

A. In fact, when I worked, when this concrete was poured in 1973, Carol and Mrs. Griksa next door helped me lay the concrete. I was supposed to have help, but I had no help. We, we laid I think nine yards of concrete just by ourselves.

Q Did Cram and Rossi ever help you in the backyard with anything?

A Yeah, they mixed, uh, they mixed, they helped me pour the concrete that went over the slab here, they

Q Over the slab where in the old garage?

A Yeah and they helped pour this concrete and this one here and this here. This was all poured at the same time. We just raked it out and flattened it out, cause we were gonna do, I was gonna do blacktop it. See I had to bring this up to the new slab here. This was poured by Brody. This one I ...

Q The new garage poured by Brody?

A Yeah

Q Old poured by Rossi and you?

A No, no, no, no. We covered over the old--the old was existing from the time...

Q Okay, so you never broke it up, you just poured over it?

A Right.

Q This shed, what about that, did you do that yourself?

A Yeah, I did that in nineteen, I think it was seventy ... three.

Q What about this, when did you pour over that, the old garage slab?

A We poured over it in 19 .... 7 .. 7

Q When was the new garage poured?

A '77

Q Mark that down there. What is this all around here, all blacktop?

A All, this was all concrete. Here's where the gun was found.

Q Okay, and that you think was your mother-in-law's?

A Yeah, it had to be, I'm the one that, I'm the one that poured this piece of concrete.

Q All of this was poured in '73 then?

A This was all poured when Carol and I were married, yes.

Q Where did the pool used to be?

A Well, when the garage was here originally pool .... someplace this part of the yard.

Q When was the pool torn down?

A Uh, 1972. Right after we got married. The reason we tore it down was because April and Tammy and that's when Tammy was three or four years old see and this took up almost the whole yard. You couldn't let 'em outside because i-if they, if they were able to climb into here they could get to the fence.

Q When was the barbecue pit put in?

A '73
