RAILINGS & WINDSCREENS

Highrise Products distinguishes itself from competitors by collaborating with the design team for every project, ensuring both the desired aesthetics and essential functionality are met. Our consistent success in securing projects results from our partnership approach, prioritizing quality over being the lowest bidder. We delve into project specifics, assisting in coordinating with other trades to guarantee each project's success.

METAL PANELS

Highrise Products can support you in addressing any gaps that may arise in your projects. We frequently receive requests to assist in filling the voids left by other trades, especially in the areas overlooked between the various scopes. This might involve incorporating slab covers into our railings to match the building's aesthetic or completing unfinished sections. Although our main focus is railing manufacturing, our expertise enables us to serve as a valuable architectural metal collaborator, providing swift solutions.

STRUCTURAL STEEL

Highrise Products can handle the less glamorous side too! While our specialty is creating sleek products, we also take pride in assisting with less visible items that might never be seen again. Embracing a unified fabrication approach, we support our project collaborators by providing items such as steel embeds, structural steel supports for canopies, and wall panel suspension systems. If you're wondering who can fabricate it, think of Highrise. With over two decades in metal fabrication, we've got you covered.
