

Bear Tracks

Bear Tracks is a board game that provides very young children with opportunities to think about number, in particular cardinality and one-to-one correspondence.

Directions for Playing

Children play in pairs. Each player chooses a track on the game board (Appendix A). Alternatively the players roll the foam number cube and take a match-ing number of plastic teddy bear counters or connecting cubes, placing them on their track. Play is collaborative with players helping each other. Play con-tinues until both tracks are filled with counters or cubes.
