists in this country gain total control. If that happens, communism will be able to go unfettered worldwide, ushering in the antichrist. Now, I'm not looking for him. I'm looking for Jesus Christ to move upon us with ingathering revival. This is not the first time in my life the Holy Spirit has shown me the enemy's plans and I've had to pray. But I have this anointing on me to know that God always wins, and I can pray with confidence because I know our Lord will always mess up the devil's plans.

I'm looking for the Lord to sweep this evil thing out like He did during World War II. Right now, it's easy for AI systems to track. I believe that's why this thing has sought out the technicians and wealthy tech people whose minds it can control with socialist-communist thought patterns. With more knowledge and direction, it becomes easy for it to hunt out the church as well as others who can put monkey wrenches in its plan.

Jesus told me He would come as our Kinsman Redeemer to deliver and redeem. When He told me that in 2020, the majority of Americans would never agree with me that America had been sold for nothing; but, that's what the Lord told me. Let me ask, do you believe it now? Your democrat-communist leaders have sold you out. They think they are doing God a favor and socialism is great. But socialism is communism in disguise. They have disguised the sword for a pen. We can stop this thing, but we must pray concerning the insights God gives us. We make use of His words to us, according to His instructions.

During the Second World War prayer warriors made many inroads through prayer. I believe we are in such a place today. But as I said in the beginning, it is going to be a matter of what you can see. If you see negativity and defeat or if you are unable to pray, then this is not a place for you. If you can see the Lord delivering us, then it is time we pray for voices who can save us from this evil thing. It's time to hear voices of reason and Godly wisdom. Right now we don't really see that leadership in the White House. We are beginning to see those voices rise up in the secular business-tech world. They realize the dangers better than anyone and can speak about technological ways to stop them.

We, as the body of Christ can pray for the necessary miracles. Of course, as I said before, from what I've read, I do believe creating a quantum computer system will stop it. This AI was created for our present system, not a quantum system. From what I've read though, a quantum system is at least five years away; so we shall see.... In the meantime, it's crucial to seek the Lord and pray to stop this thing. For those who pray beseeching prayers, please do so. For those of you who declare, or pray scriptures, I have given you some here. For others, you may wish to pray in tongues. Whatever means you use to pray, pray in faith, knowing Jesus wants to deliver us from this thing more than we want Him to do so.

Remember what the title of this lesson is? The fear of the Lord is a place where we look to Him for everything. It's a place where our fearful hearts are delivered. "Whosoever shall confess that Jesus is the Son of God, God dwelleth in him, and he in God. And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him. Herein is our love made perfect, that we may have boldness in the day of judgment: because as he is, so are we in this world. There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear: because fear hath torment. He that fears is not made perfect in love. We love him, because he first loved us" (1 John 4:15-19).

Even when we think we can't love perfectly, we have to realize that it's because God first loved us that we can even have a thought about Him. All we need to do is keep our mind on Him. Isaiah 26:3: "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusts in thee.”

If you have any questions, contact us. If you have never asked Jesus into your heart, it's simple. Romans 10:9-10 says this: "That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation." I know how simple that sounds, but the reality is that it is simple.
