

(back of book)

Cats in Charge

This little picture book was created for the little one that have a hard time falling to sleep. For the ones that need that little bit of special attention.

It is the story about a family of cats out on their daily walk in the forest. But this day was different from all the rest. They happened to find a young baby boy while. They looked around for sometime for his parents. But didn't find them. So they decided it best to take him home with them

Cats in Charge

By

Lauresa Tomlinson

There was a family of cats that were larger than what we know as house cat. They lived in what looked like a very large shoe far out in the woods.

One day while out taking a walk and enjoying the forest, they found a very young baby boy. That was me and they named me Kaboo.

They took good care of me. They made sure that I was kept clean.

