

THE HON. R. MARC KANTROWITZ (RET.)
Mediator, Arbitrator, Case Evaluator

The Hon. R. Marc Kantrowitz (ret.) served as an associate justice in both the trial court and Appeals Court, where he handled scores of land use-related cases. In 2015, three days after leaving the bench, Judge Kantrowitz was in Athens, Ohio, serving as a visiting professor/scholar at his alma mater Ohio University, both lecturing and teaching in the fall semester. The history course he taught centered around his book, Old Whiskey and Young Women: American True Crime Tales of Murder, Sex and Scandal. His latest book, tentatively titled From Hitler to Hollywood: The Year the War Started and Hollywood Made Its Greatest Movies, is scheduled to be released in 2026.

In addition to his non-legal writing, which includes four other history related books, Judge Kantrowitz is the most highly published attorney in the Commonwealth on state law. He has either authored or co-authored books on criminal law, motor vehicle tort law, juvenile law, evidence, and mental health law. He has also written numerous law-related articles and chapters. He created and served as the first Executive Director of the Massachusetts Guide to Evidence, now a mainstay in every court in the Commonwealth. For twenty years, he taught at Northeastern University's School of Law. Currently, he serves as a case evaluator in a wide variety of cases.

In 2024, Judge Kantrowitz was inducted into the Massachusetts Lawyers Hall of Fame. In 2025, he joined, as Of Counsel, the Law Office of Soraya Sadeghi, which, among other areas, concentrates in high end/complex divorce matters. There, his duties include mediations of such cases.
