

Join the Laborious LinkedIn Community - We're Officially OPEN for Business!

Come Join Us Today!

We are ready to welcome you in. If you haven't yet received an invitation from us on LinkedIn and want to come see what's going on, please request access using the button below. It's free to join our LinkedIn Group. We are adding supportive activities for you to tap into during work search. With things like resume reviews and interview practice as well as access to some wonderful people with big networks, you can get support and also offer support for each other. As we finish building out our big, Version 2 of the Laborious Community - coming soon, we know you can't wait.

Our early focus is gathering and sharing urgent need solutions like how to sign-up for and maintain unemployment in your state, where to get food, utilities, or housing support locally, and much more. Supporters are welcome, too!

Be a part of our beginning - request to join today and hear about what we're working on for our bigger launch in the coming weeks.
