16th annual Waikiki SPAM JAM

People come out by the thousands for Hawaii's favorite festival featuring their beloved canned treat. Photo by Russ Sumida Hawaii's love of Spam® has long been a source of hilarity and horror to the rest of the nation. Residents consume more than 7 million cans of the salty pink meat every year. Yet, the canned meat also known for its slimy texture never inspired the same affection among fellow Americans.

For many, Spam® never overcame it's reputation as subsistence fare during World War II, when meat was in short supply and Spam helped feed thousands of soldiers around the world. While others considered it a necessary evil, Hawaii residents learned to love the stuff, and in a place that depends on food shipments, Spam was easy to move and store. Its long shelf life makes it one of the food items most coveted and hoarded in times of emergency.

But times they are a-changin'. Thanks to a new generation of chefs with Hawaii ties—like Noreetuh's Chung Chow and Liholiho Yacht Club's Ravi Kapur, who put Spam on their menus in New York and San Francisco, respectively—Hawaii's favorite mystery meat is getting its due. In 2015, Bon Appetit declared Spam® "has officially arrived on the mainland, and we're into it."

Spam® and Hawaii also made the news from coast to coast last year after a rash of Spam thefts led grocery and convenience stores to lock up the familiar blue cans, like jewelry behind glass displays.

All are welcome to see what the fuss is all about during the annual Waikiki SPAM JAM celebrating this beloved food. The 16th annual event will take place 4 to 10 p.m. April 28 on Kalakaua Avenue, between Seaside and Liliuokalani avenues, and is expected to draw 30,000 people.

The free family friendly festival, presented by Outrigger Resorts, will feature entertainment and samplings of creative Spam dishes from over 20 local restaurants including Duke's Waikiki, Egg's 'n Things, Flour and Barley, Gordon Biersch, Herringbone, Hula Grill Waikiki, Kirin Restaurant, Mahaloha Burger, NOI Thai Cuisine, OnoPops, PF Chang's Waikiki, StripSteak, and Waikiki Yokocho. Attendees will taste the variety of ways Spam products can be prepared and enjoyed, from Spam corn dogs to Spam Poke to Spam-inspired cocktails.

You'll also taste the ways Hawaii has shaped parent company Hormel's product innovations, with flavors that appeal to the local palate, such as teriyaki and Portuguese sausage seasoned Spam®.

Gramy-nominated band Hiroshima, who will be performing at Blue Note Hawaii that weekend, will give festival-goers a preview of their final Hawaii show later that evening.

In addition to all that Spammy-goodness, there will plenty of contemporary and traditional Hawaiian entertainment for all to enjoy. There will be three stages set up throughout the festival presented by Outrigger Resorts, Shops of Hawaii and Alaska Airlines. Some of the entertainers festival-goers can look forward to seeing are Hiroshima, Jeff Rasmussen & Robi Kahakala, Ka Hehena, Maunalua, EMKE and the 2017 Kani Ka Pila Grille Talent Search Winner, Ei Nei.

Local retailers also will be on-hand, offering Continues on page 2. We Did It!

Well, it took 10 years. but we finally did it! Thank you to everyone that donated -- and a special shout out to Takumi Abe from the Hyatt Regency, who pulled up to the event a bit early with an entire trunk filled with boxes and boxes of Vienna Sausage -- because together, we finally broke that 1,000 pound ceiling. 1,015 pounds to be exact!

The Hawaii Foodbank has been my charity of choice for over a decade. Those of you who have been around for a while probably remember that for the first 7 or 8 years of the Concierge of the Year event, I would switch charities every single year. In 2008, I landed on the Hawaii Foodbank, and we've been there every since. And thanks to you, we have actually made a difference.

While I cannot seem to put my hands on the total from 2008, we do have records from all the other years, and I just wanted to share it so you know how great a job you have done. Mahalo!

Publisher's Letter Spring has Arrived?

Look at the calendar and it sure says it's springtime, but as I write this I am curled up under a blanket, wearing long sleeves and sweats. That's ok, I am enjoying the chillier weather and, it's still Hawaii. It's not like New York City, which hasn't seen snow like what they're getting in 130 years.

I'm not happy that the weather had kind of blown my whale watching season. I have to admit, the last few years of amazing whale sightings have kind of spoiled me. Although we've been out a few times (though not nearly as much, because, well, it's cold!) we really haven't seen very many. I'm hoping they stick around a bit longer than normal, and I still get one 'whale-soup' sort of day before they all go on their way.

Aside from the weather, spring has arrived with all the activities that kick up around this time. HIFF is bringing back their Spring Showcase this month, the ever-popular SPAMJam is back and our concierge events are definitely stepping up. I'm doing my best to keep them at least two weeks apart, but sometimes, either my schedule or your hosts schedule prevent that. Bear with me when they get too close together, remind me if I forget to invite your team (hey, it happens), and please keep being so great with your communications. Remember there is just one of me and hundreds of you, so it really makes my life a bit easier when you respond, even if its just to say your desk cannot attend. It's always a juggling act trying to get in as many of you as I can from as many different properties, yet still meet the hosts preferences as to whom they would like to bring in-house. Sometimes, not all properties are invited, but please remember it is not personal. It doesn't mean one hotel is better than another. There are just limits as to how many each location can, or are willing, to host, and it's just their marketing preferences as to who they want me to reach out too in order to fill those seats. It may be as simple as who the host would like to see more business from, or reward those who has been supporting them over the years. Believe me when I say every single event has a different invitation list. I do believe I reach out to most properties however, but there are several dozen that never get back to me, so if you feel I haven't reached out in a while, reach out to me. I might just have an outdated email address. Just please don't take it personally if for some reason you were not included. If a hotel has their own concierge desk, we do not always include the front desk. If their desk is outsourced, often we do. But again, every situation is different. As a reminder, if you have RSVP'd and need to cancel, I don't care why you cancel. I simply need to know you cannot attend. Preferably before the event, but, even if it's as an event starts, I need to see an email that you won't be there, or you will not be invited to the next one. Just one, unless you give me a reason otherwise, but those are rules. It helps keep those chronic no-shows down so more people can attend. Thank you!

Just over a decade ago, Kelly Sanders came to town to take over the general manager duties of the Sheraton Waikiki and never looked back. He is one of the most sincere, dedicated professionals ever seen in this town and the difference this man has made at both at his property and the community since he arrived on the island could fill every page of this book. So kudos to Highgate for grabbing him while they could and keeping him in the islands. They were able to lure him from the Starwood/Marriott brand after he spent more than 21 years with the company. He comes to Highgate as Vice President of Operations for their Hawaii portfolio, which includes the newly rebranded Alohilani Resort Waikiki Beach as well as the Hilton Garden Inn, Courtyard Waikiki Beach and Ambassador Hotel. In one of his first moves at the company, he has recruited Cheryl Williams to Highgate as Regional Vice President of Sales and Marketing - Hawaii. Williams had also been with Starwood Hotels for many years, and most recently led The Royal Hawaiian Hotel as their general manager since 2015. Congratulations to both! • Theirs wasn't the only big move recently. Jerry Gibson has stepped down as area vice president of Hilton Hawaii and has joined the Turtle Bay Resort as vice president and managing director. As Hilton's top executive in Hawaii, Gibson oversaw four managed hotels and six Hilton Grand Vacations projects in the Islands, including the Hilton Hawaiian Village Waikiki Beach Resort. • The Ritz-Carlton Residences, Waikiki Beach has announced two new leadership roles in their Sales & Marketing department. Jon Ushijima has been appointed as Director of Asia Sales. He previously served as Director of Resort Sales - Asia for Irongate, the developer of The Ritz-Carlton Residences, Waikiki Beach, as part of the resort's pre-opening team where he spearheaded strategic sales and initiatives in Asia. Also promoted within the property is Huy Vo, who has been appointed Director of Public Relations. He previously served as Director of Marketing for Irongate, also as part of the resort's pre-opening team, where he led all global marketing initiatives for the resort. Both Directors will be instrumental in leading the opening of the resort's Diamond Head Tower. The anticipated launch in Summer 2018 will mark the completion of the resort and feature 246 additional luxury residences, all with unobstructed ocean views, a second resort pool, expanded spa, gourmet market, children's facility, and 2,500 square feet of meeting and event space. • Hawaii's largest pool-and-beach service provider, Waikiki Beach Activities, has announced a series of promotions for its top managers. Accepting the Chief Operating Officer position is Mark Vandenberg, responsible for coordinating with Hilton departmental managers to deliver the bestpossible guest experience. Reporting to Mark is Kekoa Bruhn as Director of Deck Operations. Kekoa, a native-born waterman is WBA's longeststanding employee and responsible for all pool-deck and beach boy staff, concentrating on training and supervision. Mike Murray, former VP for the Hawaii Visitor and Convention Bureau and a respected veteran of Hawaii's hospitality industry, has accepted a special role as Director of Peerless Host Hawaii, WBA's entry into the DMC market with an emphasis on in-house group events. Last, but by no means least, is Kay Oshiro occupying the Chief Financial Officer position. • The Hilton Hawaiian Village Waikiki Beach Resort has announced Jay Yada has been named restaurant manager for Bali Steak & Seafood. Most recently he served as manager of Tommy Bahama Restaurant & Bar in Waikiki, and prior to that role he was at Morton's The Steakhouse in Honolulu. Yada joins the resort's signature restaurant with more than twenty years of experience in the food service and hospitality industry.

Spam® Brand merchandise and unique products. From handcrafted wood carvings to locally handmade jewelry, there should be something there for all tastes to look at, from the likes of Aloha Wood Art; Asian Elements; Casual Movements, Inc;

Crafts Way, LLC; Creative Photo Frames; Diamond Head Taffy; Hawaiian Paradise Candies; Ki-ele; LED Novelties Hawaii, LCC; Lotus Creations; Oahu Gear Company, Pearls & Beads Corp; Simply Wood Studios; Soap By Mama D; and Sunrise Shells Hawaii to name a few.

Event-goers are encouraged to bring a nonperishable food item (such as a can of Spam®) to benefit the Hawaii Foodbank, Waikiki Community Center, and the Visitor Aloha Society. Monetary donations are also welcome. Drivers might want to arrive early because two makai lanes and one mauka lane will be closed beginning at 12:30 p.m. on Kalakaua Avenue, between Kaiulani and Liliuokalani Avenues. Kalakaua will be completely closed at 1:30 p.m. and will reopen at midnight. As one might expect, Waikiki traffic is going to be a bit of a disaster that day, so be sure to plan ahead.

For those who want to skip the traffic and stay overnight, Outrigger Resorts — which is celebrating its 70th anniversary — will give SPAM JAM attendees up to 30 percent off its Waikiki hotel rates. For reservations, visit outrigger.com, or call (800) 688-7444. This offer is subject to change and availability. Some restrictions apply.

For a complete line-up of all of the restaurants participating in this event, their Spammy menu items on display that night, and a list of entertainers, please head to their website at SPAMJAMhawaii.com.

NUTRIDGE ESTATE LAUNCHES NEW TOUR

Beginning this month, the Nutridge Estate, home of Hawaii's first macadamia nut plantation, is launching a new tour of this historical location up Tantalus at Pu'u Ualaka'a State Park. The four hour tour offers plenty of interactive activities, including an authentic imu demonstration, Hawaiian protocols and traditions, cultural workshops and makahiki games, taste fresh macadamia nuts harvested directly on property and indulge in local style cuisine prepared fresh for a homestyle farm to table buffet. Two tours offered daily, Tuesday though Friday, from 9:30 a.m. - 1:30 p.m. or an evening tour from 4 - 8 p.m. nutridgeestate.com.

WAIKIKI IS GONNA BE ROCK'N

There's a new dinner show arriving at the Princess Ka'iulani Hotel this month for a limited run through June. Waikiki Rock'n Reception is an audience participation musical revue set during the wedding reception of a Las Vegas girl and a local boy in 1955. Audiences will enjoy original period style songs, entertainments, and dancing, as well as a full buffet. Expect a handful of prelim shows this month on Saturday the 14th, 21st and 28th, and then Thursday and Saturday nights in May. The final month will be June with shows 4x a week. The best part of the show? Our own Lancey Poo has a role in it! Please note that the show is double cast, so he will not be appearing every night.

SECOND ANNUAL GRAND LANAI RESTAURANT WEEK

Even though mele isn't until next month, I thought it would be fun to take a look back at the history of the oldest and only full-time municipal band in the United States, which happens to be right here in Honolulu.

Did you know that King Kamehameha III created the ROYAL HAWAIIAN BAND in 1836? This year the band will turn 182 years old. Clearly none of the original members are still around but some of the marching tunes and melodies they played during the monarchy period are still played today at concerts around the island. It was originally known as the "King's Band" and considered a military band that performed for state occasions, funeral and parades. The first bandmaster was a gentleman named Oliver, but little is known of him today other than his first name. The most influential of the bandmasters was Heinrich "Henry" Berger who headed the band from 1872 to 1915 and is considered the most influential bandmaster. Mr. Berger's musical arrangement of the "Hymn of Kamehameha I" became the kingdoms national anthem which is now our state anthem "Hawai'i Pono'i" He also created musical arrangements of Hawaiian melodies to fit European standards of music such as marches, polkas and waltzes.

Royal Hawaiian Band during the Monarchy Period

As most of you should be aware King Kalakaua, Queen Lili'uokulani, Princess Likelike and Prince Leleiohoku were all musicians and prolific musical composers. It was Mr. Berger who arranged many of their songs and incorporated them into the repertoire of the band. The most famous song composed by a member of the Hawaiian monarchy is "Aloha 'Oe" composed by Hawaiis' last queen, which can be heard at the closing of every Royal Hawaiian Band concert until this day. This is why Hawaiian music and not European music is the centerpiece of the bands concerts today. For these and many other contributions, Mr. Berger is known as the Father of Hawaiian Music.

During the 20th Century, the band incorporated Hapa Haole music such as songs like "Waikiki," Sophisticated Hula," and "Hukilau."

The Royal Hawaiian Band did not only play on O'ahu, during the monarchy period, but it traveled to Maui, Kaua'i and Hawai'i Island with the Kings & Queens, in addition to Kalaupapa and Moloka'i. The band also made its U.S. debut in San Francisco in a band competition where it took first place. One can only imagine the antics the band members found themselves in in the city by the bay. In the twentieth century the band traveled across the U.S., which included a special performance at Carnegie Hall in addition to grand performances across Europe, Canada and Japan.

Today the band is part of the City and County of Honolulu and is the only full-time municipal band in the whole United States. Clarke Bright is the current bandmaster and was appointed in 2011. Prior he was the band director at Kamehameha Schools. He is also a retired member of the 111th Army National Guard Band, where he served for 21 years, which in a way brings the Royal Hawaiian Band back to its original military roots.

The band performs year-round for free at city & state functions, parades, schools, fairs, shopping malls, graduations, you named it, it plays there. I wonder if they would wear board shorts and do it at the water park? Your guests can catch the band at the following regular performances:

- 'Iolani Palace Fridays at 12 p.m.
- Kapiolani Park Bandstand Sundays at 2 p.m.
- Royal Hawaiian Center Some Thursdays at 1 p.m.
- Ala Moana Center Stage Some Wednesdays at 2 p.m.
- Mililani Town Center First Saturdays at 5 p.m.
- National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific on Sunday, April 1st at 6 a.m.

For more information you can visit their website at rhb-music.com or call 922-5331.

There's another musical entity in Honolulu that's been around since the "reign" of Heinrich Berger and that's the Honolulu Symphony Orchestra, which was founded in 1900. Today it's known as the Hawai'i Symphony Orchestra, but back then it was originally housed in a recreational hall on Punchbowl. It's the second oldest orchestra in the US west of the Rocky Mountains. The big draw this month at HSO is Harry Potter and The Chamber of Secrets In Concert on April 6 & 7 and a tribute concert the film scores of John Williams who created the themes for Star Wars, Indiana Jones and E.T. on April 27. The 21st Annual HIFF Spring Showcase is coming to Regal Dole Cannery Theaters April 6th through the 15th. The Spring Showcase is HIFF's annual 'mini-festival', showcasing some of the best Spring Season films from across the globe. Like the main festival that takes place in November, the Spring Showcase is also a bridge between "East and West," and includes 33 films from 12 countries – ranging from festival favorites from Sundance, Berlin, and Toronto Film Fests, including hits from across the world from China to India to Belgium to Southeast Asia and more.

Things kick off on April 6th with acclaimed director Hirokazu Kore-eda's "The Third Murder," on opening night. This thrilling murder mystery had its world premiere at the Venice Film Festival. The story revolves around a well-known attorney who takes on the defense of a murder suspect (HIFF 2012 Honoree Koji Yakusho), who freely admits his guilt. As he digs deeper into the case, he begins to doubt whether his client is the murderer. This acclaimed film recently swept the Japanese Academy Awards including Best Picture.

Japanese culture is so prevalent in Hawaii that it is no surprise that Japanese films are always the most popular ones at the festival. One third of the films are Japanese, 11 to be exact, including a world premiere, several U.S. premieres, two films about artists, two foodie films, and a return engagement of "Jimami Tofu," one of the most popular films from last fall's HIFF37.

Highlights include the world premiere of "Life in Overtime," and the U.S. premiere of sports comedy "Mixed Doubles!" Two films feature famous artists – "MORI, The Artist's Habitat" about the twilight years of Morikazu Kumagai (aka Mori) and the definitive documentary on Yayoi Kusama, the world famous artists that many people in Honolulu will remember from her iconic polka dots on those pink lady bugs installed in the Ward Village Courtyard as part of the Honolulu Biennial Foundation. The movie, called "Kusama – Infinity" just had its world premiere at Sundance.

Bollywood will also be represented during the Showcase with two Indian films. "The Hungry," is a contemporary retelling of Shakespearian tragedy Titus Andronicus, set in the extravagant surroundings of an Indian wedding while exploring the role of the patriarch and corruption in Indian politics and big business. "Sexy Burga," is about a couple on the run dealing with the agonizing brunt of a night out from a gang of hoodlums. Tossed between shady Samaritans along their sole escape route, they are subject to relentless reenactments of the proverb, "The road to hell is paved with good intentions". This film won the VPRO Tiger Award at the International Film Festival Rotterdam. Similar to last year's film, "Lipstick under my Burkha," it was initially banned by the Indian censorship board, but was later approved after the title was changed to "S Durga".

They're not all foreign films however. The United States is well represented as well, with another third of the movies, covering the gamut of topics. There is the ultra-cute "Pick of the Litter," which takes the viewer on a journey in the lives of 5 labrador retriever puppies who were bred with the intention of becoming a guide dog for the blind. The film joins these puppies from the moment of birth to their final destination, but only the best of the best can make it as a guide dog. Watch the movie to see if any of the 5 puppies make the cut.

From puppies to Mr. Rogers, another featured film centers on the beloved father figure for generations of American children whose asked everyone, "Won't You Be My Neighbor?" The movie will be making its Hawaii premiere, and the animated sequencs are intermixed with archival footage of the show as well as interviews with Fred Rogers family, friends and colleagues. Directed by Academy Award—winning director Morgan Neville (20 Feet from Stardom) the movie examines Rogers legacy, and offers a deliberate and beautiful tribute to an authentic human being and provided a much-needed salve for often-fraught times.

Moving onto a more serious subject, another US entry is "RBG," as in the "Notorious RBG," otherwise known as United States Supreme Court Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg. Her vigorous dissenting opinions and ferocious 20-push-up workouts have earned this tiny, soft-spoken intellectual giant the status of rock star and the the nickname "Notorious RBG." What many don't know is Ginsburg's strategic, trailblazing role in defining gender-discrimination law. Intent on systematically releasing women from second-class status, she argued six pivotal gender-bias cases in the 1970s before an all-male Supreme Court blind to seviem.

Now 84, and still inspired by the lawyers who defended free speech during the Red Scare, Ginsburg refuses to relinquish her passionate duty, steadily fighting for equal rights for all citizens under the law. Through intimate interviews and unprecedented access to Ginsburg's life outside the court, RBG tells the electric story of Ginsburg's consuming love affairs with both the Constitution and her beloved husband Marty—and of a life's work that led her to become an icon of justice in the highest court in the land.

HIFF's Spring Showcase will wrap up on April 15th with "Hearts Beat Loud," a sweetly funny and heartfelt "empty nest" story about a father and daughter who form an unlikely songwriting duo in the summer before she leaves for college. Starring Nick Offerman and Kiersey Clemons, the latest film from Brett Haley (who had two films in last year's showcase), had its world premiere at Sundance, where it also served as that festival's Closing Night Film as well as this one.

For more information on the complete line-up of 33 films or to buy tickets, please head over to

Hilton Concierge Service: It's Not Just for Humans

The Oahu Concierge was first launched in 1998. I started working for it soon afterwards and bought it back in 1999. That's nearly twenty years of issues in my files, and we have run some fun things over the years. As we near my own 20th anniversary, I'm going to pull out a few gems from years past and share them when I feel it's applicable. This article is a perfect example. The world fell in love with Rocky the Monk Seal this past year as she gave birth and nursed her adorable pup on Kaimana Beach for all to see. As I was looking for something earlier today, I found this cute story submitted back in 2009 by Gail (Omura) Watson when she worked for Hilton Concierge. This was back when Gail still went by her married name of Omura, the Hilton still had penguins, flamingo's and wood ducks, and Rocky was only on her third pup! Gail has worked for Hilton since 2000, although she has been on medical leave since 2016.

On February 22, Rocky (RH58),

a six hundred pound Hawaiian

Monk Seal, came up on the beach in front of the Hilton Hawaiian Village to rest for a while. She may have really wanted to check into our Ali'i Tower, but she settled for an area of beach instead. Her concierge service needs were brought to our attention at seven thirty in the morning by a guest who came to our Ali'i desk to report that a seal was on the beach and needed help. Frusta, my coworker, called security and calmed the woman down.

When I had finished with the guest I was assisting, I asked Frusta what had happened. I went to find Kevin from the wildlife department, as I knew he would know what to do. When I couldn't find him, I went to the beach to see if the seal was ok. Kevin was already there along with someone from security, so I joined them to see if I could do anything. Kevin assured me that the seal was alright, but needed to rest. I asked what they needed and they sent me to get a couple of red rubber cones that some workmen had left by a construction area of the hotel to help secure the walkway leading to her.

Rocky was behind the rock wall and not visible to the most of the guests on our beach so the number of people that knew she was there was fairly limited. I was allowed to walk down the path a little closer to see her. At the time, she was looking around to see if she was safe. Now mind you, I have had wonderful experiences with our penguins, swans, and other wildlife at our hotel, but I was not prepared for the gentleness of this huge seal. I felt no fear once I looked into her beautiful eyes that allowed me to see all the way into her heart and soul. I do not speak Seal, but there was definitely some communication going on at that moment. Laugh if you will, but I told her that she was in good hands with Kevin watching out for her. As I went back to my desk I thought, "Ok, now I talk to seals."

Then I thought, "So what? I am already known for talking to penguins, swans, ibises, and ducks, so what can it matter? LOL. Our trainer tells the new hires that I talk to the penguins, and we have fun when I say, "Actually, they talk to me." The other day a co-worker brought her two-year-old to see the penguins, stopping by to see me first and tell her daughter that I was the penguins "Mommy.":-) Hey, come on... you talk to your dog or cat, don't you? LOL.

Anyway, the volunteer seal-sighting people, and two police personnel came shortly after to secure the area for her. After that everyone was given a chance to watch her rest, with the volunteers giving them information about her. We found out she is eight years old, pregnant, and her pup is due in April. This is her third pup which is beyond exciting since the Monk Seal is an endangered species. It has been said that this species of seal is endangered because of its trusting nature, allowing the hunters in the past to get close to them.

When people started arriving for the Submarine ride where they have to go down the path above her, I was concerned. I went to edge of the beach to see what would happen. The crew from Atlantis was working with Kevin all along the dock area. It was an inspiring vision of people pulling together to be courteous, and respectful of our magical visitor.

Maybe someday she will bring her pup to see where she spent the day at the Hilton. Well, maybe not, but I do know that everyone who had a chance to see her that day was emotionally moved by her gentle ways. There was a calm feeling in the air around her. All I know is that our V.I.S. (Very Important Seal) visitor stayed the entire day, meaning she must have felt our Aloha!

Manna was the only one that was not impressed!

UPDATE: Rocky has since given birth to 7 more pups, most famously to Kaimana last year, who was born, nursed and weaned in Waikiki. The pup Gail mentions she was pregnant with at the time was a female born on Larsen's Beach in Kauai, named RH00. That pup was never given a nickname.It was last seen looking emaciated in 2010, and sadly never seen again. NOAA officials assume she did not survive. Manna the penguin now lives at the Baltimore Zoo, which is where he went after the Hilton ended its penguin program a few years back. Gail Watson still lives in Waikiki, and although she was hoping to return to work last month, her lung cancer recently returned and she's busy fighting it, so she officially retired from the Hilton after 18 years at the end of March. Reach out and say hi if you know her. She would love to hear from you.

Chinatown Walking Tour

There's no better way to get to know a city than on foot, and for cultural travelers, the Hawaii Heritage Center offers a Chinatown Historical Walking Tour from 9:30 to 11:30 a m every Wednesday and Friday.

The walk's $30 fee seems steep, but goes toward supporting the nonprofit, volunteer-run organization that aims to perpetuate the rich history of Honolulu's Chinatown.

The tour starts at the center with a talk on the area's history, beginning with the arrival of the first Chinese wave of 1852, signed to five-year contracts to work Hawaii's sugar plantations.

According to center vice-president Karen Motosue, it didn't take long for the Chinese laborers to figure out that staying on the plantation meant they would not have enough money to send home or save, so some fled to fulfill their dreams of starting a business; others worked until the end

"The Chinese were really good at making money," she said. There was little in the area at the time, but these dreamers gravitated to downtown area because "it was close to the banks on Bishop Street, the shops of Fort Street and the government offices. They just thought that if we build it, they will come.'

And they were right. Honolulu residents flocked to Chinatown because it was the place to find the cheapest food, get clothes made and purchase leather goods.

The tour also provides insight into the successive waves of immigrants who helped shape today's multi-cultural Hawaii.

Due to the Chinese Exclusion Act of 1882, the diminishing population of Chinese meant that by the 1930s, Chinatown became Japan Town, home to one of the largest dry goods stores, Musashiya, plus Shinto shrines, movies theaters and 10 Japanese family-run hotels. Over time, these were replaced by Filipino Town's Catholic churches, seamstresses and dance halls.

"Hawaii's newest immigrants could always come here to find the cheapest housing, meet people from their homeland, find someone to talk to.

someone to advise them and get them a job," Motosue said. As each generation of immigrants became successful, they moved out of Chinatown, making way for the next wave, from Thailand, Laos

Our first stop was Char Hung Sut, a popular kama'aina stop for dim sum and manapua since 1945. We were able to take pictures of the dim sum makers, and our guide purchased ma tai su, sweet flaky pastry filled with a combination of vegetables and Chinese roast pork for us to sample.

From there, we made our way to Smith and Hotel, home to Lucky Belly restaurant. A placard here notes this was the site of the first Chinatown fire of 1886, started during a fight among

The fire lasted three days and destroyed eight blocks, displacing 7,000 Chinese residents, destroying 350 homes, and causing $1.5 million ($38 million in today's dollars) in damage. After the fire, the Hawaiian government declared that all new structures should be made of stone or brick but it didn't happen. Wood buildings continued to be put up, contributing to an even more destructive fire in 1900. That fire had been purposefully started under supervision of the fire department to destroy buildings where people had died of the bubonic plague, but raged out of control when strong winds caused embers to fly onto the wood steeple of a church, out of reach of the fire fighters' hoses.

Chef's Corner

Orchids Chef de Cuisine Christian Testa

Christian Testa was born and raised on one of the biggest food centers of the world, Genova, Italy. His extensive knowledge of Italian and international techniques have been refined from his experience at several highly acclaimed hotel kitchens across the globe, such as the Splendido Hotel in Portofino and La Coquille in Bermuda. This training has turned him into quite the Italian cuisine master. His unique techniques, and utilization of the finest ingredients available, allow him to create elegantly simple yet flavorful dishes.

What is your first childhood food memory?

My favorite dish as a child was "Pasta Troffie al Pesto Genovese" with green beans and potato. It is still one of my favorite dishes as an adult.

When did you decide you wanted to be a chef?

I decided that I wanted to be a chef when I was 16 as I started my first job in the industry. It was during the summer break. I worked as a help cook at the Grand Hotel Bristol in Rapallo (Genova, Italy). When I graduated at 18 years old, I decided to follow my dream.

Who would you consider your mentor and why?

My grandmother, Giannina, was definitely my mentor and inspiration. She had a love for cooking and I inherited this passion of cooking from her.

What's your favorite ingredient to work with? Why?

I love working with aromatic herbs such as Rosemary, Thyme, Marjoram, and Sage as these fragrances remind me of my hometown in Genova.

What changes have you made to Orchids since you arrived? What's on the horizon?

Orchids has such a well-known long history and tradition that I respect. I incorporated my past experiences and techniques with the fresh local island flavors. With the new Mediterranean concept of Orchids, I am able to focus not only on the flavors, but a more healthy cuisine for our guests. My cuisine is lighter, clean, rich in vitamins with all of the taste. I try to enhance what the ocean provides and add an Italian touch.

What's your biggest pet peeve in the kitchen?

That would be when my customers have to wait too long for their food.

What's the strangest dish you've ever eaten?

The strangest dish I have ever eaten was in Mexico City - the "Chapuline" Grasshopper, toasted with lemon, salt and chili pepper. It was actually very

Can you name the one dish you remember the most?

The most memorable dish that I can think of would be the Veal Carpaccio alla Piemontese as it is very rich and one of the most popular dishes that my family enjoys.

Where are you from initially?

I am originally from Genova, Italy and most recently lived in South Beach, Miami. Hawaii has always been a dream destination for me since I was a child, and I am now able to live here thanks to the opportunity from Halekulani.

Favorite part of living in Hawaii?

I have only been in Hawaii for one year and four months, however enjoy all aspects of Hawaii and its culture (people, food, weather, and lifestyle).

What restaurant do you like to go too when not working?

I am always curious in trying new cuisines so I go to different restaurants and try not to go to the same restaurant twice.

Favorite past time on your days off?

On my days off, I enjoy spending time with my family, playing tennis, watching soccer, and going to the beach. Lanikai is one of my favorite beaches.

Is there any other information you want to share?

Please come to Orchids and allow me the opportunity to give you an incredible dining experience.

Orchids Lasagnette

Ingredients

Homemade Fresh Pasta cut into 2"x 2" ½ Tbs chopped garlic, onion, shallot 3 07 Fresh scallops 3 oz. Kahuku Shrimp 2 Tbs Extra Virgin Olive

White Wine Chardonnay Salt to taste Chili flakes - to taste 2 07 Avocado 2 07 fresh Tomato Cut in Half

½ Tbs Italian Parsley chopped

Directions:

Toss in the Extra Virgin Olive Oil, garlic, onion, and shallots. Add the shrimps and scallops. (Ensure that the shrimp and scallops are cut the same size so that it cooks evenly and at the same time.) Add white wine and fresh tomato and cook for 4 minutes. Add little bit of the chili flakes and the Italian parsley. Cook the pasta in boiling water with salt and a dash of Olive oil. When the pasta is ready, sauté all ingredients together for three minutes and serve.

Passing through the red light district of wartime Hawaii through the late 20th century, we made our way to the Chinese bakery for a taste of peanut and sesame candy, passing lei sellers, markets and roast duck specialists.

At food purveyor Bo Wah Trading Co., our guide also pointed out an array of joss paper, spirit money and paper jackets, shoes and watches created to be burned during Chinese funerals and ceremonies as a way of sending money and goods to the deceased.

Walking in the company of three gentlemen visiting from Vancouver, Canada, they compared our Chinatown to theirs, and asked me whether I normally frequent these sites.

I said, "Yeah, but I'm usually running a specific errand and don't really look around. So it's really about seeing things with fresh eyes."

There were also places I'd never been, such as the shrine on the second floor of the Lum Sai Ho Tong building, and I'd never watched the process of making look funn, as at the Ying Leong Look Funn Factory on Kekaulike Mall, where we also sampled the finished product. After stops at

We were able to watch look funn being made from scratch at the Ying Leong Look Funn factory

We then got to sample the results when they were done.

Maunakea Marketplace, Oahu Market and the Chinatown Cultural Plaza, the tour ended at the Izumo Taishakyo Mission shrine where we could purchase omamori, amulets for protection or a range of blessings in life, luck and love.

It was a fun morning and the tour ends in time for visitors to break for lunch, retracing their steps to revisit at any of the sites that caught their eye or while on the tour.

The Hawaii Heritage Center is located at 1040 Smith Street, between N. King Street and N. Hotel Street. Call 521-2749 for more information. No walking tour reservations are needed for groups of fewer than 20 people.

Dining Dish

The Hyatt Regency Waikiki Beach Resort & Spa welcomed Jeff Szombaty back to the resort a few months ago. Jeff was the Executive Sous Chef at the hotel from 2011 to 2014 under then Executive Chef Sven Ullrich before heading off to the Hyatt Regency Vancouver to take over Executive Chef responsibilities. When Sven moved to Sydney at the end of last year, Chef Jeff was brought back as Executive Chef and just added the Director of Food & Beverage title to his role as well. As he assumes full responsibility for the hotels F&B program, one of his first official tasks has been to create The Buffet at Hyatt in the former SHOR location. The Buffet will be available from 5:30 - 9:30 p.m.and while the dishes vary base don the day, guests can count on a fresh poke station, king crab legs, traditional Hawaiian specialities, smoked alaea salt crusted prime rib with an extended seafood selection on weekends. The buffet costs $55 during the week, and $59 on weekend, with a 25% discount available to kama'aina. See the full menus for each weeknight online. I checked it out when it first opened, and can tell you it's a winner. My favorite aside from the crab legs? George's Coconut Seafood Curry on the Tues/Thurs menu. So ono. waikiki.regency.hyatt.com. • I also stopped by BASALT to check out a few of their new breakfast and lunch items and really loved their Charcoal Buttermilk Pancakes. Despite the fact that both the pancakes and the whipped cream are black (think ash from the charcoal) they were truly refreshing and flavorful. I hear Chef Keith Kong's gluten-free, vegan Vegetable Piele, which incorporates shredded taro, mashed bananas or breadfruit, and coconut cream. was also a hit, although I was unable to taste it since there were onions in it. 923-5689. • BLT Market has extended their happy hour from 4 to 7 p.m. Enjoy $6 beers, and $9 wines and cocktails with snack items such as oysters, chicken wings and summer rolls for $1.50 each. 729-9729. • Chuck's Steakhouse at the Outrigger Waikiki closed on March 31 after over 50 years. The restaurant closing makes room for a new Outrigger Voyager 47 Club lounge in the beautiful beachfront location which should open in July. • Goma Tei Waikiki has launched a new milk tea. With a blend of 8 different carefully selected tea leaves to create a wonderful and unique flavor, some are even sourced locally from the Big Island. They also add in sugar, prepared with 100% cane sugar infused with a jasmine floral aroma, and evaporated milk to enhance the flavor. Remember, Goma Tei Waikiki always offers a kama'aina discount, and if you show your work ID, you will get a free Ajitama or soft-poached egg with your order. 664-0373. • BUHO Cantina is upping their game with a variety of daily specials. They now offer Margarita Mondays from 6 - 8 p.m. with $5 margs and Patron shots and live music from Son Caribe; Taco Tuesdays with $2 tacos from 5 - 10 p.m.; All you can eat Wing Wednesdays for $20 also from 5 - 10 p.m.; on top of a daily happy hour from 2 - 6 p.m. and then again from 10 p.m. to close, with food and drink specials starting at $3. Get your Mex on in preparation for Cinco de Mayo, and know whatever they do, it will be big. 922-BUHO. • Mexican not your thing? How about a Pac-Man pop up? Yes, you read that correctly. Bread & Butter has partnered with Bandai Namco Entertainment to create a pop-up, Pac-Store Hawaii through May 31st. You will still find all of your favorite items you've grown to love at Bread & Butter, but for a limited time only, there will also be original Pac-Man items for sale, including a special line designed only for Hawaii, and a memorable collaborative menu of food items, all incorporating the iconic Pac-Man shape of course. Don't forget the play the classic game while you're there. Top score could take home a great prize! 949-3430.

Activity Concierge of the Month

NAME: Jordan Johnson

HOTEL: Elite Concierge

TITLE: Concierge

Q. How long have you been with Elite Concierge?

A. I have been a part of the Elite Concierge family since April of 2017.

Q. How big is your team there?

A. Thankfully our team isn't very big at all, about 10 of us all together. It makes it a lot easier to get to know each other and become closer friends.

Q. How did you get your start in this industry?

A. I worked as a guest service agent right out of high school at Sea Life Park and quickly realized how much I loved being able to make our guests' vacations memorable. Now I have a passion for helping people build their most amazing vacations!

Q. What do you think is the biggest challenge there?

A. Honestly, it's trying to figure out what tours and activities will match what guest. For example, though everyone might have their own favorite luau they like to suggest, that same luau might not fit every guest. I try my best to learn about every possible option in every category of tours. I like to hand-pick the tours for each guest and it can get challenging trying to decide what they would enjoy the most, try to keep that perfect tour within the guests desired budget.

Q. What do you like most about this industry?

A. Hands down it's the satisfaction of knowing that I helped someone have an amazing time on their vacation. The sheer joy on their faces after they return is so amazing to me.

Q. What is your favorite restaurant to recommend?

A. It depends on what the guests are looking for. If they're looking for seafood, I'll recommend Azure.A steakhouse? Hys. A great place to grab breakfast? Heavenly Café or Cream Pot. Something a little more upscale? House Without a Key or Beachhouse at the Moana. Oceanfront maybe? Dukes it is. There's so many options, the list could go on forever.

Q. And for activities?

A. Besides the typical circle island tour, Pearl Harbor tour and Luau, I always like to suggest that guests get out and see the Pacific Ocean up close and personal.I like to suggest snorkel tours, kayaking adventures, catamaran sails and especially whale watching sails if the season calls for it. My second favorite thing to suggest is a helicopter ride. One of the most valuable things my boss taught me is the best way for guests to see Hawaii is by air, land and sea.

Q. Do you have one particular guest that stands out?

A. One of the first guests I ever booked at Elite was an older couple and their grandson. They booked a lot of action-packed tours for him to do. On their last day, they came up to my desk and asked to give me a hug. The grandmother, almost in tears, looked right into my eyes and told me "Jordan, I can't thank you enough for all that you've done for us this week. We've had the most incredible time, all thanks to you. We could've never done any of this without you". Those words really changed my life forever. Seeing how happy and grateful she was in return made me feel like the happiest person on the planet and really made me realize how much I absolutely adore this industry and that there's not another job in this world that I could love more than this.
