Problem: A potential client was receiving constant cleaning complaints in their 50,000-square-foot office building, with at least one complaint each week. The services obtained through the cleaning budget weren't efficient, either in cost or quality of work. Due to these constant lapses in cleanliness, issues were arising in the office that detracted from the workers' projects. They needed a cleaning service that could alleviate their stress.

Solution: We designed a cleaning plan to fit their budget, meet their cleaning expectations and we implemented our process that ensured a daily accomplishment.

Result: After we took over, we reduced the cleaning complaints to less than one per month. With happy tenants, the property manager company was able to work efficiently and increase the occupancy levels. Our efficient service reduced the monthly cleaning budget by 3%, and the client liked our services so much that now we clean a Portfolio of a total of 4 facilities including 2 medical buildings for them.
