Don't miss the 13th annual Hawaii Food & Wine Festival

The HawaiiFood & W ine Festival returns to O ahu N ovem ber2-5.For the first time in three years, they are bringing back their beach fiont event in Ko O lina com plete with fireworks! Photo courtesy of HFW F.

It is one of the premier food and wine festivals in the Pacific region and features a wide array of culinary experiences, wine tastings, and gastronomical delights across the state. The Hawaii Food & Wine Festival (HFWF) is bringing yet another fantastic lineup of renowned chefs and culinary personalities to the islands from around the world to create extraordinary dining experiences for festival attendees, including twenty-two first-time chefs to HWFW.

New faces such as Shirley Chung, Tyler Florence, Tara Monsod, Aarón Sánchez, Cedric Vongerichten, and Jeremiah Stone join HFWF veteran chefs like Chris Cosentino, Brandon Jew, Jonathan Waxman, Raphael Lunetta, Robynne Maii, Iron Chef Morimoto, and of course, festival co-founders Alan Wong and Roy Yamaguchi.

Ensure your guests know about this delicious annual festival that brings the best of the culinary world together to present spectacular culinary events for a great cause, promoting a vigorous local food movement to help free Hawaii from mainland dependency and give a bump in our culinary tourist market. HFWF prides itself on spotlighting Hawaii by connecting all aspects of Hawaii's cuisine, culture, and cultivation through world-class culinary experiences. All chefs must create a dish using local ingredients from Hawaii's farmers, ranchers, and fishermen. The festival creates opportunities for the visitor industry to support local agriculture directly —vital in the state's efforts towards food security in the Islands the importance of which has become a conversation highlight over the past few years.

HFWF is celebrating its 13th year with a theme that looks to the festival's future. Lucky 13, which means 'assured growth' and 'definitely vibrant' in many Eastern cultures— is part of the name of one of two brunches offered on Sunday, November 5th, but before we get to that, let's take a look at the entire lineup on O'ahu.

Far East Street Ph'east kicks off the excitement on November 2nd. The Alohilani Resort Waikiki Beach's pool deck will be turned into a bustling Asian Night Markets as twelve chefs, including Iron Chef Masaharu Morimoto, Top Chef fan favorite Shota Nakajima from Seattle, Continued on page 4.

Celebrating our last King

'D kniPakce will be all dressed up to honorKing Kakauas birthday on N ovem ber 16th.

King Kalākaua, whose full name was David La'amea Kalākaua, was the last reigning king of the Kingdom of Hawaii. Born November 16, 1836, he ruled from 1874 until his death in 1891. During his time as king, King Kalākaua was known for his efforts to preserve and promote Hawaiian culture and traditions. He was a patron of the arts, especially music and dance. He encouraged the revival of hula and other traditional practices that had been suppressed during the decades of missionary influence in Hawaii. Although he advocated for a renewed sense of pride in all things Hawaiian, he also played a major role in the modernization of Hawaii during a time of significant change and influence from foreign powers, promoting the construction of a trans-Pacific telegraph cable, which connected Hawaii to the U.S. and Asia, thereby increasing communication and trade with the outside world.

It's official; the holiday season has begun, and what better way to kick it off than with the Hawaii Food & Wine Festival?

Once again, the team behind this culinary extravaganza has gone above and beyond what they have done before. I am continuously blown away by organization, the creativity, and execution of the HFWF team and am ridiculously excited for what's to come after writing the story for this issue. Several events were already sold out before I started writing this story, so if you or your guests have been hesitating, don't wait a minute longer. If you're wondering why you got the November issue early, it's because the HFWF takes place so early in the month. Events start on Thursday, November 2nd, and I wanted this in your hands before the Festival kicks off to make sure you have all the details. Foodie fans keep your eyes open because there will be a bunch of big-name chefs on the island. The holidays kick off this month at all the shopping centers as well. I don't have everyone's hours yet, but I know Santa's Surf Shack opens at Ala Moana Center on November 17th. Pictures with Santa before Thanksgiving? Makes sense, actually. It allows people to get pictures of the kids for their Christmas cards. Might as well get those out before the official kick-off of the Christmas shopping season on Black Friday. Almost every store in the island will offer special sales and deals, and I'm sure some will open early. Do stores still open at midnight on Black Friday? I can promise you there has never been anything I needed so badly that I got in line for a midnight opening at a big box store, but I look forward to the videos!

Don't forget, along with the holidays, November also means the start of the big-wave season on the North Shore. Keep your ears open for those big swells rolling in, and remember to remind your guests to take extra precautions when heading out to watch the big surf.

I hope you all get some time to spend the holiday with your loved ones, even if you're working that day. Happy Thanksgiving everyone. Aloha!

Congratulations to Rena Agngarayngay, who has just been promoted to General Manager of HotelRenew. She actually worked as a front desk agent at Hotel Renew from 2014-2016 before Rena Agngarayngay moving on to the Ritz

Carlton, the Modern Honolulu and then taking over as Director of Front Office at the Ala Moana Hotel for three years before heading back to Hotel Renew in 2022 as hotel manager. Talk about full circle! The hotel also announced that Mary Madamba has been promoted to Guest Service Manager. Most recently she has been working as the front desk supervisor. Previously she worked in retail before joining the hotel in 2021 as a front desk agent. Great job ladies! • After 24 years, Alan Mattson has retired from Castle Hospitality G roup. Stepping into the

He also previously served as President & Chief Office of Aqua-Aston Operating Hospitality and held executive positions with Sundance Resort, Aston Hotels & Resorts, The Grand Wailea Resort Hotel & Spa, and Carmel Valley Ranch. • Jennifer H in es was recently promoted to Transient Sales Manager of the Hyatt Regency W aikikiBeach Resort after working on property for nearly seven years. Most recently she held the role of Group Sales Coordinator. Congratulations!

Concierge Events 101: A Reminder Course Receiving an Invite

We've had a lot of concierge events lately, some big, some small, and since there are a lot of new faces out there, I wanted to remind everyone of a few basics about these invites.

I don't have everyone's email address. There are multiple hotels out there that I do not even have a contact for. So, if you are sitting at a front desk or working in guest services and have not received an invite lately - ask around. If no one on your team has heard from me - I may need to learn how to reach you. People move around, and often, when they leave, there goes my way to reach out to the team. The holiday parties are coming up, and I want to include everyone, so make sure I know how to reach you. Send an email to rsvp@oahuconcierge.com to make sure your team is on the list.

If you are receiving the invite, it's not just for you. I am counting on you to share the invite with your team. Since we cannot accomodate your entire team, please be sure to share the info with your team upon your return if you attend.

When I email you an invite, please RESPOND, even if no one can go. Otherwise, I start to think you may not be getting it and share it with more people, which often causes confusion. It's best if there are only one or two emails per desk I email the invites to so they can share and let me know who will be coming, but please let me know you got it even if your team is not interested. Not all events are for everybody. It's ok. Just let me know.

Not replying to an invite means when it's time to cut down a list for a smaller event, the hotels that don't respond are usually the first to go. It's difficult for a place with only a few seats to figure out who to cut-when they want everyone to know-so don't make it easy on me to take your property off the list.

Also, no matter the event's size, there will always be more of you than there are seats. Because of that, these invitations do not include a plus one. These are industry-only events. Just because your hotel may not have used all of its seats, does not mean you can fill them with your friends. I always try to be fair, so since I'm not allowing your colleague to bring a plus one, you can't either. I appreciate your understanding of this situation.

Lastly, when you RSVP, please include the name and title of who will be attending, and always let me know if something changes in a timely manner, so I have time to offer that seat to another hotel or advise the host the numbers have changed.

Above all else, when you come, have fun and enjoy! Aren't we lucky to have all these opportunities. Mahalo.

and James Beard Award winner Robynne Maii, the first Hawai'i-born recipient to win this award in 19 years will serve up mouth-watering dishes inspired by street food classics incorporating tastes from the Philippines, Vietnam, Japan, Korea and local flavors from our backyard. Ten mixologists and three wineries join the party, creating a fabulous evening under the stars. Tickets start at $300. 6 – 9 p.m.

One of the most anticipated signature events occurs on Saturday, November 3rd on the rooftop of the Hawaii Convention Center. From sunset to starlight, this is the venue to sip and savor at the Hawaiian Airlines Presents Crush'd, featuring two dozen of the world's most celebrated wine estates sampling multiple wines from their vineyards. Chefs include wellknown T.V. personalities Tyler Florence and Chris Cosentino, David LeFevre from Manhattan Beach Post, and Washington D.C.'s Aaron Silverman, joined by local favorites M.W.'s Michelle Karr-Ueoka, Andrew Le from The Pig and the Lady, Daisuke Hamamoto from Arancino at the Kahala, and Festival co-founder Roy Yamaguchi to name a few. Wine representatives from some of the top vineyards around the world will keep the guests complimentary HFWF etched Riedel glass filled throughout the night as representatives from such wineries as Au Bon Climat, Silver Oak Cellars, Duckhorn, and Sinegal Estates, as well as vintners from France such as Château Pape Clément, Domaine Louis Latour and Baron Philippe de Rothschild guarantee to offer something for every wine lover out there. Crush'd is one of those events where taking а ride-share recommended. On top of all those wines, ten mixologists will also offer excellent hand-crafted cocktails, and you do not want to miss out on any of these fantastic beverages.

Wine enthusiasts will have a field day on Saturday, November 4th with three wine seminars at the Halekulani. Each forum will last 90 minutes and will cost $195. The day kicks off with a Rivers-Marie: Pinot Noir Perspective led by winemaker Thomas Rivers Brown and a panel of Master Sommeliers, for a oncein-a-lifetime opportunity to experience a vertical and side-by-side tasting of wines from The Summa Vineyard. 9 – 10:30 a.m.

At 11 a.m., join French wine magnate Bernard Magrez, the owner of four prestigious wine estates in Bordeaux: Château La Tour Carnet, Château Pape Clément, Château Fombrauge and Clos Haut-Peyraguey for Bernard Magrez: The Winning Quartet. Don't miss this exceptional vertical and horizontal tasting of two wines (an older vintage and a newer one) from each of these esteemed estates with an icon in the industry. Ends at 12:30 p.m.

Last up is this year's champagne seminar, Grower Champagne, The Special Club. As you may know, since 1999, roughly 28 growers/producers across the Champagne Region have created a Club referred to as the "Club Trésors de Champagne." These Club Members are asked to create a "Special Club" Cuvée, a wine crafted to represent cellars' their most remarkable achievement. A panel of Master Sommeliers and Joy Lindholm from Skurnik Wines in New York will explore ten unique "Special Club" Champagnes from some of the greatest Growers in the appellation. 1–2:30 p.m.

Hopefully, you monitored your alcohol intake throughout the day or hired a driver because HFWF is thrilled to announce the return of its beloved beachside grand tasting event after three long years. First Hawaiian Bank Mastercard[®] Presents House of Blanc & Rouge takes place in Ko Olina later that evening. Held on the beach at Lagoon 1 between the Aulani and Four Seasons, ladies should leave their high heels at home for this one. Stroll in the sand along the beach as you indulge in the

As in years past, the event live music, this year featuring Maui songbord Anuhea, and wraps up with an impressive fireworks at night's end. If you have never been, sitting on the sand with the calm lagoon waters lapping at your toes, a signature cocktail in hand and the night sky exploding directly above you, it's truly one of those "only in Hawaii" kind of experiences. $400. 6 – 9 p.m.

For those who want to take their evening up to another culinary level, they should consider the VIP experience offering four decadent action stations, including a caviar bar by Chef Vikram Garg, foie gras station from Chef Shaymus Alwin, pasta and truffle bar from Chef Ryo Takatsuka and tartare and a crudo station from Chef Roy Yamaguchi. Of course, there's a price tag on this kind of experience, but if your guests have the enjoying a gastronomical means, indulgence like this on the beach in Hawaii will be a truly once-in-a-lifetime experience—$ 1,250. Doors open at 5 p.m., and you won't want to miss a minute.

New to this year's lineup are two brunch events—a fitness brunch and a dim sum brunch walk-around featuring Feng Shui and energy reading activities. For those who overindulged Saturday night, you can eliminate some of that guilt the following day. On Sunday, November 5th, join Egan Inoue at the Outrigger Reef Hotel for Fit Brunch with Egan's Bootcamp. Work up an appetite during an upbeat HIIT-style workout after which you can indulge in brunch bites from five chefs, including Lee Anne Wong and Ming Tsai, while enjoying cocktails and a Bloody Mary Bar. 9 – 11:30 a.m. $95.

Circling back to where we started, HWFW celebrates 13 years of food fests with Lucky 13: Dim Sum and Then Some at the Hyatt Regency Waikiki Beach. Enjoy a dim sum brunch with legendary chef and T.V. host Martin Yan, Mister Jiu's Brandon Jew, and five other chefs as they present their take on traditional dim sum dishes. As 13 is considered a lucky number in Chinese culture, guests can increase their good fortune by stopping by tables of crystal healers, tarot cards, Feng Shui, and more. Tickets were $125, but this event sold out weeks ago. 11 a.m. – 1 p.m.

The festival has wrapped up with an elegant gala at the Halekulani for the past three years. The Art of Food & Wine has become a platform to showcase artists of all mediums. Guests will feast their eyes and tastebuds on culinary works of art inspired by esteemed local artists and up-andcoming creatives as Halekulani's Executive Chef Christian Testa will be joined in the kitchen by four other respected chefs, including James Beard Award winners, Michelin Star recipients, and even Bocuse d'Or finalists (the

These five chefslike Monet and Van Gogh-use color, line, shape, texture, and form to bring their culinary vision to life in this artfully designed fivecourse dinner with fine wine pairings that engage all the senses. The cocktail reception begins at 5 p.m., p.m. Tickets are $1,500.

For the past 12 years, the Gala was how the Hawaii Food & Wine Festival wrapped up its events, but this year, due to the devastating wildfires on Maui, there have been a few changes. First off, HFWF decided to postpone the Maui portion of the festival until sometime in Spring 2024. But, as they've shown by their actions before, HFWF is quick to support displaced restaurant, bar, and hospitality workers during times of crisis. You know how you hear a song or a movie that makes you feel old — well, get this: Tiki's Grill & Bar celebrated its 21st anniversary last month on October 17th. 21 years! I remember its opening like it was the other day. Remember all the concierge events we held there -- the hat party, concierge of the year? The place is going just as strong as it ever was. Congrats to Bill Tobin, Michael Miller, and their entire team for keeping their vision as vibrant as it was on day one. • Tanaka

DINING , ENTERTAINMENT

Chef's Corner

Meat Church Executive Chef Matt Pittman

M attPitm an isthe founder and CEO of MeatChurch, a unique BBO lifestyle brand that offers som e of the m ostpopularcraffBBQ seasonings, apparel, recipe developm ent& live fire cooking instruction in the world. Afferbeing picked to appearon the hit.IV show BBQ Pilm astens, he quickly becam e a wellknown expert in BBQ, and students travel from around the world to study with him in his private outdoorklichen. He also has one of the largest social media reaches in outdoor rooking Follow his You Tube channel listed bebw.

What is your first childhood food memory?

Cookies from my Mamaw. Every time we would show up at her house, she always had our favorite desserts ready for us. Her chocolate oatmeal cookies with milk were my favorite.

What did you learn from your grandmother?

It took me years to realize this, but my grandmothers taught me how to take care of people. They were traditional Southern cooks and they both were constantly asking if we wanted something to eat. I find myself doing the same for my family and my friends. No matter the occasion I am cooking something for everyone.

When did you decide you wanted to be a chef?

I never actually wanted to be a "chef" per se. I wanted people to look at me and say, "that guy can cook!" I didn't want to attend traditional culinary school because I didn't want to work chef's hours and wanted to make more money. I wanted to be able to go out with friends when my chef friends had to work so I could enjoy life.

Who would you consider your mentor?

It's impossible for me to name just one. I've been mentored by trained chefs such as Dean Fearing to the CEO of Traeger Grills, Jeremy Andrus.

When did you first begin developing spices?

I started making them in 2013 with recipes I found online because I didn't know any better. I wanted to make BBQ and the internet seemed like the best option as I was an IT executive at the time.

What was your first job in the industry?

I started producing craft BBQ seasoning in Texas, which lead to me teaching outdoor cooking and ultimately cooking private events for professional athletes and musicians.

Why did you launch Meat Church?

Meat Church was our competition BBQ team name. I was picked to be on the TV show BBQ Pitmasters where they told me I could show any BBQ products that I made. I put the 2 seasonings I made in a bottle (Holy Cow and Honey Hog). By the time the show aired I had filed the trademark and launched meatchurch.com.

Ingredients:

12 jalapeño peppers

2 packages standard cut bacon

1 cup chopped, smoked brisket

Do you prefer restaurant or competition BBQ? BBQ joints (restaurants). In Texas, craft BBQ, where a small group oversees the entire cooking process makes the best BBQ in the world. There is way too much going on with competition BBQ. It's loaded with injections, brines, tons of seasoning and sauces to impress a judge in one bite. I can't eat too much competition BBQ, it's like eating a really rich cheesecake.

Where's the best BBQ you ever tasted?

Texas without a doubt. I love and appreciate all the regions of BBQ, but Texas BBQ is about the simplicity of smoking beef simply seasoned with salt & pepper with a post oak fire.

Do you wrap? If so, foil or butcher paper?

I wrap my beef in butcher paper. Paper allows the protein to breath, so you can maintain that beautiful bark that you worked so hard to develop. I will only wrap in foil if I want speed up a cook by braising or steaming of if I'm trying to add a sauce or flavor to the wrapped protein.

Can you rest brisket for too long?

At some point, yes. I pull a brisket from the smoker and allow it to rest down to 140° internal temperature. Then I place it in a 140° degree warmer for 8 hours. The decline in internal temperature is just as important as the increase in temperature when you are cooking.

How often do you do these food festivals?

I do a 3-4 per year. I love working alongside chefs that I admire, but most of all I love hearing from the people when they try my food. That praise is what keeps me going.

What do you have planned for HFWF?

I am very excited to show O'ahu my traditional Smoked Barbacoa. Beef cheeks that are seasoned with my Holy Cow, smoked for hours then braised to fall apart tenderness.

What's on your must-do list in the Islands?

That's easy. My beautiful wife Tracie is happiest when we rent a convertible, drive to the North shore then around the island to explore beaches that are not busy like here on the mainland.

Texas Twinkies

1 block cream cheese (sm oked aream cheese workseven better)

(nottoo large so the bacon wraps around nizely) 2 T. Meat Church Holy Gospel BBQ Rub (sub Texas Sugar, The Gospel, Holy Voodoo or HoneyHog)

Directions: Prepare your smoker or oven to 250°. Slice a "T' in each pepper and remove the seeds, etc. The heat in a pepper comes from the veins, so remove if you like. Place the jalapeños on a rack (so you don't have to handle each pepper individually), and into the smoker for 30 minutes. This will soften the pepper which will make stuffing easier. Combine the cream cheese and brisket in a bowl and stuff each pepper completely. Wrap each stuffed jalapeño with bacon (typically takes 2 slices of bacon per). Season the wrapped pepper on all sides with Meat Church Holy Gospel and place into smoker or oven. Cook until bacon looks perfect, around 90 minutes. Remove from the smoker. Slice in half. Enjoy.

You can meet Matt Pittman at this years Hawaii Food & Wine Festival! He will be at House of Blanc & Rouge at Ko Olina on November 4th. For tickets go to HFWF.me Web: meatchurch.com • Twitter / Instagram / FB: @meatchurch • YouTube: @MeatChurchBBQ

King's Birthday

However, his reign was not without controversy. Kalakaua's flamboyant and fun-loving ways, as well as his extravagant spending, including his trip around the world, and his attempts to strengthen the monarchy's power, led to political tensions and ultimately contributed to the overthrow of the Hawaiian monarchy in 1893. He was succeeded by his sister, Queen Liliuokalani.

He is best known for his role in developing Iolani Palace, which became the royal residence and the political center of the Hawaiian Kingdom. He is remembered as the "Merrie Monarch" due to his patronage of the arts and his love of music and entertainment, and the beloved Merrie Monarch Festival is dedicated to his memory. According to their website, "Kalākaua commemorated his 50th birthday with a two-week celebration of Hawaiian culture on the 'Iolani Palace grounds. Known as the "Silver Jubilee," the 1886 festivities featured ho'opa'a (chanters) and 'olapa (dancers) performing in public for the first time in years. Every year the Merrie Monarch Festival continues what the king started, by hosting a week-long festival of music, crafts, art, demonstrations and a hula competition. During festival week, the grandeur, pride, and spirit of the Silver Jubilee is alive in Hilo, Hawai'i."

King Kalakaua.

Hawaii Food & Wine Festival

had raised over $650,000 at the last glance. As part of its continuing efforts to support those affected by the disaster, a special event has been added to the schedule to wrap up the 2023 portion of the 13th annual event. On November 18th, Taste Our Love for Maui: Special Edition of HFWF brings together eight talented chefs with strong ties to the island at Humble Market Kitchin by Roy Yamaguchi and Wailea Beach Resort. This special edition of Hawaii Food & Wine Festival, in partnership with the Hawaii Tourism Authority, is the chance to make a meaningful difference in the lives of those affected by the recent Maui wildfires. 100% of ticket sales from this event will be donated to the Kokua Restaurant & Hospitality Fund. Tickets start at $250

The special addition to the HFWFs calendar aligns with the mission they put on themselves on day one. Don't forget, they created this festival as a way to support the Hawai'i Agricultural Foundation. They have never strayed from their mission, curating exceptional culinary events as way to educate others about the bounty Hawai'i has to offer as way to support support local community organizations, culinary programs, and agriculture here on the islands.

Last year, HFWF donated an additional $380,000 from the proceeds from 2022 to 17 different beneficiaries, bringing its total giving to $3.5 million. They have supported more than 70 causes and organizations committed to sustainability, culinary and agricultural education, and cultural programs in Hawaii since HFWF began in 2011. According to HFWF CEO Denise Yamaguchi, "These beneficiaries are vital in Hawaii's journey to a more food sovereign and food secure future, and Hawaii Food & Wine Festival is proud to support these nonprofit organizations."

No matter which event fits your fancy or budget, the Hawaii Food & Wine Festival has plenty to please all tastes. What it doesn't have is a lot of tickets left. Many events have started to sell out well in advance, so if you still need to look for tickets, put this book down and get yours now if they're still available. Be sure to use your First Hawaiian Bank Mastercard when purchasing a G.A. ticket to enter an hour early with the Priority ticket holders at no additional cost. Find more information on the complete lineup of events and culinary talent on their website at HFWF.me. Located in the South Shore Marketplace, Off the Wall Craft Brewing tap house offers an unforgettable experience of local flavors, artfully crafted beverages, and mouth watering dishes, focusing on locally sourced ingredients and Latin flavors. Guests got to experience the self-serve curated selection of local craft beers and wine while noshing on menu bites to get a feel for what this hidden gem has to offer. Offering happy hour Monday - Friday from 3 - 5 p.m. and live music Thursday - Saturday, check it out at offthewallhawaii.com.
