The Star-Spangled Banner

Francis Scott Key, a Maryland-born attorney with a thriving practice in Washington, D.C., watched the bombardment of Fort McHenry (during the War of 1812) from a ship anchored in Baltimore's harbor.

Key wrote the lyrics to the initial verse of "The Star-Spangled Banner" on the back side of a letter while watching the large American flag waving over the fort that morning. Back in Baltimore, he continued working until he had completed four verses (only one of which is commonly known today).

By November 1814, Key's lyrics had appeared in print for the first time under the name "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Ironically, the melody Key assigned to accompany the lyrics of "The Star-Spangled Banner" was a pre-existing popular English drinking song called "To Anacreon in Heaven."

During the 2nd half of tonight's concert, we will perform a dramatic and distinctive setting of our national anthem that was arranged by John Williams for the pre-game ceremonies of the 2004 Rose Bowl.

William Schultz

Tonight we honor the esteemed career of William Schultz, Fire Chief of the Wheaton Fire Department, as he begins his retirement on July 1st.

Schultz's extensive career in serving the public began as a firefighter for the Country Club Hills Fire Protection District in 1988. In 1991, he became a firefighter/paramedic with the Hazel Crest Department of Fire, Rescue and Inspectional Services, where he was promoted to lieutenant/paramedic and served as inspectional service coordinator.

In 2003, Wheaton hired Schultz as a battalion chief. He was promoted to deputy fire chief and then fire chief in 2013. He assumed additional responsibilities as director of building and code enforcement in 2019. "Having worked with Bill for the past 19 years, I am thankful for his dedication to keeping our community safe," said Wheaton City Manager Michael Dzugan.

"Whether it was leading the city's emergency medical services and firefighters through a pandemic, planning for any type of disaster or responding to thousands of emergency calls, Bill has demonstrated excellence and integrity. He leads fantastic departments that are well-equipped to continue serving the Wheaton community with top-level services."
