Tabby Cat, who is very loyal, was playing outside with his grands, when he suddenly saw one poor-looking kid kicked out of a school. He wondered why that had happened and ran towards the little boy

He walked towards the little kid and knelt down beside him.

"What happened?" Tabby Cat asked, thoughtfully.

The little boy looked alarmed but began to talk.

"I-i want to continue my education but they won't let me," he said without a single breath.

"Come with me!" Tabby Cat said.

The boy followed along Tabby Cat still gilled with tears.

Tabby Cat thought that this was a big problem as soon as he heard the problem. He had an idea and spoke to the boy about it.

“So, we are going to...” Tabby Cat started.

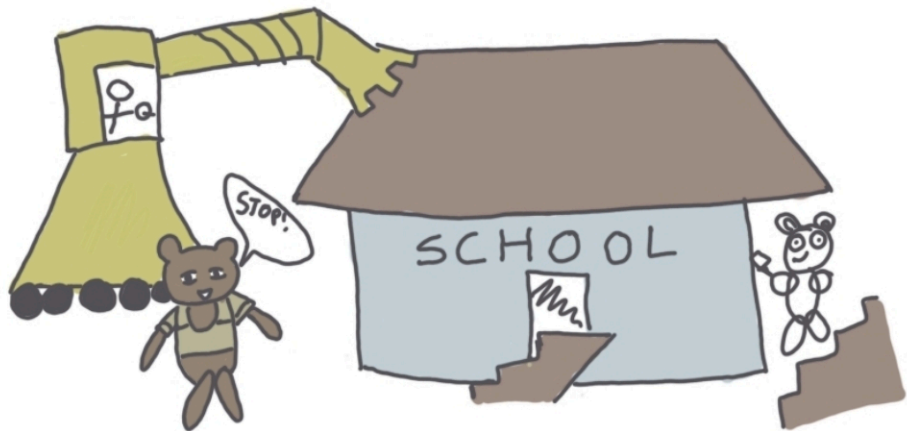

From that day, Tabby Cat created posters ideas and other amazing things to help kids. He had his friends and neighbours to help and be part of the solution. Tabby Cat will always want to help with children like the little boy ~~or~~ this lasted for weeks. A while later in the year lots of things changed...

Builders saw the posters and decided to build new schools. Tabby Cat spoke with people who had a job to do with governing and told them to get less private schools. He chat with headmasters to hire more teachers no matter what.

"At least it will help!" replied Tabby Cat

Tabby Cat's ideas came to life and he's seen that most kids are in schools. If he had seen kids that aren't in a school yet, he would always find a way to get them a place.

"I'm glad this had all worked out!" said Tabby Cat to his family, while at the dinner table.

His man replied with a smile, "I'm glad you could make a change, sweetie."
