OLA KA HULA I KA PO'E HULA

Hula Lives Through Hula People

The 46th annual Prince Lot Hula Festival returns July 15th. Photos courtesy Moanalua Gardens Foundation.

Founded in 1978 by the Moanalua Gardens Foundation (MGF) as a gift to the community, the festival honors Prince Lot Kapuāiwa, who helped reprise hula in Moanalua and reigned as Kamehameha V from 1863 to 1872. Held for years at the Gardens, the event was always free, helping to perpetuate Native Hawaiian culture and the art of hula. When the gardens' owner tried to implement a hefty fee, the event organizers decided to pick up and take the festival to 'Iolani Palace lawn - to the delight of hula fans and dancers. It was a hit and it looked as if the sky was the limit for this beloved festival – and then 2020 came. Like all other businesses, the festival pivoted and went virtual. Finally, after four long years, the festival is returning with a brand-new hybrid format, combining the best of both formats to reach the widest possible audience.

On Saturday, July 15 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. the iconic festival brings its live in-person celebration to the Frank F. Fasi Civic Grounds. It will also be live streamed globally on MGF's website and KHON2. The event will then be shown this Fall as part of a two-hour television special on KHON2.

"In our first hybrid festival, we have combined all the best and strongest elements of our live and virtual festivals in our first public event in four years," said MGF Board President Leilani Williams-Solomon. "In addition to the best of non-competitive hula, the festival will feature crafters, food vendors, cultural demonstrators and more. We invite the entire community to join us," Williams-Solomon stated.

KHON's Kamaka Pili will served as emcee, introducing the opening ceremony that includes the procession of the Royal Order of Kamehameha and the presentation of MGF's Malia Kau Award, given to kumu hula who have dedicated their life's work to the perpetuation of hula and Hawaiian culture during the Opening Ceremonies. This year's recipient is Pohai Souza of Hālau Hula Kamamolikolehua.

Twelve hālau from around the state will be featured showing a mixture of both kahiko (ancient) and 'auana (modern) hula throughout the day from some of the islands most beloved Kumus. Participating award-winning hālau includes kumu hula Michael Pili Pang's Hālau Hula Ka No'eau, kumu hula Vicky Takemine's Pua Ali'i 'ilima to name a few.

There will also be a Hawaiian-inspired craft fair featuring original artwork, decorated hats, handcrafted koa items, lauhala items, Tahitian pearls and more. Interspersed between the craft fair booths there will be a half a dozen demonstrations including kapa making, lei making, lauhala hats and more. There will be plenty of food available for purchase on site as well, from Hawaiian

HAWAII 'UKULELE FESTIVAL

The Hawai'i 'Ukulele Festival is a celebration of all things 'ukulele. This first time event takes place on Sunday, July 23, 2023, at the Kapi'olani Park Bandstand from 10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

With the announcement that the Ukulele Festival was holding its final event last year after 52 years, organizers saw a need for a free event in the 'ukulele community. They say this one will be more of a line up of well-known and also emerging artists such as Kimo Hussey and Kamakakehau Fernandez, infused with a hefty amount of cultural activities along with information on the history of the instrument. Let the kids go wild at the keiki fun zone, browse local crafters, artisans, and 'ukulele merchants, nosh on goodies from the multi-ethnic food court.

This is an opportunity to meet and engage with Hawai'i's local 'ukulele community while enjoying the sounds of some of the islands top 'ukulele entertainers and new emerging artists. hawaiiukulelefestival.com

Festivals Abound

The summer festival season continues with plenty of opportunities to enjoy some of the best music and crafts the islands offer, from the summer concert series at the Aquarium and the Zoo to the music festivals honoring some of Hawaii's favorite instruments and craft fairs.

When Roy and Kathy Sakuma decided to retire and shut down their annual Ukulele Festival Hawaii last year after more than 50 years of celebrating the revered instrument, they left a void in the 'ukulele community. Thanks to Amy Hammond and her team at Special Events Hawaii, they have filled that void. Amy has partnered with the Kala Foundation, a non-profit dedicated to Hawaiian culture, language, hula, music, and spiritual preservation, to present the Hawaii 'Ukulele Festival, creating another opportunity to meet and engage Hawaii's local 'ukulele community while supporting and enjoying some of Hawaii's top 'ukulele entertainers and emerging breakout performers. Amy served as the Executive Director of the King Kamehameha Celebration Commission and has been one of the state's most prominent promoters and producers of large-scale community events for over 30 years. They were the event planners behind some of Hawaii's best-loved and well-attended events, including the Made in Hawaii Festival until a few years ago, so I expect this festival to hit all the right notes both musically and culturally and should be a great successor to the festival the Sakuma's built. Plus, with her history with the King Kamehameha Celebration and the Made in Hawaii Festival, you can bet she will only fill her craft fair with local items made right here in the islands.

These days, there are actually multiple opportunities for your guests to buy locally-owned products. Just check out the article to the right on one of the latest craft fairs to jump into the scene. Slowly but surely, products made in Hawaii are becoming more and more prominent. There's no reason a visitor needs to go home with anything other than a gift made here in the islands... even if it's not quite time for the actual Made in Hawaii festival. Lucky for us, your guests can find authentic music and crafts all year, especially throughout the summer!

Joy Ravina

Joy Ravina began working for Outrigger hotels in 2018 as an intern. She has been working at the Waikiki Beachcomber as a Front Desk Supervisor this past year, but will be moving over to the Outrigger Reef Waikiki Beach Resort later this month to join the team as a Guest Service Manager. Congratulations! • The Prince Waikiki has welcomed two new front desk agents. Please welcome Tristan Pierson and Anika Novio to the team. Hermie Robles will also be joining the Prince front services team this month as he moves over full time after decades of service at the Waikiki Parc / Halepuna Waikiki. • Marriott's Ko Olina Beach Club has hired Tami Williams as a Marketing Executive. Welcome! • Congratulations to Jason Buffer, who was recently promoted to the position of Senior Local Sales Manager at the Hawaii Convention Center. Jason joined the sales team at the Convention Center in December of last year. • Bishop Museum announced that Gregory Chang has been named Chief Financial Officer. As CFO and Treasurer, Chang's responsibilities include setting policies and providing direction to ensure the Museum's long-term financial sustainability; while maintaining financial oversight; and developing the Museum's short- and long-term strategies for financial performance. Also at the Museum, Raymond Kong returns as Vice President and General Counsel. Kong oversees the Museum's Legal and Human Resources departments, and is the primary Museum contact for the Waipi'o Valley Farmers who lease the Museum's property on Hawaii Island. Kong was previously with the Museum from 2017-2021. • Kudos to the team behind the newly revamped Wayfinder Waikiki. It's refreshing to see how companies are making these old hotels new again. Retro and mid-century is in — and these hotels look great!

Shop Local at the Ho'omau Hawai'i Market

Every visitor wants to grab that perfect gift to remember their vacation, and what better way than to buy something made here locally? Fortunately, there's been a surge of pop-up markets featuring locally-owned businesses lately, and visitors no longer need to wait for the Made in Hawaii Festival to come around (although, get ready – that one is just around the corner!)

On the first weekend of July, tell your guests to head to the Hawaii Convention Center for the Ho'omau Hawai'i Market. This bi-annual pop-up m'akeke features over 50 Native Hawaiian-owned businesses, lots of live entertainment, giveaways, and more.

Founded by Mahina Made, a local fashion and lifestyle brand, Ho'omau Hawai'i Market aims to perpetuate Hawaiian culture by highlighting Native Hawaiian-owned businesses that all have the same mission of sharing the Hawaiian culture through their passions and talents, including fashion, arts, entertainment, and other products. Vendors range from unique handmade accessories to home goods, art, and more. Shoppers will be treated to live entertainment from various local musicians and could win any number of giveaways.

General Admission is only $5 for adults and free for keiki 12 and under. Shoppers can also access an array of exclusive event perks by purchasing a Ho'omau Hawai'i VIP Tote for $55. This special canvas tote comes with a range of benefits, including admission to the event, a full-day parking pass, early market access, vendor discounts, free gifts with purchase, and more.

The Ho'omau Hawai'i Market takes place Saturday, July 1, from 10:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday, July 2, from 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. For more information, a complete list of vendors, or to buy tickets, visit hoomauhawaiimarket.com.

MOONLIGHT MELE RETURNS TO THE BISHOP MUSEUM

In partnership with Ha Ka Entertainment, Bishop Museum is excited to welcome Moonlight Mele back to its Great Lawn for an evening of Hawaiian music by some of our island's most beloved musicians. Moonlight Mele will be held on Friday, July 14 and Friday, Aug. 11, and will be headlined by multi-Nā Hōkū Hanohano Award-winners Kapena and Mākaha Sons, respectively. Food & drink available on site. bishopmuseum.org.

'IOLANI PALACE NEW TOUR HONORS KING KALĀKAUA

Iolani Palace has launched the Kalākaua Legacy Tour, which showcases the life and legacy of the King David Kalākaua. Through historical accounts and a closer look at some of the King's personal items, guests will gain a better understanding of his achievements, both locally and globally, and learn about how his vision of 'Iolani Palace impacts the preservation of hula, history and traditions to this day. The 90-minute tour is available Wednesdays at 3:45 p.m. $77.95, and limited to only six guests, who will receive an exclusive keepsake. iolanipalace.org.

KUHIO BEACH PARK TO CLOSE AT MIDNIGHT

The City and County announced plans to close Kūhiō Beach Park for an extra two hours daily from midnight to 5 a.m. rather than 2 a.m. to 5 a.m. This follows a recent restriction on the hours at Royal Hawaiian Beach. Sadly, its 2 a.m. closure hasn't been enough to deter drug users, overnight sleepers, and other unwanted activities that have left the beach feeling unsafe. The change coordinates closing times with Kapi'olani Park. You can traverse park property during the closure hours, especially to access the ocean, but people may not remain within the park.

'OLILI WAIKIKI OPENS AT WAIKIKI MARKET

'Olili Waikiki, the restaurant located on the 2nd floor of the new Waikiki Market has finally opened overlooking Kuhio Avenue. Their menu celebrates modern interpretations of the "mixed plate" of flavors that make up Hawaii's rich and diverse culinary heritage, such as Garlic Shrimp Forbidden Rice, Chili Crab Noodles or Crispy Kona Kanpachi with Portuguese Bean Soup. 'Olili Waikiki will offer daily dinner from 4 to 10 p.m. waikikimarkethawaii.com.

SCREEN ON THE GREEN MOVIES RETURN TO THE VALLEY

Free outdoor movie nights return to Waimea Valley every Thursday in July. Enjoy a free outdoor movie night after the Hale'iwa Farmers Market on the the Main Lawn under the open sky. Movies begin after sundown. Blankets, chairs, and popcorn are encouraged. The series will wrap up on August 3rd with a special screening of the award-winning short film Hawaiian Soul, and talk story with the director afterwards. ## REDFISH POKE BAR BY FOODLAND OPENS IN WAIKIKI

Redfish Poke Bar by Foodland opened its second location inside the wonderfully refurbished Wayfinder Waikiki (formerly the Waikiki Sand Villa). The tropical retro vibe of the hotel offers the perfect location for Redfish, and their popular poke favorites. Open for breakfast, lunch, and dinner, the menu also offers a new twist on local favorites and exclusive menu items created just for this location. # O BON (お盆) SEASON IS UNDERWAY

Hawaii Plantation Villages kicked off Obon season last month, and there are plenty of opportunities over the summer for people to celebrate life and loved ones that have passed. The Japanese Buddhist tradition is prevalent in the islands and offers locals and visitors alike a chance to honor their ancestors and welcome the spirits thought to travel back to our world.

Legend has it that long ago, a disciple of Buddha had a vision of his dead mother trapped in a horrible place. So, by offering food and drink, the disciple freed his mother's spirit from suffering. This story has slowly evolved over the years, and the meaning of Obon shifted along with it.

Today, Obon is one of the most important holidays of the Japanese year. It is a time when families come together to feel close to lost relatives and honor the deceased. Bon dances welcome the spirits of ancestors. People wear traditional garments, such as kimono and yukata, move to the beat of taiko drums, and nosh on beloved Japanese street food such as andagi. The lanterns, the sound of the drums, and a crowd of dancers in brightly colored kimonos make these events ideal for visitors looking for great photo opportunities and seeing a glimpse of different cultures. The largest festival of the season takes place July 1st at the 10th Annual Mō'ili'ili Summer Fest. A list of the remaining bon dances throughout the season is listed below.

Dining Dish

Arancino at The Kahala is celebrating its 10th anniversary this month by presenting a special 6-course menu featuring items offered in the opening menu and a complimentary glass of sparkling wine throughout July. The menu includes Chef Daisuke Hamamoto signature items, such as his Arancini, Squid Ink Pasta, and Braised Short Ribs. The set menu is $120 per guest with an optional $50 wine pairing. Reservations are required; the earlier, the better, as it will sell out. Open for dinner daily from 5 - 9 p.m. 380-4400. • Basalt is celebrating its 6th anniversary this month. Maelani Iokepa, a sous chef with the restaurant since its 2017 debut, was recently promoted to Executive Chef and will introduce a new menu in July. 879-8800. • Speaking of new menus, Restaurant Sundry has reimagined its menu to highlight the season's flavors using the best ingredients. The new menu takes diners on a culinary journey, where each bite tells a story of flavor and finesse. Their sushi counter Tokiwa is also bringing in two new chefs. Open for lunch and dinner, call 922-5511. • Margotto Hawaii announces a five-weekend temaki pop-up with Sushi Chef Angie Lee of Tsukimaki. Chef Lee will serve an 11-course omakase dinner comprised of appetizers, hand-roll sushi, and more at the Champagne Counter for $160 per person. There will only be two seatings available per night, at 5 p.m. and 7:15 p.m., accommodating up to six people – so book early. 592-8500. • L&L Hawaii has recently opened its first location in Waikiki at the Pā'ina Lanai Food Court in the Royal Hawaiian Center. • MangoMango Dessert, the popular Hong-Kong-inspired dessert spot, just opened its third location on Kapahulu Avenue, next to the well-known poke eatery, Ono Seafood. To differentiate itself from its sister locations, The Kapahulu location will offer several exclusive menu items available only at that location. Open daily from noon - 10 p.m. • Hearing famed Japanese Chef Tsutomu Ochiai opened up his first and only restaurant outside of Japan in the former Oceanarium location at the 'Alohilani Resort. La Bettola is open for dinner daily from 5 - 10 p.m. See more info at alohilaniresort.com.

Chef's Corner

Hawai'i Convention Center Chef Brooke Tadena

The Hawai'i Convention Center welcomed Executive Chef Brooke Tadena to its team a few months ago. In addition to overseeing some of the state's largest banquet facilities, Tadena's experience spans scheduling, training staff for fine service and food preparation, and the organization of large-scale food and wine events. A local boy, Tadena has more than a decade of culinary leadership experience, most recently serving as executive sous chef at the Hilton Hawaiian Village.

What is your first childhood food memory?

My mom's corned beef omelet. Mom always made fried chicken, omelets and ume musubi when we went to the beach, and I do the same for my children now.

When did you know you wanted to be a chef?

In high school I worked part time at a few places like Zippy's, KC Drive Inn and King's Bakery. I wanted to do more in this field, so I decided to pursue chef education. I earned my associate degree in occupational studies from the Culinary Institute of America in New York and attended Kapiolani Community College in Honolulu.

Who would you consider your mentor and why?

Wayne Hirabayashi, chef at Hoku's at The Kahala. We worked together at the resort, and I've known him for more than 20 years. He influenced me to explore what defines me as a person and put it to the plate.

How would you describe your style of cooking?

Hawaiian coastal. I grew up playing on the beaches of Oahu, and fishing was a major part of it. Anything we caught from the water was on the dinner table that night. We cooked mostly Chinese steamed or fried crispy.

Where do you find your culinary inspiration?

I love to see what nature provides each season. I also appreciate when a chef's food speaks to their culture and ethnicity.

Favorite ingredient you like to work with and why?

Fresh fish from Hawaiian waters – you can't beat the quality straight from the ocean.

Tell us something about you that would surprise people?

During the COVID-19 pandemic, my sister taught me how to sew. So far, I've done a few simple projects like drapes and hemming pants.

Are you excited to know this means you'll be one of the chefs in this year's Hawaii Food & Wine Festival?

I am excited to participate and am looking forward to tasting some incredible dishes.

What kind of dish will you prepare for the Festival?

Not sure but definitely something fresh from Hawaiian waters.

What do you enjoy most about working at the Hawaii Convention Center so far?

I enjoy the freedom to customize an event to what the guests want. I can work with our team to develop new skills and methods. There are really nice local people that work here, and the Aloha Spirit is definitely felt here.

What direction have you taken the kitchen since you took over?

We continue to grow our focus on locally sourced products from Hawaii producers and consistently strive to improve quality throughout all areas of food and beverage.

Biggest pet peeve about working in a kitchen?

We can't settle for mediocrity – it is important we all strive to exceed expectations.

Biggest pet peeve about working in a kitchen?

Lately I've been into dim sum, so I like to visit Mei Sum in Chinatown.

What do you cook at home that you don't cook at work?

Tofu Kim Chee Soup. It's spicy, sweet, sour and very comforting. I have been cooking this for over 20 years now and need my fix at least once every other week.

What's your favorite thing to do when not working?

Fishing and camping. I like the Waialua/Mokuleia shoreline. We catch papio, oio, moana, toau, and aholehole – we make fishcake with oio, and pan fry everything else.

Poke

This is a standard poke recipe that my family uses. I love it. If an ingredient is not available – no worries, can do without!

- Ingredients:
- 1 lb sashimi-grade ahi steak chilled and cut into 1-inch cubes*
  - ¼ cup Ogo, chopped (fresh local seaweed)
  - 1 tablespoons Soy sauce Yamasa
  - 1 tablespoon Sesame oil
  - ¾ teaspoon Hawaiian salt ('alaea) plus more to taste
  - ¼ cup thinly sliced Maui or yellow onion
  - ¼ cup chopped green onions green parts only)
  - ½ teaspoon Gochugaru (Korean red chili powder)
  - 1 tablespoon Inamona (toasted Kukui nuts) or substitute with toasted sesame seeds
  - 2 cups steamed rice for serving

Chef Brooke will be featured at the Hawaii Food & Wine Festivals Hawaiian Airlines Presents Crush's on November 3 from 6 - 9 p.m. Tickets at HFWF.me Web: hawaiiconvention.com • FB/Instagram: @HawaiiConventionCenter • Phone: 943-3500

Waikiki Steel Guitar Week

Celebrate the soft, sultry, distinctive sound of the steel guitar July 10 – 15. This week-long celebration of the Hawaiian steel guitar brings together legendary steel guitarists with up-and-coming steel guitarists in nightly presentations at the Royal Grove Stage at the Royal Hawaiian Center. It culminates in a festival ho'olaule'a pageant on Saturday. This annual event is presented to heighten awareness of the Hawaiian Steel Guitar and its importance in Hawaiian music and culture.

Waikiki Steel Guitar Week kicks off with a series of one-hour performances by different Hawaiian steel guitar artists and ensembles Monday thru Thursday at 5:30 p.m. This year renowned Hawaiian steel guitarist Alan Akaka and The Islanders will perform in addition to Mālie Lyman, Greg Sardinha, and Po'okela, and NextGen, a group of our future "Next Generation" star student guitarists from Ke Kula Mele who have excelled in their class, that perform at different festivals throughout the state.

On Friday, July 14, the 2nd Annual Japan-Hawaiian Steel Guitar Festival takes place from 4 – 6:30 p.m., featuring the one and only Boo Takagi, as well as Noriko and Shuji Tomita, Paul Okubo, Matt Kobayashi, and Kiyoshi "Lion" Kobayashi from Japan.

On Saturday, there will be a ho'olaule'a with two performances. The first one takes place from 11 a.m. – 2:20 p.m., followed by a second show from 4 – 6:30 p.m. Scheduled to take the stage are Alan Akaka, Billy Cardine, Steve Cheney, Bobby Ingano, Mikiya Matsuda, Greg Sardinha, and Geronimo "Geri" Valdriz.

This week-long celebration of the Hawaiian steel guitar brings together legendary steel guitarists with up-and-coming steel guitarists in nightly presentations at the Royal Grove Stage. It culminates in a festival ho'olaule'a pageant on Saturday. This annual event is presented to heighten awareness of the Hawaiian Steel Guitar and its importance in Hawaiian music and culture.

All Waikiki Steel Guitar Week events are free and open to the public. Vintage steel guitars will be on exhibition in Helumoa Hale, with steel guitar experts on hand to answer questions. Parking is available at the Royal Hawaiian Center parking garage. Standard parking rates apply. Validated parking is available with a $10 purchase from any center merchant. The Saturday program will be live-streamed on Facebook and YouTube. For more details, head to waikikisteelguitarweek.com.

Peter and the Wolf at the Zoo

The Hawai'i Symphony Orchestra has partnered with the Honolulu Zoo Society to present eight special presentations of Sergei Prokofiev's 'Peter and the Wolf' throughout the summer.

The perfect introduction to symphonic music for keiki, Peter and the Wolf is a symphonic fairy tale for children, and each character is represented by a different orchestra instrument. Playful interactions between the instruments and narration guides audiences through the story. The piece also teaches important life lessons to children in a way that is both educational and entertaining.

These concerts will be held at the Honolulu Zoo and will be conducted by guest conductor Sarah Hicks, HSO's artistic advisor JoAnn Falletta, as well as the orchestra's new music director Dane Lam.

The performances will be held on Sundays at 10:30 a.m. – 11:15 a.m., and again at 11:45 a.m. – 12:30 p.m. The performances are included with zoo admission.

Don't miss this special summer collaboration on the following Sundays:

July 16
July 23
August 6
August 13

Looking to celebrate the 4th of July on Oahu? There are plenty of options to choose from no matter what part of the island you are on.

The biggest question we keep getting is if the Ala Moana Fireworks are back on... and unfortunately, the answer is no. Ala Moana Center will however be hosting a two-day concert celebration of live entertainment on Monday, July 3 and Tuesday, July 4 from 11:30 a.m. – 6 p.m. at Centerstage. The 4th of July Concert Series will feature musical performances by some of Hawaii's most talented performers. The full entertainment lineup and schedule will be available at www.AlaMoanaCenter.com.

For those looking for fireworks, we only know of three shows on the 4th itself. One is in Kailua at 8 p.m. Shuttles will run between Longs Parking lot bus stop and The Beach Center between 4:30 p.m. and 10:30 p.m.

Another one will be the annual Military Celebration at Joint Base Pearl Harbor. estivities include entertainment from local entertainers Jasmin Nicole, Chante, and Johnny Suite, Petting Zoo, Face Painting, Balloons, and FIREWORKS! Gates open at 4 p.m. with the fireworks starting at 8:45 p.m. Event is open to DoD Cardholders and their sponsored guests, but non-military will be able to see the fireworks for miles around.

There will also be fireworks on the North Shore at 8 p.m. as part of the July 4th Festival, Fireworks & Vintage Car Show.

Schofield Barracks will do a fireworks show on July 1st. The Plain White T's and Elle King will perform with a laser show and fireworks display planned at the end of the show at 8:45 p.m. The event is open to the public.

Lastly, Turtle Bay Resort will be hosting the two-day annual Ohana Day celebration on July 1 and 2. The first night will feature newly crowned American Idol winner, Hawaii's Iam Tongi and Spawnbreezie. Night two features Kapena, Paula Fuga, Likkle Jordee and Natural Vibrations followed by a 4th of July fireworks spectacular – on July 2nd.

And even though there aren't any other 'official' shows, keep your eyes open, because locals love their fireworks!

THE LINEUP

The newest attraction in town, Wai Kai, home to the world's largest deep-water standing surf wave opened their doors to the industry to introduce themselves and show off their facility, F&B options and of course, the Wai Kai Wave. Attendees had a blast checking out the activities for themselves (or watching their friends try). We're happy to announce Wai Kai now offers transportation that can be booked through Fare Harbor! Miss the FAM? Reach out to Jaycelyn Young-Gusman at jaycelyn@thelineup.com to see if you can check it out.
