Dana Point Boaters Association Launches New Website to Enhance Community Engagement and Information Accessibility

Dana Point, CA – The Dana Point Boaters Association (DPBA), a leading advocate for boating enthusiasts in Dana Point, California, proudly announces the launch of its newly redesigned website. This significant upgrade promises to enhance community engagement and ensure members and the public have faster, easier access to essential information about harbor activities and boating advocacy.

Key Features of the New DPBA Website Include:

- Enhanced Navigation and User Experience: The website offers streamlined access to resources, including the latest newsletters, event archives, essential boating information, and timely updates from the U.S. Department of Homeland Security, USCG, and Local Notice to Mariners Notifications as they become available.
- Showcase of Achievements: Our website now includes the Dana Point Boaters Association (DPBA) Boater Liaison Program (BLP), crucial in facilitating dialogue and action between boaters and management.
- Membership Portal: Starting January 2025, a new membership portal will open for all boaters. This updated system will simplify the processes for new and existing members to join, renew, and manage their memberships effortlessly, thereby enhancing participation and recruitment.
- Harbor Revitalization Updates: An exciting section devoted to the latest developments in the Dana Point Harbor Revitalization project, offering real-time updates and plans.

The website serves as a hub for the DPBA's extensive resources and reflects our commitment to fostering a vibrant boating community in Dana Point Harbor. "Our new website marks a significant step forward in our mission to support and advocate for Dana Point boaters. It offers an inviting portal for our members to access information, connect, and stay informed about harbor developments," said Anne Eubanks, President of the Dana Point Boaters Association.

We invite everyone to explore the website's new features at DanaPointBoaters.com, designed with our community in mind to provide the best user experience and up-to-date information.

About DPBA: The Dana Point Boaters Association (DPBA) is the leading advocate for recreational boating and the cherished Dana Point Harbor. While the Association addresses various issues affecting boaters in the harbor, our primary focus is on the County of Orange's "Dana Point Harbor Revitalization Plan." We unite boaters & non-boaters who are passionate about promoting, developing, and implementing the best possible revitalization plan for Dana Point Harbor. By collaborating with key stakeholders, including government agencies like the County Board of Supervisors, OC Parks, City of Dana Point, Department of Boating and Waterways, South Coast Water District, and the California Coastal Commission, we ensure that all boaters' needs, wants, and ideas are heard and acted upon. We will positively impact the harbor's future for the next 50 years.
