

I was working AR2.

In the 5th minute, the referee issued Red 9 a caution for foul language. Red 9 was subbed off. At halftime, we talked about the caution and the referee advised the language was not directed at the opponent but was said loud enough for others to hear her displeasure with having received a hard tackle.

In the 62nd minute, the referee issued Red 9 a second caution for a reckless challenge. I advised the referee that this was red 9's second caution and that she would need to be dismissed.

The referee verbally dismissed the player but did not show a red card following the second yellow card. The referee told the coach the player was done but that she could be replaced.

After the game, we discussed the incident as a crew. I told the referee that when a sub was allowed on I started questioning my own notes, wondering if I had written 9 when it should have been 4... or something like that. The referee stated he had mixed up Lacrosse and soccer rules and was appreciative of the feedback. It was a good learning/mentoring moment.

The AD from red asked us about the future playing status of red 9. I advised the AD that there was a failure in mechanics by the referee and apologized. I further apologized to the coach and the AD for the assistants failing to assist the referee in making sure the game proceeded properly under the current rules. Lastly, I advised that a report would be written to include the details of the incident(s) and the failures of the crew and that ultimately MSHSL would make the decision about the eligibility of their player.

* boys came to a * vs * game to heckle both teams. I was AR 2 where there were standing spectators. They started to impact the play and upset the individuals who were actually playing the game. At an appropriate time, I indicated to the center to come over, we discussed the issue and got the home AD involved removing all spectators from my side. Game was stalled for about 7 minutes until all individuals moved to the stands or left the stadium.
