

FROM THE CHAIRMAN
STUDENTS FOR YE

Future President Ye,

May 10, 2023

Six and a half months ago, I became your first student supporter when you demanded that our former President's subsequent policies be held accountable to the standard set forth by God in the Bible. Your decades-long testimony of your walk in faith and its proliferation in those times inspired me to advocate on your behalf, and on our Lord's behalf, to students across this nation.

In pursuit of this goal, I reluctantly reached out to Milo Yiannopoulos, who was commonly reported to be the manager of your exploratory committee for a presidential campaign at the time. I knew little of Mr. Yiannopoulos other than his prior political fame (dressing up as a drag queen and turning straight men "gay"), his advocacy of pedophilia in multiple media appearances, and his rose-tinted recollection of allegedly performing oral sex on a priest. Yet, I reached out to him anyway because of my trust and admiration in your faith and vision for the nation. Mr. Yiannopoulos never returned my emails, and other students informed me that he made them uncomfortable. It was not until later on in November, after Mr. Yiannopoulos' initial departure from your team, when I heard from more connected supporters/friends of yours and began grassroots work on drafting your candidacy into the 2024 race.

With their counsel, we obtained legal advice which informed us that it would be against election rules if you recruited mass volunteers before filing. As such, we did so ourselves and eagerly await the opportunity to point out volunteers to your official campaign when you launch. I cannot wait to campaign for you! Students for Ye formed a youth organization with several chapters and over 10,000 supporters. After the betrayal of my fellow co-founder (who you met), I became Chairman of the organization and set the goal of creating an all-volunteer army of 100,000 students who are willing to lay down their lives for Jesus Christ and the campaign.

As Christians, and especially me as a baby Christian, we all fall short of the perfect standard set by Jesus during His life and ministry. The conduct and lifestyle of Mr. Yiannopoulos, however, do not reflect the faith, or the pursuit of charity, similar to any upstanding Christian I have ever known, nor are they consubstantial with the goals of Students for Ye.

Because Mr. Yiannopoulos makes so many young students feel uncomfortable, none of our students will work for/with him. Concerned parents have already called. We cannot lawfully give him files anyway. When your campaign starts, we will roll our organization into your campaign or form a Super PAC—whatever you desire and is lawful. So long as your testimony and walk in Christianity continues, you will have my unwavering support and loyalty.

In Christ,
Luke Hogan
