REAL Colors

What is REAL Colors?

Real Colors is an easy to remember and simple to administer temperament assessment. There are four temperament colors used within this model—Green, Blue, Gold & Orange. It provides an effective tool to understanding human behavior, for uncovering motivators specific to each temperament and for improving communication skills. When an individual understands their color they will be able to gain a more authentic view of themselves, as well as develop a better understanding of others. Communication and social abilities will be enhanced and opportunities for greater success will expand. Real Colors can be utilized at home, work, church, business and in various areas and situations of life. Adults and youth can be better by implementing the information obtained from going through a Real Colors assessment.

NCTI's Real Colors® is a leading edge tool that bridges temperament theory and real life applications in a way that is easy to understand, fun to learn and that offers unprecedented levels of retention.

National Curriculum & Training Institute, Inc., or NCTI, is an organization dedicated to helping people succeed.

Real Colors for Youth

The advantage of youth knowing their temperament is for them to better understand how they will assimilate into social arenas with confidence and security in who they are. In addition, they will be more equipped to articulate their strengths, weaknesses and means for improvement. Peer pressure will take on a different perspective when youth comprehend the concepts outlined in the Real Colors model. Higher educational decisions and career guidance can be made easier with the knowledge Real Colors will provide.

Real Colors for Adults

When Adults engage in the thought provoking concepts of the Real Colors model they gain the ability to access what makes them function. By knowing one's color it presents an opportunity to understand their primary temperament in any given situation. Stronger relationships can be built among family members, co-workers, business partnerships, community activist, and church members. The advantages of realizing the positive effects of Real Colors is priceless.
