

BRANDON ZAVALA introduction (June 26, 2022)

Brandon grew up in Palmdale, attended Pete Knight High School—named after the longtime Rightwing California politician -- author of anti-gay legislation, and father of Congressman Steve Knight who we defeated handily in 2018...

Currently, Brandon is Director of Government Affairs for Afriat, a consulting firm with a specialty in development-related community relations within LA County.

Previously, in 2020 he was Campaign Manager for Christy Smith for Congress in California's now OLD 25th Congressional District — Importantly, in a year where not a single incumbent House Republican was defeated for reelection, CA25 was the closest Red-to-Blue General Election race in the country with a margin of only 333-votes.

Before that: Brandon was a grassroots organizer from the Antelope Valley who has worked at every level of a campaign at nearly every level of local government.
