KEEPING THE HOSPITALITY INDUSTRY INFORMED SINCE 1998

Get ready, West Oahu! The highly anticipated nine-acre waterfront recreation and lifestyle project includes the world's largest deep-water standing surf wave, a 52-acre Lagoon for water sports, three restaurants, a private club and retail shows, and a sprawling event lawn with waterfront fire pits is opening this month.

E Komo Mai

Wai Kai

Wai Kai will be the hottest destination on the island when it opens, offering something for everyone. The Wai Kai Wave emulates famous natural standing waves such as the North Shore Waimea River Sand Bar or the Eisbach River in Munich for high-speed carving turns and an authentic surf experience in a full-service surf park. This is not a "sheet wave" like you may have seen at water parks or cruise ships. The Wai Kai Wave is an authentic surf experience. The patented citywave® technology creates deep water in front and behind the wave allowing for the use of real surfboards with fins for carving turns and top to bottom surfing on a natural wave shape with a glassy surface.

The 100-foot-wide wave will have the ability to be run as one giant open canvas to shred on (ideal for contests or pro surf demos but with its moveable dividers, it can be divided into 2 or 3 surfing channels. Changing the pump configuration allows the waves' size and width to be adjusted as necessary. The Wai Kai Wave offers a fun and exhilarating surf experience for all surf skill levels on demand, which maximizes the ability to run contests, create a variety of waves for varying skill levels, and have over 30 people/hour surfing. The versatility of the wave is also great for all forms of wave riding, including SUPs, body boarding, and body surfing. After the recent rash of big wave surfing accidents, including those at Pipeline a few weeks ago, guests can rest assured that the entire surf pool is padded with a specially developed foam to create soft falls. Helmets are provided to all kids and first-timers. When you fall (or decide to take a break), you get pushed out into a 4-foot deep area of water behind the surf zone of the wave and exit the pool from the back and get in line for your next turn while you rest.

Not looking to Hang Ten but want to get wet? The Wai Kai Lagoon offers all your favorite paddle sports, from stand-up paddle boards, paddle boats, kayaks, SUP Yoga, and outrigger canoes in the 52-acre inland water area safe from ocean

The 'Ukulele Picnic in Hawaii'i has been sharing the spirit of Hawaiian music and Aloha around the world through the delightful sounds of the 'ukulele for over a decade. Due to the pandemic, the event had to be held virtually for the past few years, but organizers have announced that the 14th annual event will take place in person from February 17-19.

Hosted by the 'Ukulele Foundation of Hawaii'i, the 'Ukulele Picnic in Hawaii'i is a free event that uses the 'ukulele to connect people. Kazuyuki Sekiguchi, best known as the bass player from the Japanese rock band Southern All Stars, created the event in 2009 to allow people around the world to connect through their mutual love of the ukulele, despite differences in language and culture. The universal language of this

Happy Valentine's Day

Happy Valentine's Day! Consider this your reminder to make reservations NOW for whatever restaurant you are interested in. As usual, I was emailed dozens of special menus for that night, but there was simply no room to include them. Log into your favorite restaurant to see what they offer, and make your reservations soon before they sell out. Are you looking for a few out-of-the-box ideas? Here are a few. There are a few special concerts that evening, or there's always a show. Perhaps book the magic dinner show or Rock-A-Hula. Coral Crater's Mele Luau is a Polynesian love story. There's also no reason one has to celebrate Valentine's Day on the actual day itself. It is a Tuesday, after all. The Hawaii Opera Theatre is putting on a romantic comedy the following weekend, rewriting a classic to set it here in Hawaii, making it a perfect date night - and they're offering 20% off tickets for you and your guests with the code OAHU. Speaking of the following weekend, it is jam-packed with plenty of events, as you can see from our editorial this month, so let's just say tickets would make a great gift inside that Valentine's card.

Don't forget it's whale season. Seeing these magnificent creatures up close is a magical experience; fortunately, those of us in Hawaii get that chance every year. How special would it be for your visitors to have that opportunity with their loved ones on Valentine's Day? Of course, one can always take advantage of our beautiful landscape and pack a picnic to take to one of our beautiful beaches or parks or hike. Please remember to follow all safety precautions and not become a statistic. Giving our hard-working emergency crews a day off from anything tragic would be a fabulous way to let them enjoy their Valentine's Day.

These are just a few ideas for those not looking to spend big money in restaurants that day. As they say... Lucky we Live Hawaii! It always gives us plenty of opportunities to get creative in how to say I Love You.

Here's wishing you all a fabulous day with you and yours. I'll be seeing you around. Aloha!

Lisa Matsuda

The Halekulani Hotel has announced three new appointments to their management team. The hotel welcomed Lisa Matsuda as Director of Sales and Marketing. Bringing with her over 20-years of experience, Lisa has spent time with Hilton Hotels, Marriott International, and was most recently at the Hyatt Regency Waikiki. Matsuda will oversee all domestic and international markets. Joseph Diver will oversee all food and beverage operations at both Halekulani and Halepuna's dining venues as the new Director of Food & Beverage Operations. He brings with him extensive knowledge of luxury and fine dining and has held food and beverage management position across the country. Eva Taba has rejoined the hotel as Director of Rooms. In years past, she held the position of both Hotel Assistant Manager and Executive Assistant to the COO at Halekulani Corporation, and has management experience in both the hospitality and retail luxury sectors. Last but certainly not least, the hotel just announced that Dave Barnes will be coming onboard as the Hotel Manager. Mr. Barnes brings with him over 20 years of Daniel Nāho'opi'i experience in the hospitality industry, including extensive luxury leadership experience around the world in high-end hotels such as the Shangri-La Hotel in Shanghai. • The Hawai'i Tourism Authority announced that Daniel Nāho'opi'i has returned to the organization's leadership team as chief administrative officer. He will be responsible for the fiscal, administrative, procurement, and human resources operations of HTA, as well as the management of the Hawai'i Convention Center. Nāho'opi'i succeeds Keith Regan who left over the summer. • The Hawai'i Symphony Orchestra appointed Chinese-Australian conductor Dane Lam as the HSO's music director. Lam will serve as the first music director in the HSO's 10-year history.

MAMo Wearable Art Show

The anticipated return of the MAMo Wearable Art Show has finally arrived. This one-night event provides a platform for Native Hawaiian artists to exhibit their wearable art creations on an elegant runway. A combination of an art exhibit and a fashion show, the event is part of the PA'I Foundation's Maoli Arts Movement, is a program that celebrates that began years ago to uplift Native Hawaiian art, artists, and culture.

A little history. In 2005, PA'I Foundation partnered with the Bishop Museum to initially create a "Maoli Arts Month" which aimed to highlight and celebrate native Hawaiian arts, artists and cultural practitioners for that month-long celebration. During that time PA'I Foundation and the Bishop Museum focused on giving opportunities to and promoting k̄naka maoli artists such as, hosting night markets, m̄akeke, arts exhibits in Marks Garage, art installations in banks, and artworks posted on public architecture to expose and support the artists. Fast forward to 2015, where the organizers thought... why just make a month-long celebration when they can celebrate these artists all year round? This thought process led to the re-branding of "Maoli Arts Month" to the "Maoli Arts Movement." Now the MAMo Wearable Art Show is just one piece of the Maoli Arts Movement, which now

FULL-SERVICE GROCERY STORE MAKES RETURN TO WAIKIKI

The Waikiki Market opened a few weeks ago, bringing a full-service grocery store back to Waikiki for the first time in years. The store is sure to be a welcome addition for locals and visitors alike, offering an extensive wine and liquor section, a wide selection of meats, seafood, deli items, fresh produce, made-to-order items, flowers, and more. Think Kahala Market, but with an additional aisle or two dedicated to items tourists might need, such as sunscreen, floaties, and souvenirs. Operated by Food Pantry, Ltd, this is the latest addition to the Sullivan Family of Companies. Located on the second floor of Lilia Waikiki on Kuhio, customers may shop online, select curbside pickup, or have it delivered if in Waikiki. Open daily 8 a.m. - 8 p.m. waikikimarkethawaii.com.

VIBRATIONS OPENS AT THE INTERNATIONAL MARKET PLACE

This locally owned retail store brings a colorful, vibrant take on men's fashion. The owners met in Turkey years ago. Feeling cramped inside a culture that didn't match his creativity for fashion and his LGBT roots, one of the owners started designing his own clothing and bags. Arriving in Hawaii seven years ago, they found new inspiration. Vibrations only sells clothing from gay designers and features powerful patterns bursting with color, comfort and quality. The store is located on Level 2. vibrationshawaii.com

THE KUHIO BEACH HULA SHOW ~~CANCELED~~ RETURNS FEB. 4

Unfortunately, the popular Kuhio Beach Hula Show near the Duke Kahanamoku was canceled three-times a week for the past year until further notice due to loss of funding for the past year. Please keep checking their website for any updates. kbhulashow.wix.com/official.

VASH IS SEEKING VOLUNTEERS

VASH stands for Visitor Aloha Society of Hawaii. Their mission is to share aloha with visitors who have been victims of a crime or other adversities, and to provide follow-up assistance and support in an effort to create a positive memory of their stay in our islands. They take great pride in being able to assist visitors in crisis and help turn a negative situation around, but to do that they need your help. If you would like to volunteer, call 926-8274.

SEA LIFE PARK REIMAGINES LUAU - INTRODUCES ALOHA KAI

Sea Life Park introduced a new lū'au experience in January. ALOHA KAI Lū'au (formerly called Ka Moana) welcomes guests into a reimagined evening, including enhanced menu items, cultural activities, an onsite imu, and a new theme song for a dazzling finale to the park's highly rated show. ALOHA KAI presents a sweeping journey through the ocean connecting the people of Polynesia. Sunday - Thursday. AlohaKaiLuau.com.

currents, rip tides, and any pesky sea creatures.

For those of you that prefer to kick back in luxury while the others play, the Nalo Kai Lounge features a club-style locker room, showers, and air-conditioned lounge with concierge services. It provides reserved access to the full-service cabanas and lounge chairs overlooking the adjacent Wai Kai Lagoon and the Wai Kai Wave to watch your friends. Your VIP guests can get day passes, and food and drink will be available to all club members and day guests. A paperless and cashless RFID wristband system allows guests to leave their personal items safely in a locker and use their wristband for charging. There will be monthly and annual membership programs for nearby residents and kama'aina.

No club access? Not to worry, there are plenty of places to sit back and enjoy a bite. Dining will be a big focus of the Wai Kai experience. A dual-concept restaurant presented by Michelin-awarded Chef Todd Humphries of Kitchen Door Napa sits at the heart of the property. The Plaza Grill, its signature restaurant, is situated on the upper level featuring a full-service dining room with lanai seating and unobstructed lagoon views. Contemporary yet casual, it will showcase a globally diverse menu driven by local and seasonal ingredients. The second concept, the Boardwalk Café, is a family-friendly counter service restaurant that provides easy access to food and drinks prepared a la minute (prepared to order on the ground level featuring an all-day menu of eclectic yet traditional favorites. See their menus and find out more at kitchendoorwaikai.com.

Other restaurants include The LookOut Bar and Restaurant, which will fuse fresh and healthy cuisine inspired by surf spots around the world with front-row views of the Wai Kai Wave action. Foam Coffee & Bar is located just off the boardwalk, offering coffees, smoothies and juices, lite snacks, grab-and-go food items, and a full-bar with a seating area on the boardwalk overlooking the lagoon.

These are just a few highlights of the newest attraction to open on Oahu. With plenty of event space, it is sure to become a regular destination for special events and festivals.

Expected to open its doors by the end of the month, interest should be high amongst visitors and locals alike, so online reservations are highly recommended once the system goes live. Learn more online at waikai.com.

Seeing as the park is not expected to open until mid-to-late February, we only have renderings to show you. On top is an rendering of the Wai Kai Lagoon, the beach and the Nalo Club and restaurant area overlooking the area including The Look Out and Foam. The bottom image shows the Wai Kai Wave pool split into 3 channels with the Kitchen Door restaurants overlooking it.

event has always been the love for this iconic instrument and the music. Before COVID, the event would draw upwards of 5,000 people to a free event celebrating this iconic instrument and enjoy some of the world's best local and international ukulele players in one place. This year, Sekiguchi knows the event may bring fewer Japanese visitors than in the past, and attendance for the festival will likely be smaller than in years before, so he changed up the format. Instead of a one-day festival, he has expanded to three days across multiple venues to maximize the number of people exposed to some of the world's best ukulele players, increasing awareness about the 'ukulele and celebrating our island music and the aloha spirit.

The event kicks off on Friday, February 17, at the Beach Bar of the Moana Surfrider, a Westin Resort and Spa, with a

The 1933 Ukulele All Stars is a special of talented musicians and ukulele enthusiasts in Japan, led by Boo Takagi. Current members are: Yoshio Nomura (very famous Tanokin-Torio member), Japanese superstar Yoko Oginome, Kimiko Wakiyama, Yu Hatakeyama, Ukulele Picnic founder Kazuyuki Sekiguchi, and the legendary Boo Takagi.

two-hour performance. "Ukulele Picnic Special LIVE" will showcase the legendary Japanese musician, 89-year-old Boo Takagi, who marks 75 years of ukulele performances this year. Other performers include one of the biggest pop stars in Japanese music, Japanese superstar Yoko Oginome, Yoshio Nomura, Kenta Ebara, and the Sekiguchi Band. The event is free and open to the public. Food or beverage purchase is required to sit at the Beach Bar. 12 noon to 2 p.m.

For the "Ukulele Picnic" itself, Sekiguchi has chosen to host it at Ala Moana Center's Centerstage on Saturday, February 18. Organizers hope the Center's convenient location and built-in foot traffic will increase its visibility to locals and mainland visitors who otherwise might not be exposed to this musical event. Featuring more than two dozen ukulele virtuosos from Hawai'i and Japan, the six-and-a-half-hour celebration will include Hawaii's Raiatea Helm and Mark Yamanaka, local and international ukulele virtuosos, group performers, and the 1933 Ukulele Allstars from Japan. This event is also free and open to the public. 11 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Raiatea Helm

This year's last event is a special one and the only one that is not free and open to the public. The festivities culminate on Sunday, February 19, with a special celebration honoring Boo Takagi's upcoming 90th birthday. "Premium Ukulele Party and Boo Takagi Tribute" at DECK at the Queen Kapiolani Hotel features Raiatea Helm, the 1933 Ukulele Allstars, and a few other special guests from 4 to 7 p.m. Tickets are required for this event and are available on their website.

Boo Takagi

"We are thrilled to perform at three different venues this year and have selected places that are convenient and familiar to both locals and visitors," Sekiguchi said. "We believe this is an opportunity for Hawaii residents who have never experienced Ukulele Picnic before, as well as tourists from the mainland and Japan, to discover this exciting musical event." Make sure your visitors take advantage of this remarkable opportunity to some of the world's best ukulele players perform for free and rediscover the wonders of the ukulele.

The Elixir of Love

A heartwarming romantic comedy hits the stage just in time for Valentine's weekend when a farm worker falls in love with a beautiful landowner. HOT's production is perfectly set in present-day Hawai'i in a quaint town outside of a sugar cane farm. February 17 & 19 at the Blaisdell Concert Hall

Dining Dish

There's good news for brunch lovers out there. The carving stations, steamed crab legs, and chilled lobster tails are coming back on January 29, as Hoku's at the Kahala brings back its all-you-can-eat brunch as of January 29th! The popular buffet has been missed since it stopped during COVID, and although they have been offering a lovely course-style Teihoku in its place, it wasn't quite the same. Offered every Sunday from 9 a.m. - 1:30 p.m. $95 for adults, $48 for kids. I strongly suggest making reservations early as after being gone for so long, demand will be high. 739-8760. • Same concept, new owners. STIX is opening on February 3 in the former Waikiki Yokocho location. STIX is an upgraded version of the previous concept, with an anticipated 16 tenants. There will be a mix of Asian food vendors representing a gamut of cuisines from Japan, China, Korea, Singapore, and Taiwan in the form of ramen/udon, sushi, dumplings, hot pot, Korean street food, laksa, Taiwanese noodles, and more. There are a few newbies to the scene, but Kiki Tempura is part of a famous restaurant in Nagoya, and returning tenant, Baikohken, was featured in the Michelin Guide. • The Original Magoo's Pizza has announced new hours. They are now open from Thursday to Tuesday from 3 - 9 p.m. Closed Wednesdays. They are also offering live music from 5 - 8 p.m. every evening, except for Saturday, where they offer a Pre-Game with Slapp Radio host James Westbrook & a DJ from 6 - 9 p.m. • There's a new raw bar on Seaside Avenue aptly called, The Seaside. Featuring fresh-shucked oysters, sharing plates, charcuteries, flatbreads, their signature New England Clam Chowder, and a Cioppino that requires 40 minutes of preparation. Happy Hour runs daily from 3:00-6:00 p.m., including multiple varieties of oysters on happy hour discount pricing. Open from 2 - 11:30 p.m. daily. They also offer late-night specials on drinks Mon. Wed. and Fri. seasidewaikiki.com.

Chef's Corner

Hoku's Chef de Cuisine David Ishihara

Chef David has over 15 years of experience working in renowned restaurants in San Francisco and Honolulu including Restaurant Michael Mina, the Ritz-Carlton, Salt House Restaurant, and Myth Restaurant where he met his mentors and learned fundamental culinary techniques. After relocating to Hawaii in 2016, Chef David became a chef de cuisine at Stripsteak and worked at the Prince Waikiki Resort before joining Hoku's at The Kahala

What is your first childhood food memory?
 Eating raw Maui onion slices off the cutting board when my mom was making dinner.

When did you decide you wanted to be a chef?
 Once I got to San Francisco for culinary school and saw what the food industry was and could be if you put the work in to learn and continuously grow.

What was your first job in the industry?
 I interned at Myth Restaurant after school and was hired on after the 3 months. I stayed for 2 and ½ years through the restaurants closure when the owner fell ill and sold the property.

Who would you consider your mentor and why?
 Chef Ron Siegel. At Myth, I learned I could do the work. At Salt House, I learned how to cook from scratch. With Chef Ron, I learned how just cooking something good wasn't enough. You needed to understand ingredients, flavors, the seasonality of produce, and build relationships with purveyors and farmers to source the best products possible. Pair all that together with cooking ability to create an experience that is unique to you no matter what the concept.

What did you like best about living in San Fran?
 Just how into the food scene everyone was. I was fortunate that most of the cooks and chefs I worked with were all into it and striving for something more. Everyone had their own goals and vision for what they wanted to do and we were all competing and supporting each other.

How often did you visit while on the mainland?
 Almost never. I was just immersed in the work and the food culture and when I wasn't working I'd travel abroad to try new things of interest.

What makes working at the Kahala different?
 There's a real emphasis throughout to try and create a unique luxury experience for our guests when staying and dining with us.

What's your favorite dish on the menu?
 Our Kona Kampachi "Amandine" from the tasting menu. It's simple, subtle, and flavorful.

Will you be making changes to the menu?
 Our last menu change was before the holidays so we'll definitely be looking to freshen things up sooner rather than later.

Are you really bringing back buffet brunch?
 Yes! Starting January 29th we'll be bringing back our all you can eat buffet setup for the Teihoku brunch every Sunday. Along with our signature favorites, guests will also be able to enjoy Prime Rib and Mt. View Farms suckling pig at our carving station as well as made-to-order poke musubi, steamed crab legs, and chilled lobster tails.

Name your favorite restaurant in town you like to go to when not working?
 Anywhere that serves a good plate lunch.

What do you like to do most on your days off?
 Go to the gym and keep up to date with everything going on with Arsenal FC

Braised Prime Beef Shortrib with Artichoke Barigoule and Creamy Barley

- | | |
|--------------------|------------------|
| For Barley: | 1 tsp butter |
| ¼ cup barley | 1 tsp mascarpone |
| 2 quart water | Salt to taste |

Method: First, under vacuum seal, place shortribs in a 65° Celsius water bath for a total of 48 hours. Upon completion keep warm in hot water bath till ready to serve. The, rinse barley with 1 qt water and drain. Bring 1 qt water to a boil and add rinsed barley. Bring back to a boil and then turn down heat to a simmer till soft and drain water; reserve ½ c liquid.

- | | | |
|----------------------------------|----------------------|------------------|
| For Artichoke Barigoule: | 4 pearl onions | 2 sprig thyme |
| 2 large artichokes | peeled cut in half | 1 cup white wine |
| cleaned & quartered | 1 Tbl garlic, minced | 2 cup water |
| 1 carrot, peeled & cut bite size | ¼ c EVOO | Salt to taste |

Method: In a small pot, bring wine up to a boil and cook off alcohol. In another small pot, heat EVOO and sweat pearl onion over medium heat till translucent. Add carrot pieces and garlic till cooked. Add artichokes, thyme, all wine, and if needed water to cover. Bring to a boil and simmer until artichokes are cooked. Cool in liquid before straining; reserve ¼ c cooking liquid.

To Serve: Heat barley in a small pan with reserved liquid; add small amount of butter and mascarpone and mix. In a different pan, heat barigoule with cooking liquid and add a small amount of butter to glaze. Place barley in center of bowl and arrange vegetables around evenly. Take hot shortrib out of bag and place on top of barley. For home, sauce with thickened beef broth or red wine/beef reduction. Garnish with micro greens on top.

is coming to town!

Tuffy Nicholas

Legendary Circus Producer Tuffy Nicholas is returning to town and bringing his circus with him. He grew under the big top. His father was the Ringling Bros. Circus lead ringmaster for years, his mother worked as a bear trainer, and he was born when the circus was on tour in Florida. He and his siblings grew up on the road amongst some of the world's most famous performers and celebrities, mastering various acts and skills, and made his first appearance as an honorary ringmaster on a main-street float at the age of 3. Growing up in this world, he has built close relationships with an extensive network of performing artists, venue managers, and industry professionals. Unsurprisingly, he began producing circus shows decades ago, several of them here in Hawaii, so his name might ring a bell to some of you.

He opened "Cirque Hawaii" in 2005 at the old Imax Waikiki Theater which opened, before later opening "Cirque Polynesia" in Maui in 2009. He then opened the "Aloha Live Show" at the Queen Kapiolani Hotel. After closing that show, Tuffy moved back to the mainland to put together his traveling circus and has been successfully traveling the country ever since. About five years ago, they started making regular trips to the island, and 2023 is no exception. The Super American Circus is returning to Hawaii on February 17, 18, & 19 with some old favorites and a few new acts that have never been seen in Hawaii.

This circus line-up includes Blake Wallenda from the world-renowned Wallenda Family. The Guinness World Record Holder made history in Hawaii by doing the first skywalk at The Ala Moana Hotel in 2020 without a net or a tether. Opening night, February 17, will be the third anniversary of that accomplishment. He will also be joined by Internationally-Acclaimed Daredevil Martin Espana on the Wheel of Danger, performing incredible acts on a four-story high revolving wheel, aerialists, jugglers, hand balancers, a special performance by Jordan Segundo, and of course, clowns.

One of the newest acts to join the circus this year is Mr. & Mrs. G Crossbow Stunts. The couple travels the world performing a unique integration of dance, martial arts, whips, and death-defying crossbow stunts. You know, just your average couple that happens to like shooting crossbows at each other in such a way that will have you on the edge of your seat.

Pre-show and intermission activities include face painting, photo ops, and traditional circus treats.

Showtimes are Friday, February 17 at 4:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m., Saturday, February 18 at 1 p.m., 4:30 p.m., and 7:30 p.m., and Sunday, February 19 at 1 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. General admission tickets are $32 for adults and $16 for kids aged 4 – 12. Preferred seating is $42 and $21. Family passes are available for $99, offering upper general admission seating for two adults and three kids, advance purchase only. For those looking to get up close and personal, there will be limited ringside seats available for each show at $65 each, regardless of age. Be sure to purchase your tickets online as all tickets will be $10 more at the door. superamericancircus.com.

MAMo Wearable Art

includes continuous opportunities and support for native artists. Another aspect of the Maoli Arts Movement is the quarterly art installation at Central Pacific Bank's main branch, which hosts new artists' work for 3 months at a time. This exhibit is located in their co-working space, Tidepools@CPB, on the corner of Alakea and King. Find the current artist line-up on their webpage.

The 17th annual MAMo Wearable Art Show takes place at the Hilton Hawaiian Tapa Ballroom on February 18th, starting at 6:30 p.m. The participating artists continue to broaden the definitions of wearable art by creating pieces never seen before, as the MAMo runway is also often seen as a gateway for artists to reveal new collections for their brands. The fashions run the gamut from fantasy to very wearable and are works of art made by designers of Hawaiian ancestry. Expect aloha shirts and jams for men, aloha wear and elegant gowns for women, and plenty of tattooed bodies walking down the stage.

This year's artist lineup includes Nita Pilago from Wahine Toa, Aeyanna Wolfgang from Ari South, Manaola Yap & Hale Kua from Mana'ola Hawai'i, Kea Peters from Kākou Collective, and more, along with entertainment provided by Kuana Torres Kahele, with hula from former Miss Aloha Hula Tehani Pimental, and Robert Cazimero.

Another one of Marques Marzan creations.

There will be a pop-up market set up outside the ballroom that is free and open to the public. Be sure to leave yourself enough time to browse the market before the show.

Tickets start at $35. PA'I is offering a buffet-style dinner package ticket before the show. For more information or to buy tickets, head to paifoundation.org.
